'Half-Way House' Plans Up to Uptown Residents

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Freeman has learned that the State Department of Mental Hygiene considers an Albany Avenue site "ideal" for the setting up of a half-way house for mentally retarded young persons.

Close to Broadway

The proposed site is at 170 Albany Avenue, home of the late Dr. Charles O'Reilly. It is a two-story structure containing some 14 rooms and a doctor's office. Plans call for the establishment of a center to house 12 young persons in their late teens and early 20's. It has not yet been determined if they are to be male or female.

The Freeman spoke with William C. Falle, senior real estate property appraiser for the State Mental Hygiene Department.

That has grown out of state plans for 170 Albany Avenue, Falle told The Freeman. "In no way do we intend to force ourselves into the community. We could lawfully take the property by right of eminent domain but in this case we have chosen not to. We're planning a public meeting, inviting area residents for an explanation of our program."

Falle indicated that public opinion would weigh heavily on the state's decision to open the half-way house on Albany Avenue.

In Dark on Plans

The controversy apparently came from lack of knowledge of what the state's plans were. As the area's alderman, Robert Schantz (R-Second Ward) put it, "I'd received reports of state plans for a mental health center at 170 Albany Avenue and found it very difficult to find out what was going on. No one knew what type of patients would be housed there. Naturally, the residents are concerned. There's a lot of children in the area."

EXCLUSIVE

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan was also in contact with Falle. Garraghan said he didn't think the state would force its way into the area. "They want to maintain good public relations," he said.

Falle said he was "impressed" by the several large billboard signs urging the hiring of the handicapped through Gateway Industries. "I find it hard to accept that a community that supports a program such as Gateway Industries would be against a half-way house," Falle said.

Falle then outlined the type of persons that would be housed at 170 Albany Avenue if plans are completed. "First of all," he said, "these young people are not dangerous. They are mentally retarded children who have progressed to the point where they can return to the community. We're trying to put these people back into the community so they'll be taxpayers, not tax burdens."

Falle said the residents of the half-way house would work in the community either at Gateway Industries or as domestics in the neighborhood. "We've found a tremendous demand for domestics of this type in our other programs," Falle said. "Money earned by the retarded children is deposited in a bank and is returned to them when their treatment is completed."

Reasoning Questioned

Falle was asked why the state chose 170 Albany Avenue. "Actually," he said, "we had surveyed two other sites. One site was on Wynkoop Place but the cost of rehabilitation was prohibitive. The other was on West Chester Street but there were too many young children in the area."

The Albany Avenue site was chosen, according to Falle, because of its proximity to bus transportation, Gateway Industries and shopping centers and its cost estimated to be in the $20,000-$30,000 range.

Meetings are planned in Albany tomorrow on the state plans for 170 Albany Avenue. Definite word should come out next week.

Bus Kills Woodstock Boy, 5

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Minutes after he left a school bus near his home Wednesday afternoon, 5-year-old Robert K. Alden, III, of 83 Witchtree Road, Woodstock, was fatally injured when run over by a wheel of the bus as it pulled away from the intersection.

The boy's death was the second Ulster County traffic fatality of 1968. On Saturday Hugh Ferguson, 48, of Nassau, was killed in a two-car head-on crash on Route 209 south of Route 28 in the Town of Hurley.

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley of Saugerties, who investigated yesterday's tragedy with Kingston State Police, said the Alden boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. His mother reportedly accompanied the dying boy to Kingston.

Coroner Hartley said death was due to lacerations of the brain resulting from a fracture of the skull. He ruled the boy's death accidental.

According to an investigation by BCI investigators Joseph Ventriglia and Fred C. Cooper and Trooper David Wachtel the school bus is owned by James Hoyt, Inc., of Kingston, and was operated at the time by Kenneth Whispell, 39, RD 2, Kingston. Troopers said the bus pulled up and stopped at the junction of Forest Wood Drive and Old Witchtree Road in Woodstock near the Alden home at about 3:30 p. m. Three children, including the Alden boy left the bus.

Whispell told troopers later that he saw two of the three children run toward their homes on the same side of the road where the bus had stopped. He looked in the mirrors of the bus and didn't see the Alden boy or any approaching vehicles, so he started to pull from the intersection, troopers were told.

Investigators said the bus had moved only a short distance when the operator felt a jolt and at first he thought the wheels had run over a chunk of ice or frozen snow. Then Whispell saw several persons running, some following the bus and he stopped. He went back and found the bus apparently had run over the Alden boy.

Different versions of what happened were being checked by troopers today. Some indicated the victim of the tragedy was standing on a pile of snow when he slipped and fell under the wheel of the vehicle. Others said the Alden boy was walking alongside the bus when he slipped and fell to his death.

The boy started school in the Kingston School District Consolidated last September. He was on his way home yesterday afternoon from the Lake Katrine School where he was in the kindergarten class, it was learned.

The boy was born Oct. 27, 1962 in Kingston. He is survived by his parents, Robert and Doris Schenk Alden; a sister, Beth Anne Alden; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alden of Whitman, Mass.; Mrs. Ann Schenk of Kingston and Carl Schenk of Rosendale. Also surviving are several aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Lasher Funeral Home Inc., Woodstock, with the Rev. Donald E. Hicks, pastor of Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock, officiating. Burial will be at a later date in the Woodstock Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home today from 7 to 9 p. m.

A Stormy Esopus Debate And Board Compromises

By LYNN MULVANEY

Pressure brought to bear on the Esopus Town Board last night by about 100 citizens resulted in reconsideration of three re-appointments of the board failed to make at its closed meeting last week. The protest was backed by a 396-signature petition.

During the four hours of strongly worded debate, the four Republican members of the board, at the urging of their newly-elected Democrat Supervisor George Freer and the citizenry, compromised their original views and agreed to:

1. Reinstate Harry Maines as fire marshal. The present marshal, Harry Mitchell, appointed Jan. 2, resigned his post in deference to Maines.
2. Allow Matthew Duffy, former water commissioner to remain on the water board in an ex-officio capacity (in deference to age and health).

3. Conduct a private hearing for former constable Frank Bartroff Jr. in connection with his recent dismissal.

"I'm willing to meet with them," Bartroff said gladly. "At last I'm going to get the chance I should have had a week ago."

Several efforts of Freer to get a motion from the board on the floor asking for Bartroff's immediate reinstatement were unheeded.

The board's GOP faction was attacked continually throughout the evening for dismissing Bartroff on the basis of "rumored allegations."

Again and again, the board refused to discuss what transpired at its closed session when Bartroff's fate was decided. It was Bartroff himself who finally brought the "rumors" out into the open in order to defend himself.

Democrat County Legislator Roger Mabie, former supervisor of Esopus, volunteered in a strongly worded statement "I never heard of any of these allegations. I say they are a lot of baloney."

Mabie Backs Bartroff

Mabie said that in his position as supervisor he would have known if there were any serious questions concerning Bartroff. "I think he's done a tremendous job."

Bartroff's position was also endorsed by two other constables, Floyd Barringer and Joseph Ferraro; by former Councilman E. Stirling Potter and a great many others.

How a Cold Hangs on These Days

By JEAN DOLAN

We are consistent if nothing else. Extreme cold kept Ulster County in its icy fingers for yet another day of sub-zero temperatures.

Ellenville Coldest

Cold air still sent the mercury down to -30 in the Briggs Highway area near Ellenville and -29 in Tillsong, Kingston, at a relatively warm -11 broke yet another record. The previous low for Jan. 11 was a minus four in 1942 with the record high at 48 degrees in 1950.

Warmest parts of the county were in northern and mountain sections with Saugerties -9 and Blue Mountain -10. Belleayre Ski Center reported an overnight reading of -6. This morning skies were clear and there was no wind to stir the packed powder surface, making for excellent conditions on the novice slope and good on the upper mountain.

Other Minus Readings

Other minus readings this morning included 22 at the Ashokan Reservoir headworks; 24 at West Shokan and Woodstock; 20 at Zena and Rosendale; 15 at Highland. In Ellenville, residents had a variety of reports ranging from -14 to -22, all mighty cold.

Kingston elementary school pupils got an hour break this morning when the extreme cold hampered buses and drivers. Buses were reluctant to start and some of the drivers had difficulty starting their own vehicles in order to get to work.

Electrical failure in southern Columbia and northern Dutchess Counties canceled classes at Germantown School.

The Mid-Hudson Valley is not alone in its shivery state. If it is any consolation, Wanakena in the northeastern Adirondacks has had a call for another thermometer to record its low down readings estimated at -55. The new record keeper registers as low at -60.

Even New York City at a above zero reading of four today broke previous records for this date.

The western part of New York State which normally gets more than its share of winter weather off the Great Lakes, is the only spot where a warming trend of any sort has been noted. The Weather Bureau sees no letup in sub-zero weather for the eastern half of the state but predicts moderation for western New York and east of Lake Ontario.

Most areas of the state which recorded a slight rise in temperature Wednesday dipped again overnight. Glens Falls recorded -33 and Albany -25 as compared to previous lows during this period of -30 and -20 respectively.

The Weather Bureau noted that, in records going back nearly a century, Albany's only lower reading was a minus 26 on Jan. 31, 1948.

No C-H Difficulties

Although heating problems and frozen pipes continue to harass home owners, Central Hudson reports no difficulties as yet with power facilities.

As ice thickens on area ponds and creeks, skating conditions have become ideal but even hardy youngsters are reluctant to brave the bitter cold for a twirl on the blades.

Likewise, ski slopes are not losing any of the recent snow cover but who's going to risk frozen nose and toes. The Kingston High School varsity ski meet with Liberty was canceled earlier this week because of the extreme cold.

Believe it or not, it could be worse. The southeast portion of the nation is paralyzed under icy glaze while the central Rockies rock under heavy snows.

Gales Over Wide Area

Snow, sleet and freezing rain has brought much of North Carolina to a virtual standstill. Tree limbs, weighed down with ice, crashed through power lines in sections of Raleigh. Effects of the southern storm were compounded by gales which swept the coast from South Carolina to New Jersey.

209 Goes Six for Six With More Accidents

Traffic on Route 209 in the vicinity of Route 28, Town of Ulster was snarled today after a 12-wheel freight transport tractor-trailer went out of control as the load shifted and overturned partly on the center mall and under the ramp bridge.

It was the sixth accident to occur on Route 209 in six days. The driver of the tractor-trailer, Richard Gonyo, 34, of Chazy, escaped serious injury but complained of pains in the back, according to State Trooper Roy Martinussen of the Kingston barracks, who investigated with Trooper R. G. Bergin.

The tractor-trailer owned by Hall's Motor Transit Company of Sunbury, Pa., was transporting a cargo of copper at the time of the accident which occurred at 6:45 a. m.

According to Martinussen, Gonyo was driving the 1967 vehicle off the entrance ramp of Route 28 and had just entered Route 209 heading south when the load shifted to the left side causing the trailer to overturn on the mall. As the trailer landed on the ground it pulled the tractor to the pavement under the ramp bridge.

Troopers were notified as traffic backed up on Route 209. The West Hurley Fire Department was dispatched to the scene to stand by in case of fire as fuel oil spewed all over the pavement and mall. Sanding crews were dispatched to the scene to cover the oil to eliminate a skidding hazard.

A tow truck from Bryant's on Route 28 was summoned with a crew who worked some three hours before the overturned vehicle was pulled back on its wheels.

Troopers closed a section of Route 209 to traffic, which was rerouted through Route 28. Many motorists, already troubled by the sub-zero weather and balky cars, were late arriving at their places of employment.

Trooper Martinussen said it was not until about 10 a. m. that the highway was opened to traffic, more than three hours after the mishap.

Three persons were injured and one driver was cited for a vehicle and traffic violation Wednesday afternoon after the fifth Route 209 accident occurred within five days. The head-on two-car collision occurred at 3:30 p. m. near Accord in the Town of Rochester and involved cars operated by Thomas Arthur Gray, 16, of Kerhonkson, and Linda J. Artist, 17, of Accord according to Ellenville State Trooper Walter Hubert who investigated.

Gray was summoned to appear later before Rochester Town Justice Abram D. Smith to face a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

The rash of daily accidents on Route 209 began last Saturday with a fatality. A 48-year-old Nassau man was killed in a two-car crash on the highway about 2.8 miles south of Route 28 in the Town of Hurley. Two women were injured in that mishap. It was the first fatal highway crash in the county this year.

A Utica man, his wife, and two other passengers in his car were injured on Sunday when his 1965 sedan went out of control on Route 209 south of Stone Ridge and slammed into rocks in a ditch.

On Monday a house-trailer and tractor were ditched in deep snow off Route 209 near the Marlbtown Church when the driver attempted to pass a tractor-trailer that swerved out of control in snow.

At 4:15 p. m. Tuesday, a truck owned by the Pine Lane Poultry Farm of Hillsdale, overturned off Route 209 three miles south of Route 28 after the driver lost control of the vehicle which was loaded with cases of eggs.

Quest for Beauty Queen

Freeman Opens the 1968 Page One Valentine Contest

By DOROTHY NAREL

Attention girls between the ages of 17-21!

Have you ever dreamed of being crowned a beauty queen? Did you ever wonder how it must feel to wear a crown and be proclaimed the loveliest beauty in your world?

Now is your chance to try to win a queen's crown by entering the Kingston Daily Freeman's first Page One Valentine Contest.

In addition to fame, a $50 U.S. Savings Bond will be yours, courtesy of The Freeman, as well as lovely gifts from area merchants.

Your portrait will be published on the front page of this newspaper on Valentine's Day along with your biography.

Any single girl may enter the competition simply by mailing a wallet size picture to:

Kingston Daily Freeman
Kingston, New York

Contestants should include such information also as full name, address, age, name and address of parents, school attending or place of employment.

Only Picture Needed

There aren't any interviews to worry about in this contest, no promenading, no complicated application forms to complete. Your picture is all you need in order to qualify as a contestant.

Six finalists, selected by a panel of judges, will have their pictures published in The Freeman but the public will vote for the Page One Valentine winner.

A ballot will be published along with the pictures for the convenience of voting. This will give your family, relatives and friends a chance to get in on the fun.

Jan. 31 Deadline

All entries must be submitted to The Freeman by January 31. Balloting will close by February 12 and the decision of the judges will be final.

Freeman employees or relatives of Freeman employees are not eligible to enter this competition and all pictures will become the property of this newspaper.

This Valentine's Day can be different for a lucky girl in Ulster County. Some beauty is just waiting to be discovered.

A crown, gifts and fame—who will claim them and become the Freeman's first Page One Valentine winner?

Remember, deadline for entries in the contest is January 31.

Trooper Martinussen said it was not until about 10 a. m. that the highway was opened to traffic, more than three hours after the mishap.

Three persons were injured and one driver was cited for a vehicle and traffic violation Wednesday afternoon after the fifth Route 209 accident occurred within five days. The head-on two-car collision occurred at 3:30 p. m. near Accord in the Town of Rochester and involved cars operated by Thomas Arthur Gray, 16, of Kerhonkson, and Linda J. Artist, 17, of Accord according to Ellenville State Trooper Walter Hubert who investigated.

Gray was summoned to appear later before Rochester Town Justice Abram D. Smith to face a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

The young woman sustained lacerations of the mouth and right knee. Gray received a dislocation of the right leg and lacerations of the face. His father, Chester Gray, 44, a passenger in the 1959 sedan, suffered fractures of the right knee and ankle, troopers said.

The injured were taken to the Ellenville Community Hospital by the Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid and Rescue Squad.

According to investigators, Gray was driving his car and attempting to turn into a driveway when he reportedly failed to see the southbound 1961 suburban operated by the woman. The vehicles collided head-on.

The rash of daily accidents on Route 209 began last Saturday with a fatality. A 48-year-old Nassau man was killed in a two-car crash on the highway about 2.8 miles south of Route 28 in the Town of Hurley. Two women were injured in that mishap. It was the first fatal highway crash in the county this year.

A Utica man, his wife, and two other passengers in his car were injured on Sunday when his 1965 sedan went out of control on Route 209 south of Stone Ridge and slammed into rocks in a ditch.

On Monday a house-trailer and tractor were ditched in deep snow off Route 209 near the Marlborough Church when the driver attempted to pass a tractor-trailer that swerved out of control in snow.

At 4:15 p. m. Tuesday, a truck owned by the Pine Lane Poultry Farm of Hillsdale, overturned off Route 209 three miles south of Route 28 after the driver lost control of the vehicle which was loaded with cases of eggs.

Quest for Beauty Queen

Freeman Opens the 1968 Page One Valentine Contest

Attention girls between the ages of 17-21!

Have you ever dreamed of being crowned a beauty queen? Did you ever wonder how it must feel to wear a crown and be proclaimed the loveliest beauty in your world?

Now is your chance to try to win a queen's crown by entering the Kingston Daily Freeman's First Page One Valentine Contest.

In addition to fame, a $50 U.S. Savings Bond will be yours, courtesy of The Freeman, as well as lovely gifts from area merchants.

Your portrait will be published on the front page of this newspaper on Valentine's Day along with your biography.

Any single girl may enter the competition simply by mailing a wallet size picture to:

Kingston, New York

Contestants should include such information also as full name, address, age, name and address of parents, school attending or place of employment.

Only Picture Needed

There aren't any interviews to worry about in this contest, no promenading, no complicated application forms to complete. Your picture is all you need in order to qualify as a contestant.

Six finalists, selected by a panel of judges, will have their pictures published in The Freeman but the public will vote for the Page One Valentine winner. A ballot will be published along with the pictures for the convenience of voting. This will give your family, relatives and friends a chance to get in on the fun.

Jan. 31 Deadline

All entries must be submitted to The Freeman by January 31. Balloting will close by February 12 and the decision of the judges will be final.

Freeman employees or relatives of Freeman employees are not eligible to enter this competition and all pictures will become the property of this newspaper.

This Valentine's Day can be different for a lucky girl in Ulster County. Some beauty is just waiting to be discovered.

A crown, gifts and fame—who will claim them and become the Freeman's First Page One Valentine winner?

Remember, deadline for entries in the contest is January 31.

Heavy Damage In Cottekill And Falls Fires

With the mercury hovering near zero Wednesday afternoon volunteer firefighters from several communities battled fires that heavily damaged a Cottekill residence and caused damage to a High Falls restaurant.

Firemen were hampered at both blazes by the cold weather that froze some apparatus and iced hoses and other firefighting equipment.

Marlboro fire units were called out shortly before 7:30 p. m. yesterday to extinguish flames in a house trailer, according to a dispatcher at the County Fire Control Center.

Cottekill fire companies responded to an alarm yesterday afternoon after fire was reported in the home of Stanley Temple on Old Cottekill Road. Fire officials realized more manpower was needed and through mutual aid companies from High Falls, Rosendale, Stone Ridge and Binnewater responded to calls to assist the local firemen.

Firemen had to rip away one wall of the two-story frame house which had recently been renovated, to get water on the flames that burned through partitions. Firefighters were at the scene more than three hours before the blaze was quelled. Considerable water and smoke damage was reported.

According to reports, Mrs. Temple was at home when the fire started. She left without incident. It was reported the blaze originated in electric wiring.

Chief Ralph Temple Jr., of Cottekill was in command of firemen at the scene, assisted by fire chiefs and other officers from the neighboring communities.

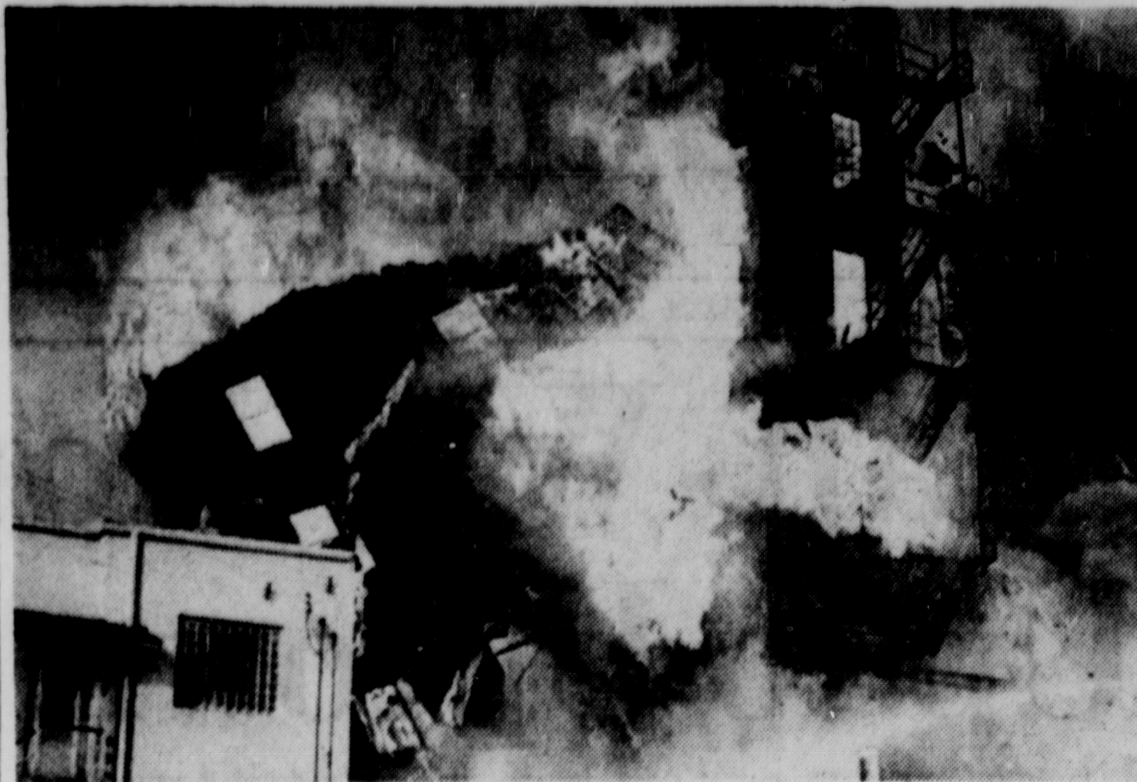

During the fire, Kripplebush firemen covered for Stone Ridge fire units at their station.

Shortly after noon Wednesday, High Falls fire units in command of Chief Robert Anderson were dispatched to Novi's Restaurant at Route 213 and Mohonk Road in that community. Assistance was summoned from Rosendale and Stone Ridge through mutual aid.

Chief Anderson said the fire erupted above the pizza oven and spread to a side wall and roof over the oven and damaged a wall and ceiling of a room adjoining the kitchen. Through the combined efforts of the fire companies, the flames were prevented from spreading to other parts of the building.

"The men did an excellent job despite the bitter cold weather," Chief Anderson said.

Firemen were at the scene for about two hours, according to the High Falls chief.

On Cambodia

Not Planning Any Attacks

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian officials said today Ambassador Chester Bowles has assured Prince Norodom Sihanouk the United States intends to respect the neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia and has no intention of launching any attacks against his country.

The officials said Bowles, the U.S. ambassador to India, and Prince Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, also agreed their governments would do everything possible to foster good relations with each other.

Bowles, sent by President Johnson to discuss the problem of Vietnamese Communist forces taking refuge on Cambodian territory, was to lunch today with the prince.

The American envoy is scheduled to leave Friday.

Cambodian officials said the first meeting between Bowles and Sihanouk Wednesday was "frank and cordial."

The Cambodian foreign office already has announced that it approves a U.S. offer of two helicopters for use by the International Control Commission set up by the 1954 Geneva conference to supervise the Indochina armistice agreements.

A Cambodian note to the Australian Embassy said, however, that the three-nation commission as well as Britain and Russia, cochairmen of the Geneva conference, must decide whether to accept the helicopters, which the United States offered so the commission could patrol Cambodia's border with South Vietnam.

The United States would like to see the commission keep an eye out for Communist forces crossing into Cambodia, but there is considerable doubt that the Polish member of the commission or the Russians will permit this.

In Washington, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told a reporter conversations with President Johnson have convinced him that the United States will not permit U.S. and South Vietnamese forces to pursue Communist forces from Vietnam into Cambodia.

State of N. Y., Fallkill

Two Banks to Merge

Approval of the merger of the State of New York National Bank, Kingston and the Fallkill Bank and Trust Company, Poughkeepsie, has been announced.

Frank Willie, New York State Superintendent of Banks and chairman of the Banking Board, advised today that the Banking Board, upon his recommendation, had approved the application of Bankers Trust New York Corporation to vote its stock in the successor by conversion to the Fallkill Bank in favor of a merger with the State of New York National Bank.

Fallkill is the smallest of the four commercial banks with offices in Poughkeepsie, with $18 million in total assets at year-end 1966 and three offices, all in Dutchess County.

The Kingston bank is the second largest of the three commercial banks headquartered in Kingston, with total assets of $37 million and six offices, all in Ulster County at year-end 1966. It is only slightly smaller in asset size than Kingston Trust Company.

The accounts which Fallkill and the Kingston bank have in common are mostly local accounts of national concerns with offices in both counties.

The proposed merger is likely to bring more liberal lending terms to the Kingston bank's customers, a broader range of bank services to the residents of Ulster County, and greater access to low-cost lendable funds within Ulster County.

Owego Fire

OWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Fire destroyed an office building and two mobile homes of the George Award Trailer Sales Wednesday, and flames shooting over Route 17 forced a detour of traffic for about three hours.

Award estimated his loss at more than $60,000.

Firemen said a furnace in the 20 by 50-foot, one-story, frame building apparently had not been functioning properly, and thus the fire. The trailers were parked near the building. No one was injured.

Bishops Critical Of Priests, Laymen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops sharply criticized priests who abandon their vows misinformed as well as laymen and many aspects of liberal contemporary theology.

In a 25,000-word collective pastoral letter—one of the few ever issued on so sweeping a subject by top church leaders in America—the bishops said they wish to set a course allowing for lay participation "somewhere between the prevailing, but far from universal silence of the past and the occasional strident confusion of the present."

The letter issued Wednesday reasserted traditional loyalty and obedience to the church and its hierarchy and appeals for a "renewal of that love of the church that has so characterized the faithful of all ages."

It warned against "impetuous applications" of the teachings of the recent Vatican Council.

While not mentioning by name jazz masses or the setting up of experimental forms of worship, the letter appeared to have such contemporary occurrences in mind in saying:

"With sadness we notice that some today, using the noble word 'charism' (a claim of personal authority on the basis of spiritual guidance) or employing theology almost as therapy, ridicule the church and, under the guise of being contemporary, seem hostile to everything except their own views," the letter stated.

Never in the church's past, the bishops said, "did she really trust in princes and in no future moment will she rely, in fact, on the people's pleasure or the judgment of the crowd."

The bishops noted a "crisis in priestly life" and declared some priests "have not only lost their own vision but have sought to shatter the ideals of others and made a public display of their defects."

Many priests, the letter said, are subject to loneliness and "disturbing doubts about the worth of their lives." These same doubts, it adds, "must especially afflict, nowadays, many in the armed forces."

In an apparent reply to talk among some priests of the eventual possibility of the church granting them the right to marry, the bishops maintain laymen and clergy alike must respect church doctrine and decisions laying "renewed insistence" on the requirements for priestly celibacy.

While the Vatican Council sought to give laymen a greater role in the affairs of the church, the letter said, "no one would maintain that an individual layman or all the laity together should be heard by the Christian community in the same way that the Pope, or the College of Bishops are to be heard."

Turning to the church's affirmation of social action and social justice, the bishops declared: "If Catholic performance does not match Catholic promise, then truly we shall have failed. If our deeds contradict our statements, then we shall have doubly sinned."

Fire Forces Nine Out In Bitter Cold

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Fire destroyed two apartment buildings near the downtown section of this Hudson Valley city early today, forcing nine persons to flee into sub-zero cold.

Firemen battled the flames for more than two hours in temperatures that ranged to 15 below zero. Their efforts were hindered by smoke and rapidly forming ice.

Several firemen suffered frostbite but there were no serious injuries reported.

The buildings were structures of two and three stories. One housed eight persons in two families and the other had one occupant.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

The buildings were at 237 and 239 State St., two blocks from the city's main street.

It was the third general alarm fire to strike the city within a week. A man died in a fire here Friday.

Seize $4.1 Million In Counterfeit Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Secret Service agents have seized a printing press and a large amount of counterfeiting equipment in Ohio following their confiscation here of $4.1 million worth of phony $100 bills—the largest haul in the history of the Secret Service.

Two men have been arrested in Ohio and charged with printing the counterfeit money.

A Miami Beach lawyer, Joel Lee, 39, was arrested here. He allegedly was salesman and traffic manager for the ring that planned to unload $50 million in fake $10, $20 and $100 bills. Authorities say that apparently none of the phony money got into circulation.

Albert E. Whitaker, agent in charge of the Secret Service in New York, has predicted more arrests.

Secret Service agents, acting with local police, seized counterfeiting equipment in a raid late Wednesday at a vacant store-room in Wellsville, Ohio. No arrest was made.

Police Capt. Pete Trainer said he understood that the equipment was connected with the counterfeiting operation in which the two Ohio men had been arrested. The material seized included a photocopy camera, two boxes of paper, a trunkful of paper cut to the size of U.S. currency and printing ink.

Earlier Wednesday, Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori announced at Cleveland that a printing press had been seized on the back porch of the home of James Clark, 28, of Clinton, Ohio.

The press, about half the size of a small auto, could be loaded on a truck and moved to various sites but was too big to get into the house, authorities said.

Clark, allegedly the printer and technician in the counterfeiting operation, was arrested Wednesday at a tool and die shop in Akron where he was employed. Clark was acquitted by a jury last year on a charge of an armed holdup of a supermarket.

The other Ohio man arrested by Secret Service agents was Louis Christian, 46, a used car dealer, who was seized at his home in Canton. In 1965, Christian was sentenced to a year in prison for conspiracy to transport stolen autos across state lines.

Clark and Christian, both charged with printing counterfeit money, were held in $75,000 bail each.

U.S. Commissioner Max Schiffman set $25,000 bail Wednesday for Lee. Lee, arrested Tuesday night at Kennedy Airport as he was on his way back to Florida, was charged with possession, sale and delivery of the $4.1 million in counterfeit money.

The bogus bills—packed in ordinary cardboard boxes—had been seized at Kennedy Airport Dec. 29.

Narcotic Charge

WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A 17-year-old girl student has been charged with possession of a narcotic drug after police said they confiscated some marijuana and tablets and capsules from her locker at Williamsville High School Wednesday.

Nanci Baren, of this Buffalo suburb, was released to the custody of her parents until her arraignment on the charge Feb. 7.

Police said enough marijuana to make five cigarettes was discovered in her locker. The tablets and capsules were to undergo laboratory analysis to determine their contents.

The Baren address is 110 Troy-Del Way.

BOGUS LOOT — Albert Whitaker, Secret Service chief in New York, looks over the $4.1 million in counterfeit $100 bills in New York Wednesday following the announcement of their seizure at Kennedy Airport. Authorities said it was the largest single seizure of counterfeit money in the history of the Secret Service, and that it was the first shipment in a deal for the purchase of an additional $50 million in bogus $100 bills. Homeowner, Police Given Leeway on Use of Guns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A homeowner confronting a burglar or a policeman pursuing a criminal could be a little quicker on the trigger than law now permits, under terms of bills sent to the Legislature today.

A dozen state senators joined in introducing proposals that would revise the law to give police and private citizens more authority to shoot at criminal suspects.

Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-Nassau, spokesman for the group, said, "The law - breaker must know that the policeman has the right to use his gun. In addition, a man's house must still be held to be his castle and any burglar must know that he enters at his own risk."

The new penal law, which became effective last September, revised the old standard that legally permitted peace officers to fire at any fleeing felon. The new law permits a policeman, or a citizen helping him, to use "deadly physical force" only if he believes the suspected criminal has used or threatened to use deadly force in committing a crime or is prepared to do so in resisting arrest.

Policemen have complained that this hampers their ability to apprehend criminals and makes them vulnerable to attack—that they would have to let a criminal get in the first shot.

The legislation drafted by the senators would permit a policeman or citizen to use deadly force if necessary to stop a criminal, if he reasonably believed the suspect had committed any "forcible felony." Deadly force need not be involved.

For example, this would include rape, which would not necessarily involve "deadly force," but would exclude a simple automobile theft not involving the element of force.

The other major revision, involving defense of a home or other premise, would allow the occupant to use deadly force only if the intruder has used force against the occupant or his family or if the occupant believes the intruder is about to use force.

The bill affecting homeowners thus would add burglary—even if force is not involved—to the category of intrusions that a homeowner could counter with deadly force.

Levitt said the move was in anticipation of the sale of bonds under the new mass transportation program.

The notes, termed the State of New York Transportation Capital Facilities bond - anticipation notes, had been sold to 19 banks throughout the state, Levitt said.

The Democratic comptroller added that the notes, the first incurrence of debt under the $2.5-billion bond issue approved by voters last November, are for six months and carry an interest rate of 3.3 per cent a year.

Pressures of Growing World A Major Problem, Rusk View

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the future's overriding problem will be to ease the pressures of a growing world population before they threaten to touch off nuclear war.

And a prime achievement of the Johnson-Kennedy administrations he has served, Rusk said Wednesday is that "we have added seven years to the time in which the nuclear bomb has not been dropped in anger."

In an interview with The Associated Press, Rusk set a general time limit of up to a generation for meeting population demands before they get out of hand and a 5 to 10-year estimate for international agreement to curb the atomic weapons spread.

"The increase in the number of people who inhabit the globe increases the demands for opportunities for decent lives—food, shelter, health, education, employment," he said.

"They are the problems of a growing human family in a stinging universe," added Rusk. This population problem rivals the nuclear problem and I think we have a limited amount of time to deal with both of them."

"I'd say 20 to 30 years from now the problem would become acute, extremely dangerous, unless it has been solved then," said Rusk.

The danger of a nuclear catastrophe appeared dominant in Rusk's mind as he reviewed his tenure as secretary of state. Only a half dozen men in U.S. history have held the No. 1 foreign affairs job as long.

Declaring that the United States has acted with restraint in a number of crises such as the Berlin issue, the Cuban missile confrontation and the Vietnam war, Rusk said:

"Anyone sitting in this chair, or in the President's chair, must be fully aware that keeping the nuclear genie in the bottle is a primary objective of our policy. It is something you have to bear in mind every day..."

"No one can imagine what would happen if the full megatonnage in the world went off. It's beyond the comprehension of the mind of man. It would be the end of everything."

Rusk said he thinks the Soviets understand the nuclear danger, too—"they are not fools"—but the risk from atomic proliferation "is the chance that some idiot will get hold of these weapons."

The secretary said the dangers of nation sending mass divisions across borders have been reduced. Progress is being made by nations in their daily economic, technological and other contacts with each other, he said.

But still unsolved is the type of aggression seen in Vietnam, he stated. Once "wars of liberation" are checked "I think we may well look forward to a considerable period of peace over the years ahead," he said.

Rusk said he views as a main exception to a potentially peaceful picture in the long-term future the possible resumption of national drives for more living space if expanding populations do not have their needs met.

"The question for us is whether we can solve these problems of today and the near future before the cry for living space takes over," he said.

Military Plane Is Feared Down

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (AP) — A four-engine military transport plane, which last radioed it was icing and losing altitude in a blinding snowstorm, was feared down today in rugged terrain in northern Nevada.

In Blizzards

Accounts of the number of persons aboard varied. Buckley Air Field in Denver, Colo., said the plane had 18 men aboard when it took off Wednesday but the Pentagon in Washington said the craft carried 19.

Ask State Farmers To Support Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's farmers have been asked to support Gov. Rockefeller's proposed state budget that reportedly will include increases in the income and business taxes.

Rockefeller told delegates to the 136th annual meeting of the State Agricultural Society Wednesday that the state must make cutbacks in its Medicaid program, but nevertheless must meet a series of commitments that will push the state budget up substantially in the next fiscal year.

The governor was accompanied by his wife, Happy, at the farm dinner.

At one point in his off-the-cuff remarks, Rockefeller raised a glass of milk to toast his audience but winced visibly when he tasted it. The milk was tepid.

The governor's reaction drew chuckles from nearby guests.

He told the Federal Aviation Agency in Salt Lake City: "I am losing altitude at 10,000 feet and at present time unable to maintain 12,000." That was at 1:50 p.m. He wasn't heard from again.

Robert Hodges told the Lander County sheriff's office he heard a "boom and roar" south of his farm 20 to 30 miles south of Battle Mountain between 2 and 3 p.m.

The farmer tried to look out in the direction of the noise, said Sheriff George Schwin, but the driving snow made it impossible to see.

Joe Adamson, a watchman at the Duval mine about 17 miles south of Battle Mountain, said he heard a plane roaring through the same general area about 1:55 p.m., Schwin said.

"It's in the Mt. Moses area," Schwin said. "That part of the country consists of one valley and two mountain ranges. It is rocky hills and the mountains on both sides are pretty steep."

"Part of it is a dry lake. It's sparsely covered with scrub cedar and pine. There are a few ranches down there, but only four of five in the whole area. And there's a lot of old mines in the hills and canyons," he said.

One mountain in the area, called Needle Peak, juts 10,000 feet into the sky. Mt. Moses stands 8,645 feet.

Team From Quantico

The plane carried an amphibious warfare instruction team based at Quantico, Va. The group, touring marine bases throughout the country, was en route to Seattle, Wash. to give its next class.

The Pentagon said there were 13 men in the instruction team and six in the crew. Spokesmen at Buckley Air Field and at Hamilton Air Force base near San Francisco said there were four crew men plus an instruction team.

The Pentagon said the identity of those on board would be withheld until the plane was located and their status known.

The C-54 Marine aircraft made its last stop at Buckley field before winging west of the Rocky Mountains.

Seize $4.1 Million In Counterfeit Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Secret Service agents have seized a printing press and a large amount of counterfeiting equipment in Ohio following their confiscation here of $4.1 million worth of phony $100 bills—the largest haul in the history of the Secret Service.

Two men have been arrested in Ohio and charged with printing the counterfeit money.

A Miami Beach lawyer, Joel Lee, 39, was arrested here. He allegedly was salesman and traffic manager for the ring that planned to unload $50 million in fake $10, $20 and $100 bills. Authorities say that apparently none of the phony money got into circulation.

Albert E. Whitaker, agent in charge of the Secret Service in New York, has predicted more arrests.

Secret Service agents, acting with local police, seized counterfeiting equipment in a raid late Wednesday at a vacant store-room in Wellsville, Ohio. No arrest was made.

Police Capt. Pete Trainer said he understood that the equipment was connected with the counterfeiting operation in which the two Ohio men had been arrested. The material seized included a photocopy camera, two boxes of paper, a trunkful of paper cut to the size of U.S. currency and printing ink.

Earlier Wednesday, Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori announced at Cleveland that a printing press had been seized on the back porch of the home of James Clark, 28, of Clinton, Ohio.

The press, about half the size of a small auto, could be loaded on a truck and moved to various sites but was too big to get into the house, authorities said. Clark, allegedly the printer and technician in the counterfeiting operation, was arrested Wednesday at a tool and die shop in Akron where he was employed. Clark was acquitted by a jury last year on a charge of an armed holdup of a supermarket.

The other Ohio man arrested by Secret Service agents was Louis Christian, 46, a used car dealer, who was seized at his home in Canton. In 1965, Christian was sentenced to a year in prison for conspiracy to transport stolen autos across state lines.

Clark and Christian, both charged with printing counterfeit money, were held in $75,000 bail each.

U.S. Commissioner Max Schiffman set $25,000 bail Wednesday for Lee, Lee, arrested Tuesday night at Kennedy Airport as he was on his way back to Florida, was charged with possession, sale and delivery of the $4.1 million in counterfeit money.

The bogus bills—packed in ordinary cardboard boxes—had been seized at Kennedy Airport Dec. 29.

Narcotic Charge

WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A 17-year-old girl student has been charged with possession of a narcotic drug after police said they confiscated some marijuana and tablets and capsules from her locker at Williamsville High School Wednesday.

Nanci Baren, of this Buffalo suburb, was released to the custody of her parents until her arraignment on the charge Feb. 7. Police said enough marijuana to make five cigarettes was discovered in her locker. The tablets and capsules were to undergo laboratory analysis to determine their contents.

The Baren address is 110 Troy-Del. Way.

BOGUS LOOT — Albert Whitaker, Secret Service chief in New York, looks over the $4.1 million in counterfeit $100 bills in New York Wednesday following the announcement of their seizure at Kennedy Airport. Authorities said it was the largest single seizure of counterfeit money in the history of the Secret Service, and that it was the first shipment in a deal for the purchase of an additional $50 million in bogus $100 bills. Homeowner, Police Given Leeway on Use of Guns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A homeowner confronting a burglar has used or threatened to use deadly force in committing a crime or is prepared to do so in resisting arrest.

Policemen have complained that this hampers their ability to apprehend criminals and makes them vulnerable to attack—that they would have to let a criminal get in the first shot.

The legislation drafted by the senators would permit a policeman or citizen to use deadly force if necessary to stop a criminal, if he reasonably believed the suspect had committed any "forcible felony." Deadly force need not be involved.

For example, this would include rape, which would not necessarily involve "deadly force," but would exclude a simple automobile theft not involving the element of force.

The other major revision, involving defense of a home or other premise, would allow the occupant to use deadly force only if the intruder has used force against the occupant or his family or if the occupant believes the intruder is about to use force.

The bill affecting homeowners thus would add burglary—even if force is not involved—to the category of intrusions that a homeowner could counter with deadly force.

Borrowing Power

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has borrowed $51 million through short-term notes to finance state highway construction, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said Wednesday.

Levitt said the move was in anticipation of the sale of bonds under the new mass transportation program.

The notes, termed the State of New York Transportation Capital Facilities bond - anticipation notes, had been sold to 19 banks throughout the state, Levitt said.

The Democratic comptroller added that the notes, the first incurrence of debt under the $2.5-billion bond issue approved by voters last November, are for six months and carry an interest rate of 3.3 per cent a year.

Pressures of Growing World A Major Problem, Rusk View

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the future's overriding problem will be to ease the pressures of a growing world population before they threaten to touch off nuclear war.

And a prime achievement of the Johnson-Kennedy administrations he has served, Rusk said Wednesday is that "we have added seven years to the time in which the nuclear bomb has not been dropped in anger."

In an interview with The Associated Press, Rusk set a general time limit of up to a generation for meeting population demands before they get out of hand and a 5 to 10-year estimate for international agreement to curb the atomic weapons spread.

"The increase in the number of people who inhabit the globe increases the demands for opportunities for decent lives—food, shelter, health, education, employment," he said.

"They are the problems of a growing human family in a tiny universe," added Rusk. "The population problem rivals the nuclear problem and I think we have a limited amount of time to deal with both of them."

"I'd say 20 to 30 years from now the problem would become acute, extremely dangerous, unless it has been solved then," said Rusk.

The danger of a nuclear catastrophe appeared dominant in Rusk's mind as he reviewed his tenure as secretary of state. Only a half dozen men in U.S. history have held the No. 1 foreign affairs job as long.

Declaring that the United States has acted with restraint in a number of crises such as the Berlin issue, the Cuban missile confrontation and the Vietnamese war, Rusk said:

"Anyone sitting in this chair, or in the President's chair, must be fully aware that keeping the nuclear genie in the bottle is a primary objective of our policy. It is something you have to bear in mind every day."

"No one can imagine what would happen if the full megatonnage in the world went off. It's beyond the comprehension of the mind of man. It would be the end of everything."

Rusk said he thinks the Soviets understand the nuclear danger, too—"they are not fools"—but the risk from atomic proliferation "is the chance that some idiot will get hold of these weapons."

The secretary said the dangers of nation sending mass divisions across borders have been reduced. Progress is being made by nations in their daily economic, technological and other contacts with each other, he said.

But still unsolved is the type of aggression seen in Vietnam, he stated. Once "wars of liberation" are checked "I think we may well look forward to a considerable period of peace over the years ahead," he said.

Rusk said he views as a main exception to a potentially peaceful picture in the long-term future the possible resumption of national drives for more living space if expanding populations do not have their needs met.

"The question for us is whether we can solve these problems of today and the near future before the cry for living space takes over," he said.

Eshkol's Visit Here

Elsewhere on this page, David Lawrence declares the real reason for the meeting between President Johnson and Israel's Premier Levi Eshkol was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if any aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and the surrounding area.

The Premier's visit can only stir a sense of foreboding, for Mr. Eshkol has come here because the Mideast is tense. The brief war that ended in humiliation for the Arabs and for the Soviet Union as well proved to be but the forerunner of events to come.

Israel's anxiety is traceable to Moscow more than to Cairo, for as if to recoup the prestige it lost when the Israelis made short work of Arab arms and fighting men, the Kremlin set out at once to place again in Arab hands the materiel of war. Nasser's legions are now better equipped than before the debacle of last May and June. Mr. Eshkol seeks a counterbalance by persuading the U.S. to do in like manner—but to Israel. It wants weapons, modern and effective weapons, and it wants them now.

Mr. Eshkol may be expected to emphasize a completely new situation has arisen in the Mideast. In Israel's view, the massive presence of Russian ground and naval power now in the Mediterranean area could be the forerunner of an East-West showdown, not merely a rerun of the 1967 Arab-Jewish confrontation. Mr. Eshkol visualizes the Kremlin using the Arab plea for more aid as a pretext for a Soviet expansion into the Middle East and North Africa as well. He sees the dependence of a chain of Arab states upon Russia as the first step toward an effort to take over such friends of the West as Turkey, Greece, Iran and Israel itself.

Mr. Eshkol may well be overly pessimistic. Yet the Russian buildup is no secret, and nations' actions are usually determined by the state of its arms and the consequent chance of success. The hatred between Jews and Arabs thus adds fuel to the arms race, which destroys trust and sets the stage for violence.

The U.S. is in the munitions business in a big way—$1.5 billion in sales annually—with customers on many sides. In fact, Israel and Jordanian fighting men were killing each other last May and June with "Made in the U.S." instruments of war. The shifting sympathies of nations make an arms merchant's business a very uncertain one. And munitions, however necessary they are made by the actions of a potential enemy, make the "peace through strength" argument a flimsy one. Arms are made and bought for use.

President Johnson and Premier Eshkol met in 1964. Both were new to their posts then, and voiced optimism about the outlook for peace in the Mideast. Today, sadly, their idealism must be tarnished. For the purpose of Mr. Eshkol's visit leaves no room for idealism, and not much more for optimism.

Peace Talk Flurry

With Secretary of State Dean Rusk taking seriously the peace feelers out of North Vietnam, there is renewed speculation about the possibility of negotiations. They hang on the change of the single word "will" for "could"—because the remarks of North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh used the expression "will start negotiations" after the United States halts bombing and other hostilities, where before he had said that conversations "could start" after a cessation of U.S. bombing and other warlike acts.

Since diplomacy hangs on a word, Rusk is right in pursuing this change to its possible end. But before any negotiations could begin, he must find out first if North Vietnam will, as President Johnson has repeatedly required, give assurances of reciprocal reduction of military activities if the United States stops bombing the North. We must not fall into the trap of ceasing the bombing, thus opening the way for the North to reinforce and supply her forces, and add to the risk for American fighting men.

Rusk is being very cautious. He does not consider Trinh's statement either as a peace feeler or as purely a propaganda move. He is trying to find out how much we can rely on it. The obvious time to start would be the 72-hour truce later this month, announced for the Lunar New Year, called Tet by Vietnamese. But the violations of the recent holidays were too terrible to chance negotiations without assurances that the North would cease hostilities if we do.

True, we negotiated with North Korea while fighting continued. But we learned then that negotiations are for Communists an extension of hostilities and we don't want that repeated in Vietnam. It took a threat of nuclear attack to bring about meaningful talks in Korea. So while we all hope these flurries are serious, we must not be too optimistic. We should wish Rusk luck but understand and applaud his caution.

David Lawrence Says

U. S. May Be Involved In the Middle East

WASHINGTON—Many people may have wondered why President Johnson spent two days at his ranch in Texas with Prime Minister Levi Eshkol of Israel and then issued a statement merely saying that the United States has agreed "to keep Israel's military defense capability under active and sympathetic examination."

It is significant that the joint statement also mentioned that the matter would be reviewed in the light of "all relevant factors, including the shipment of military equipment by others to the area." But the same impression could have been conveyed through diplomatic communications made public. The real reason for the meeting was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if any aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and the surrounding area.

Military men are aware that Soviet strategic bombers visit Egypt from time to time and get target practice over the deserts. There are 50 Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean including a cruiser, two missile-carrying submarines, and several patrol boats and other craft armed with anti-aircraft and short-range missiles. The London Daily Telegraph, in an article a few days ago by its Cairo correspondent, said:

"While there is every appearance that the Russians intend to turn the Mediterranean into a second front of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, this is naturally strongly denied by Russian officers here. . . .

"There seems little doubt that the Russians are most anxious to be able to cut air communications in an emergency between the NATO powers in Europe and their allies in the Central Treaty Organization—Turkey, Persia and Pakistan—as well as those to the Far Eastern members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization."

So the Middle East problem is not merely confined to Israel and the Arab countries. It has ramifications that could affect the peace of Europe, too.

The Israelis want to buy from the United States jet fighter planes to maintain their military superiority and offset the planes and other armament being supplied by the Soviet Union to Egypt. The joint statement issued this week will be construed as an indication that sooner or later the fighter-bombers will be sold to the Israeli Government.

Meanwhile, every effort will be made by the United States to exert pressure for a settlement of the dispute between the Arabs and the Israelis. There are international repercussions outside the Middle East. Thus, for instance, the Suez Canal is still closed, and this is having a big impact on world trade.

President Johnson undoubtedly felt that, when he invited

the Israeli prime minister to his home for a two-day visit, the Russians would rightly infer that the United States is not indifferent to the military build-up by the Soviet Union in the Middle East. The United Nations, of course, is supposed to be trying to make peace between Israel and the Arab countries, but sporadic fighting indicates that there is not too much confidence as yet in the U.N.'s capacity to bring about a settlement.

Here is another example—just as in Vietnam—of the role which the Soviet Government plays in the world. It is helping to keep alive the passions of war, and it is influencing the United States decision to send military supplies to Israel. As long as the Moscow government, through its numerous subversive organizations in the Middle East, keeps sowing the seeds of war, the United States is not likely to remain aloof. The same circumstances which brought American intervention in Vietnam may produce a similar result with respect to the Middle East.

No hint of this critical state of affairs can be derived from the President's statement following the visit of the prime minister of Israel. But the Soviet Government—by building up the military power of the Arab countries—has presented a challenge to the West. The situation constitutes a threat not only to the peace of the Middle East but to Europe and America as well.

Revamped Navy, Marines Pose New Soviet Threat

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Soviet Russia's expansion of her conventional naval forces and her creation of a vigorous conventional Marine Corps may prove a greater threat for World War III than her current strong nuclear missile buildup.

That war danger is increased by Moscow's newly developed plans for vigorous conventional imperialist-type probing of Asian, Mediterranean and Middle Eastern soft spots. In this probing Moscow works with ambitious dictators eager to expand or with any other group which has prospects for increasing its power and is willing to join with the Russians for whatever reasons. These dangers are the newest being discussed in the greatest detail as the Defense Department and the State Department look ahead at tomorrow's problems.

The greatest dangers, experts think, lie partly in the sharp confrontation of U. S. and Soviet interests in a given area. But they lie also in the fact that these two Soviet trends will increase the danger of U. S. and Soviet troops meeting face to face in future Korea and Vietnam-type battlefields.

The Soviet Union has been very careful in the past in most cases to keep its troops and its naval forces in the background, except in its border satellites.

In Korea, for example, U. S. troops fought openly. Russian advisers, technical officers and NCO's were heavily disguised. In Berlin, most Russian harassment was through the use of East German troops.

Russians have kept in the background in Hanoi. This Russian caution has made the open meeting of Soviet and U. S. troops in battle highly unlikely.

This situation now apparently is changing. Soviet military advisers in Egypt now work relatively openly. Soviet warships are obviously open in their operations and "buzzing" of U. S. warships in the Mediterranean and in the seas near Japan.

The new Soviet Marine Corps is clearly designed for overseas operation. If and when Soviet and American troops meet in a future Korea or Vietnam, it will become more difficult to ward of a world war. U. S. military-diplomatic strategists say in backroom brain probing sessions that operations in such wars will require new refinements in diplomatic and military restraint.

This does not mean that it will be impossible to prevent World War III. The Russians have historically shown an uncanny ability to fight major battles with their troops without letting even bitterly waged campaigns lead into openly acknowledged war.

In the early 1930s, Japan and the Soviet Union fought battles in which whole divisions were annihilated, yet nothing came of these battles. They never came to public notice in either Japan or Russia except as minor border skirmishes with bandits. Secondly, American strategists are attempting in advance to figure out ways in which this type of confrontation can be contained.

Drew Pearson Says Defense Contractors Get $5 Billion Research Bonanza

WASHINGTON—If the next session of Congress really wants to get serious about cutting the budget, the biggest slice of fat that could be eliminated is part of the $5,323,000,000 subsidy to private business which the public knows little about but which is listed as "RDT&E"—this stands for "research, development, test and evaluation."

During fiscal year 1966, the last year for which figures are available, a total of 2,001 defense contractors sliced up a total of $5,323,000,000. Of this, however, by far the largest hunk — $5,210,000,000 or 97.9 per cent—went to 500 of the largest corporations in the nation. Half a billion dollars, for instance, went to Lockheed Aircraft for alleged "research and development," and another approximate half billion to General Dynamics.

While some of this may be necessary expenditure, the real fact is that almost nothing is done to check on the efficiency of the alleged research. Furthermore, so many retired admirals and generals are hired by the big defense contractors — and there is such a chummy relationship between the defense contractors and the Pentagon — that it would be almost impossible for an accurate estimate or accounting to be made of the value of the so-called "research, development and evaluation."

This is what President Eisenhower had in mind when, in his last message to the American people, he warned that the greatest danger facing the nation was the alliance between a big peace-time military establishment and the defense industries.

Finally, Congress has voted that any profits derived from this research, even though paid for by the taxpayers' money, revert to the private companies, not to the government. Yet the government puts up the money for all of the experimentation.

What Price Research
The Defense Department puts out an annual list of companies which get this bonanza, and it makes interesting reading.

For instance, General Electric, a company which has been convicted of wanton criminal violation of the Antitrust Act, and fined over a million dollars, with three of its executives sent to prison, nevertheless received $356,079,000 for alleged research and development in the last year figures were available, namely, 1966.

Western Electric Company, which has also been the subject of various antitrust suits, together with its affiliate, American Tel. & Tel., was the recipient of the third biggest research bonanza, namely, $393,842,000.

General Motors, which only last month had a hot argument with the White House over increasing the price of cars, received a nice little package of research money from Uncle Sam to the tune of $53,166,000.

The Charles Pfizer Drug Company, which only recently was convicted in New York of conspiracy to fix drug prices, received a neat package of $711,000 from the Defense Department — for what, nobody exactly knows.

Harvey Aluminum, a company which last year received a tax forgiveness bonanza of $2 million, thanks to a last-minute amendment hung on the so-called Christmas Tree bill, by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., got a nice present from Uncle Sam to the tune of $1,138,000 for alleged research and development. This is a company without many technical skills except when it comes to lobbying and politics.

Carmen Warchaw, the sister of its top partner, has long been Democratic chairman of Southern California. The Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., whose executives are the largest official money-raisers for the Republican National Committee, received $1,085,000 for research at their New Haven plant and their plant in Gulfport, Miss.

The Defense Department was quite impartial politically. Engelhard Industries of New Jersey, whose head, Charlie Engelhard, a good loyal Democrat, accompanied President Johnson on his trip around the world, was awarded a research and development grant of $415,000 — somewhat less, of course, than Mathieson.

They're scheduled for the biggest benders since the sack of Constantinople. Mr. Johnson (literally) directs, and asks Congress to confirm, that American enterprises reduce their investments abroad to reduce our foreign deficit. Our annual outflow in foreign investments runs $2.5 billion to $3 billion. The return here from them exceeds $4 billion a year. This great idea is like a surgeon curing you of heart trouble by cutting out your heart and throwing it away.

Moreover, Mr. Johnson is again relying on the public's ignorance when he makes the step sound impressive. Surely, he and the other Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink know the score. I find, and the Federal Reserve Board confirms to me, that our private lending abroad is already running about $600 million below the ceiling the board established in the program of voluntary limitations by banks and other financial institutions in 1965.

The last favorable balance of trade we had was in 1957, before the New Frontier-Great Society took over. Since then their balance-of-payments deficits total $16.5 billion. And with these went our gold reserve. President Kennedy inherited a gold stock of $21 billion. He and President Johnson turned a gold problem into a gold crisis, despite all warnings given them across the years. The stock is now $11.9 billion.

And last June the Senate censured one of its own members, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., on a finding by the committee that he had converted at least $116,000 in political funds to his personal benefit.

Politicians Free With Public's Money

Wags say Dr. Gallup recently took a poll of the American Indians. Twenty per cent said we should get out of Vietnam. Eighty per cent said we should get out of here. It's not easy to chop the world's greatest nation down to size. But the combination of the Sino-Soviet menace and the Great Society is doing a first-class job of it.

Our politicians paint themselves (and the country) into a corner. Then they turn to you and demand: "If you're so smart, what would you do about it?" The justified answer is: "Well, I wouldn't have painted myself into the corner in the first place."

And President Johnson's edicts in our balance-of-payments mess is a glaring example.

He asks ordinary Americans to stay home. In a self-respecting country enjoying any kind of management at all why should its citizens have to stay at home? It is only the governments fat cats and bureaucrats who are supposed to travel? Mr. Johnson himself pops around in a private (taxpayers') jet that costs as much as 300 Rolls-Royce limousines and costs $2,460 an hour—an hour-to-fly. And when Vice-President Humphrey pawed around Africa recently in an identical jet his travel companions totaled 60. Congressional junkies are likewise exempt. A whole parade of them (wives included) are laid on for January and February.

Eshkol's Visit Here

Elsewhere on this page, David Lawrence declares the real reason for the meeting between President Johnson and Israel's Premier Levi Eshkol was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if any aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and the surrounding area.

The Premier's visit can only stir a sense of foreboding, for Mr. Eshkol has come here because the Mideast is tense. The brief war that ended in humiliation for the Arabs and for the Soviet Union as well proved to be but the forerunner of events to come.

Israel's anxiety is traceable to Moscow more than to Cairo, for as if to recoup the prestige it lost when the Israelis made short work of Arab arms and fighting men, the Kremlin set out at once to place again in Arab hands the materiel of war. Nasser's legions are now better equipped than before the debacle of last May and June. Mr. Eshkol seeks a counterbalance by persuading the U.S. to do in like manner—but to Israel. It wants weapons, modern and effective weapons, and it wants them now.

Mr. Eshkol may be expected to emphasize a completely new situation has arisen in the Mideast. In Israel's view, the massive presence of Russian ground and naval power now in the Mediterranean area could be the forerunner of an East-West showdown, not merely a rerun of the 1967 Arab-Jewish confrontation. Mr. Eshkol visualizes the Kremlin using the Arab plea for more aid as a pretext for a Soviet expansion into the Middle East and North Africa as well. He sees the dependence of a chain of Arab states upon Russia as the first step toward an effort to take over such friends of the West as Turkey, Greece, Iran and Israel itself.

Mr. Eshkol may well be overly pessimistic. Yet the Russian buildup is no secret, and nations' actions are usually determined by the state of its arms and the consequent chance of success. The hatred between Jews and Arabs thus adds fuel to the arms race, which destroys trust and sets the stage for violence.

The U.S. is in the munitions business in a big way—$1.5 billion in sales annually—with customers on many sides. In fact, Israel and Jordanian fighting men were killing each other last May and June with "Made in the U.S." instruments of war. The shifting sympathies of nations make an arms merchant's business a very uncertain one. And munitions, however necessary they are made by the actions of a potential enemy, make the "peace through strength" argument a flimsy one. Arms are made and bought for use.

President Johnson and Premier Eshkol met in 1964. Both were new to their posts then, and voiced optimism about the outlook for peace in the Mideast. Today, sadly, their idealism must be tarnished. For the purpose of Mr. Eshkol's visit leaves no room for idealism, and not much more for optimism.

Peace Talk Flurry

With Secretary of State Dean Rusk taking seriously the peace feelers out of North Vietnam, there is renewed speculation about the possibility of negotiations. They hang on the change of the single word "will" for "could"—because the remarks of North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh used the expression "will start negotiations" after the United States halts bombing and other hostilities, where before he had said that conversations "could start" after a cessation of U.S. bombing and other warlike acts.

Since diplomacy hangs on a word, Rusk is right in pursuing this change to its possible end. But before any negotiations could begin, he must find out first if North Vietnam will, as President Johnson has repeatedly required, give assurances of reciprocal reduction of military activities if the United States stops bombing the North. We must not fall into the trap of ceasing the bombing, thus opening the way for the North to reinforce and supply her forces, and add to the risk for American fighting men.

Rusk is being very cautious. He does not consider Trinh's statement either as a peace feeler or as purely a propaganda move. He is trying to find out how much we can rely on it. The obvious time to start would be the 72-hour truce later this month, announced for the Lunar New Year, called Tet by Vietnamese. But the violations of the recent holidays were too terrible to chance negotiations without assurances that the North would cease hostilities if we do.

True, we negotiated with North Korea while fighting continued. But we learned then that negotiations are for Communists an extension of hostilities and we don't want that repeated in Vietnam. It took a threat of nuclear attack to bring about meaningful talks in Korea. So while we all hope these flurries are serious, we must not be too optimistic. We should wish Rusk luck but understand and applaud his caution.

David Lawrence Says

U. S. May Be Involved In the Middle East

WASHINGTON—Many people may have wondered why President Johnson spent two days at his ranch in Texas with Prime Minister Levi Eshkol of Israel and then issued a statement merely saying that the United States has agreed "to keep Israel's military defense capability under active and sympathetic examination."

It is significant that the joint statement also mentioned that the matter would be reviewed in the light of "all relevant factors, including the shipment of military equipment by others to the area." But the same impression could have been conveyed through diplomatic communications made public.

The real reason for the meeting was to emphasize before the world that the United States may have to become involved in the Middle East if any aggressive steps are taken by the Soviet Union to obtain a dominant position in the Mediterranean and the surrounding area.

Military men are aware that Soviet strategic bombers visit Egypt from time to time and get target practice over the deserts. There are 50 Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean including a cruiser, two missile-carrying submarines, and several patrol boats and other craft armed with anti-aircraft and short-range missiles. The London Daily Telegraph, in an article a few days ago by its Cairo correspondent, said:

"While there is every appearance that the Russians intend to turn the Mediterranean into a second front of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, this is naturally strongly denied by Russian officers here."

"There seems little doubt that the Russians are most anxious to be able to cut air communications in an emergency between the NATO powers in Europe and their allies in the Central Treaty Organization—Turkey, Persia and Pakistan—as well as those to the Far Eastern members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization."

So the Middle East problem is not merely confined to Israel and the Arab countries. It has ramifications that could affect the peace of Europe, too.

The Israelis want to buy from the United States jet fighter planes to maintain their military superiority and offset the planes and other armament being supplied by the Soviet Union to Egypt. The joint statement issued this week will be construed as an indication that sooner or later the fighter-bombers will be sold to the Israeli Government.

Meanwhile, every effort will be made by the United States to exert pressure for a settlement of the dispute between the Arabs and the Israelis. There are international repercussions outside the Middle East. Thus, for instance, the Suez Canal is still closed, and this is having a big impact on world trade.

President Johnson undoubtedly felt that, when he invited

the Israeli prime minister to his home for a two-day visit, the Russians would rightly infer that the United States is not indifferent to the military build-up by the Soviet Union in the Middle East. The United Nations, of course, is supposed to be trying to make peace between Israel and the Arab countries, but sporadic fighting indicates that there is not too much confidence as yet in the U.N.'s capacity to bring about a settlement.

Here is another example—just as in Vietnam—of the role which the Soviet Government plays in the world. It is helping to keep alive the passions of war, and it is influencing the United States decision to send military supplies to Israel. As long as the Moscow government, through its numerous subversive organizations in the Middle East, keeps sowing the seeds of more war, the United States is not likely to remain aloof. The same circumstances which brought American intervention in Vietnam may produce a similar result with respect to the Middle East.

No hint of this critical state of affairs can be derived from the President's statement following the visit of the prime minister of Israel. But the Soviet Government—by building up the military power of the Arab countries—has presented a challenge to the West. An outspoken foe has been Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who contends that financial disclosure proposals would make second-class citizens out of senators.

Sources close to the ethics committee, officially titled The Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, indicate it will take a moderate approach that will not go as far as Clark would like but that will not suit Dirksen, either.

The sharp division in the Senate was reflected in the 46-52 vote by which Clark's proposal was rejected last Sept. 12.

Advocates of financial dis-

Dow Chemical, which manufactures napalm for use in Vietnam, got a research grant of $1,898,000.

More Moola. The oil companies seemed to fare pretty well. Esso Research of Linden, N. J., got $1,519,000, while the Ethyl Corporation, also a subsidiary of Standard Oil, got $823,000.

Shell Oil, although a British-Dutch company, got $846,000.

The automobile companies did all right, too. In addition to the grant to General Motors, Ford got $5,099,000 while Chrysler got $2,989,000.

It would surprise many taxpayers to know that they had helped to subsidize the Admiral Company, big makers of TV sets, refrigerators and other appliances, to the tune of $656,000 for research and development, and that even the Columbia Broadcasting System got a pleasant little gift from Uncle Sam to the tune of $5,153,000 for research and development.

The Litton Systems got $6,502,000, on top of which Litton Industries got $2,068,000 and Litton Precision Products got $479,000.

Bausch and Lomb, a company which got into serious trouble prior to Pearl Harbor when it was exposed by Harry Truman's old Senate committee as swapping American military invention secrets with Nazi firms, got $437,000 from Uncle Sam.

Texaco got $3,031,000; Bulova Watch, $2,346,000; International Harvester, $1,845,000; Allis Chalmers, $686,000; Carborundum of Niagara Falls, $595,000; Bendix, $2,097,000.

The Du Pont Company, one of the wealthiest in the nation and whose executives are among the biggest contributors to the Republican party, received $1,922,000 from the Defense Department; on top of which, the Hercules Powder Company, a subsidiary of Du Pont, received a cool $5,728,000.

The possibility of curtailing government expenditure is so great that the question will be explored further in an early column.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Politicians Free With Public's Money

Wags say Dr. Gallup recently took a poll of the American Indians. Twenty per cent said we should get out of Vietnam. Eighty per cent said we should get out of here. It's not easy to chop the world's greatest nation down to size. But the combination of the Sino-Soviet menace and the Great Society is doing a first-class job of it.

Our politicians paint themselves (and the country) into a corner. Then they turn to you and demand: "If you're so smart, what would you do about it?" The justified answer is: "Well, I wouldn't have painted myself into the corner in the first place."

And President Johnson's edicts in our balance-of-payments mess is a glaring example.

He asks ordinary Americans to stay home. In a self-respecting country enjoying any kind of management at all why should its citizens have to stay at home? It is only the governments fat cats and bureaucrats who are supposed to travel? Mr. Johnson himself pops around in a private jet (taxpayers' jet) that costs as much as 300 Rolls-Royce limousines and costs $2,460 an hour—an hour—to fly. And when Vice-President Humphrey pawed around Africa recently in an identical jet his travel companions totaled 60. Congressional junkies are likewise exempt. A whole parade of them (wives included) are laid on for January and February.

Senate Ethics Committee Nears Completion of Code

By JOHN CHADWICK. Associated Press Writer. WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's bipartisan ethics committee is nearing completion of its proposed standards of conduct for senators. Senate officials and Senate employees.

At the heart of the code it will submit is expected to be some kind of financial disclosure requirement.

Whatever form this takes, it is certain to lead to controversy within the Senate over the difficult and sensitive issue of how far, if at all, men should be compelled to go in disclosing the amount and the sources of their income, assets, liabilities and business and professional activities.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., has been a leading advocate of requiring senators and all Senate aides earning $10,000 a year or more to file and make public annually a detailed financial report.

An outspoken foe has been Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who contends that financial disclosure proposals would make second-class citizens out of senators.

Sources close to the ethics committee, officially titled The Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, indicate it will take a moderate approach that will not go as far as Clark would like but that will not suit Dirksen, either.

The sharp division in the Senate was reflected in the 46-52 vote by which Clark's proposal was rejected last Sept. 12.

Advocates of financial disclosure had their cause bolstered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a recent magazine article.

Financial disclosure is only part of the code of conduct the ethics committee is expected to recommend.

These include the case of Bobby Baker, the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority who became a millionaire while on the Senate payroll. He was convicted a year ago of theft, conspiracy and income tax evasion.

Last June the Senate censured one of its own members, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., on a finding by the committee that he had converted at least $116,083 in political funds to his personal benefit.

Committee sources said the proposed standards of conduct will definitely deal with testimonial fund-raising affairs such as figured in the Dodd case.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

In the absence of any serious Democratic contender for Joe Resnick's congressional seat the name of Kingston's Ray Garraghan has been mentioned a lot lately.

The question is, will Ray run and on what ticket. The mayor's attitude seems to have softened a bit from his hell no, I won't go, stand of a few months ago. He had previously brushed off questions by this columnist on the subject with an eyes toward heaven look and a "being mayor of Kingston is a tough enough job," reply.

While in no way committing himself to the race Garraghan has indicated that he wouldn't run without the Conservative endorsement, regardless of which party nominates him.

Ray has never been one to worry about major party endorsements. It was reported by Freeman Political Writer Charles Bernpohl (and never publicly refuted) that Garraghan had the Republican mayoralty nomination sewed up until Downtown committee-men balked.

The mayor's name has also been mentioned for Ken Wilson's assembly seat. As yet there has been no official word from Garraghan. He's been trying to arrange a short vacation in mid-February to think things out and will probably make his move right after that.

What About Tongue

While on the subject of moves, word has been received that the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency is advertising for a permanent executive director. Reports indicate five applications for Eric Hemphill's old job have been received.

One application they haven't received (formally) is that of the current acting executive director, Ward Tongue. Ward says he's thinking is over. We think the agency should give prime consideration to Tongue. He's been on the job since urban renewal began three years ago. More important, as a lifelong resident he knows Kingston and its people. At times an executive director has to step on some toes, and as Hemphill can probably attest to, some of those toes can be pretty tender. Especially those belonging to our city fathers.

Lots of Luck, Joe
Speaking of toe stomping, we didn't go for Joe Resnick's blasting of newsmen covering the Vietnam war. Joe has come a long way in the three years he emerged from the weeds in Ellenville, mostly via headlines and newscasts that read RESNICK BLASTS... He may live to regret the fallout from this latest blast.

Controversy in Kingston budgets is nothing new, and forces are rapidly approaching the battle line. Mayor Garraghan has cut almost $70,000 from his original request and is about ready to stand firm. Opponents of the budget see another $100,000 that could go.

Pete Mancuso is the chairman of the Council Finance Ways and Means Committee which reviews the budget and makes recommendations to the mayor.

One of the few raps we've heard against Pete is that he won't play politics which, in our opinion, is no rap. With Pete as finance chairman things should go a lot smoother this time around.

Views on Reapportionment

Finally, John Mayone's blast against the Democratic plan for city reapportionment sounded like sour grapes to us. John said he wouldn't waste his time at a public hearing and that the Republicans didn't draw up a minority report because of lack of time.

That whole line of reasoning is a bit hard to take. The Republicans had just as much "time" to prepare a reapportionment plan as the Democrats and probably as much access to information as the Dems. Chief source of information was the city clerk's office. Bud Lyle runs that office and does a fine job, according to the Common Council. The Republican minority leader (John Machione) was one of the Council's principal applauders of Lyle when he said, Dec. 11, "Buddy Lyle has been equally available to both parties. Anytime I've called him for information or help on something he's always been most cooperative and courteous."

So Mayone had the time and could have had the cooperation for the asking. He apparently chose to use neither.

Medicare, Social Security

Population Factors Make Figures Jump

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Social Security, a mammoth enterprise already, will begin to take on truly staggering proportions in a bit more than three decades — in the year 2000.

Presently there are just under 24 million Americans drawing retirement, survivor's, or disability benefits — not to mention the added protection most of these are getting under Medicare.

Official estimates for the number likely to be drawing payments in 2000 range from 37 million to 42 million. If that does not seem a large rise, consider the outlook for 2025, when the number of benefit recipients is estimated to range from 53.7 million to 59.6 million.

So, when one talks of "future coverage" in Social Security, what is involved is simply a steady enlargement of numbers of people in categories already covered.

(There are today no significant groups of Americans not covered by Social Security or by other social insurance plans under civil service and railroad retirement.)

The enlargement of numbers is a consequence of several factors—basic population growth, a soaring total of aged persons in absolute terms though not significant in percentage of the overall population, advances in medicine and diet which are keeping people alive longer and longer and hence on Social Security rolls longer.

Population age trends evidently have swung through several cycles. For a time two decades or more ago, it seemed accurate and was quite fashionable to say that the American population was, proportionately, aging fast.

More recently, a "youthening" trend was detected, but public figures tended to overstate it. The median age never did drop to 25, as some politicians and others asserted. It is around 27 now, and rising slightly as birth rates, at least for the time, have slipped off.

But the country's total population is today so huge, having passed 200 million and being bent, apparently, on a still higher course, that absolute numbers in all age groups are tremendous.

At the aged end of the spectrum, the trend is magnified by health advances (and, of course, the very treatments made possible now under Social Security's Medicare features) which keep tens of thousands alive longer than a few decades back.

In this country today there are an estimated 13,000 people 100 years of age or older. Not long ago, the centenarians could be counted on the fingers of a few hands.

More remarkable still, the Census Bureau estimates that there are 240,000 Americans 90 years old or more.

These particular aged folk are too old today to have done the work and piled up the earnings needed to qualify for any but the most limited special Social Security benefits. But they are a harbinger of the future. Those who replace them later in the upper age brackets WILL be qualified — and will draw benefits a long time.

These are the operative trends for anyone interested in Social Security's future coverage, since coverage across the work spectrum is nearly universal today. The only new group brought under the tent by the 1967 law were clergymen. They could qualify before by taking certain steps. Now they are in unless they opt out.

Peking Remains Silent Over N. Vietnamese Peace Proposal

By Hans-Joachim Bargmann
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

PEKING, Jan. 6 — So far People's China has neither officially nor unofficially commented on reports according to which the North Vietnamese government is prepared to take up contacts with Washington if the United States stops bombing North Vietnam "unconditionally."

This silence in Peking, of course, cannot hide the fact that the Chinese government is closely watching every possible new development in the Vietnam conflict.

The mighty neighbor of Hanoi has made it clear more than once that it considers the war in Vietnam its own war as well and that China is prepared to give Hanoi military support if Hanoi asks for it.

So far Chinese aid has consisted mostly of huge rice supplies and special weapons for the jungle war, as well as the dispatch of Chinese engineer units in the Vietnamese hinterland, assuring sufficient supplies despite U. S. air raids.

The Chinese reaction to the reported Vietnam development is interesting for two reasons:

—Peking so far has demanded without compromise that negotiations can begin only after the United States stops bombing North Vietnam and after the last U. S. soldier has been withdrawn from Vietnam.

In other words, Peking demands the complete U. S. capitulation. It is not prepared to give Washington a chance to save face at least superficially.

Peking so far has always spoken of a "conspiracy of American imperialists and Soviet revisionists" when talking about first contacts in the Vietnam conflict.

Usually Peking talks of fraudulent maneuvers in which both the United States and the Soviet Union are interested to "stamp out the flames of the Vietnamese liberation struggle."

Keeping this in mind, it is understandable that observers in Peking can hardly imagine that Hanoi is genuinely prepared to agree on a decision the results of which would run counter to the entire Chinese policy in this respect.

For this reason, political circles in the Chinese capital do not wholly discount the possibility that the reported statements from Hanoi are perhaps dictated primarily by world propaganda.

U.S. Military Situation: Major Equipment Shortage

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Army divisions and brigades that form a strategic reserve to meet any new crisis abroad, are short nearly one-fifth of their major equipment.

This situation exists more than two years after the Defense Department began putting in heavy orders for gear and supplies to support a big military buildup for the Vietnam war.

Asked for a report on the present equipment situation in the strategic reserves, the Army replied Wednesday: "The active Army divisions and brigades currently stationed in continental United States have on hand approximately 82 per cent of their authorized major end items equipment."

The Army defined a major end item as "one which in itself performs a function" such as trucks and tanks.

It estimated only about one-half of the shortages will be filled by June 30.

Declines Breakdown
Beyond an across-the-board percentage the Army declined on security grounds to provide a detailed breakdown of short items.

But while the strategic reserves are short of their allotted equipment, the Army apparently has made progress in modernizing their gear.

In May 1966 the Senate preparedness subcommittee complained stateside divisions were burdened with over-age vehicles and tracked equipment which has been driven "an excessive number of miles."

The new report said fewer than 12 per cent of the major items on hand are less than first-line quality.

The preparedness subcommittee charged March 1966 that the Army's divisions in the United States were not combat-ready because they were being used to train draftees and recruits. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara acknowledged this was so.

A separate Army report, furnished on request to The Associated Press, showed this problem has been overcome. The Army said no basic trainees remain in the ranks of its divisions and brigades in the United States.

Furthermore, virtually all those units are at 100 per cent strength, with many of their men Vietnam combat veterans, the Army said.

Only two divisions, one a mechanized infantry division and one an armored division, are below full strength and these, sources said, range between 95 per cent and 100 per cent, of full manpower.

There are four Army divisions in the strategic reserves.

They are the 1st Armored Division and 2nd Armored Division, both at Ft. Hood, Texas; the 3rd Mechanized Division at Ft. Carson, Colo.; and the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

New Division
A new division, the 6th Infantry, is beginning to take shape at Ft. Campbell, Ky. It will probably not be combat-ready until late this year.

Councilman Sol Rosenenthal maintained throughout that denying reappointment of Bartroff was in the best interests of the town.

Justice of the Peace Charles Montafia and Councilman Oscar Lambert, both newly elected to the board, steadfastly refused to go into "the allegations." Both said they also had received profane and threatening phone calls in regard to the matter.

Favors Restudy
It was Rosenthal who suggested that the board take the words and the petition under advisement for restudy. Lambert and Beaver concurred and Montafia, while he voted with them, remained silent.

If he (Bartroff) isn't reappointed I think the board has a moral obligation to state why, suggested a woman. The suggestion was greeted with applause.

It was learned after the meeting that the board cannot remove the man they have appointed to replace Bartroff. They could add Bartroff as an additional constable, if the budget allows.

One Comes Easy
Maines reappointment as fire marshal came rather easy when the board was informed that a 1962 ordinance called for Maines' permanent appointment at that time. Subsequent reappointments were therefore not necessary.

Supervisor Freer said he was against the removal of all three men and hailed Maines for having done an outstanding job. Many attending testified to the fire marshal's working "beyond the call of duty."

Friends of octogenarian Matthew Duffy of the water board, also came forth in his behalf, citing his engineering experience and his "remarkable glottiness."

In establishing Duffy in an ex-officio capacity, the board places no obligation on him to attend all meetings and at the same time permits its new appointee, Irving Maurer, to continue in the job.

The petition to reinstate Bartroff was submitted by David Fletcher who also, in a letter to the board, asked for the dismissal details, some of which were brought to light at the meeting.

Vietnam in the summer of 1965, the Army's strategic reserve was made up of eight divisions plus two brigades.

Also forming an important part of the strategic reserves are two Marine divisions, the 2nd based at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and the 5th at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

About one-third of the 5th Marine Division is in Vietnam.

Some Winners, Losers As Silver Price Soars

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Growing demand, a miners' strike, speculation and the inability to find substitutes continue to push up the price of silver. This week it sold for more than $2.10 an ounce, 91 cents higher than last May.

Among those hurt the most by this 61 per cent increase are photographic film manufacturers and eventually the users of their product, who must pay higher prices. Film makers are the largest industrial users of the metal, which helps make their product light sensitive.

Among the chief beneficiaries are owners of paper currency on which is printed the words "silver certificate." These bills, in $1, $5 and $10 denominations are redeemable in silver priced at only $1.293 an ounce.

As a result, currency brokers have been scouring the country for these certificates, which no longer will be redeemable in silver after June 24. Brokers this week were paying as much as $15.50 for a $10 bill.

Estimates Vary
Estimates vary, but something like $300 million of silver certificates still remain outstanding, meaning their value with premium added is about $450 million. But, if not redeemed within the next five months their value is nil.

The resulting scramble finds currency dealers opening neighborhood offices, advertising nationally, accepting bills by mail. In turn, they take the bills to the U.S. Assay Office, buy silver at $1.293 an ounce and resell it at $2.10.

This would seem to give the dealers a profit of more than 80 cents, but the 55 per cent premium reduces this to a still worthwhile nine or 10 cents profit per dollar.

The incredible series of factors that led to the state of affairs began many years ago when the government wished to assure the world that its currency

Roughly the same slice of the 2nd Marine Division is afloat on normal rotation duty in the Mediterranean and Caribbean or stationed at the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Sources said both Marine divisions have some minor manpower gaps but are in pretty good shape so far as equipment is concerned.

As industrial demand increased, the price of silver rose from a base of about 90 cents. By mid-1963 it reached $1.293 an ounce, where it was frozen by government in order to protect coinage from being melted.

The Treasury made sure this price was not exceeded by agreeing to supply silver users from its own supplies. If the price had a tendency to rise it couldn't go far; the government made sure of that.

As Treasury stocks of silver dwindled, silverless coins were introduced in 1965. Melting was specifically forbidden. Bans on silver exports were instituted. All these measures were aimed at maintaining an adequate supply.

The Fixed Price Went
Last July, with mounds of silver coins available, the Treasury abandoned its fixed price. Soon the law of supply and demand began boosting prices. Speculators and hoarders pushed it up even more.

At the same time another factor came on the scene: copper miners went on strike. Since silver is a byproduct of copper mining, silver production has been nearly halted since last summer, thus worsening the shortage.

All during this time of soaring demand and price, chemical companies and film makers have been trying to find substitutes. But, in film making at least, the search has been mostly in vain.

As a result, the premiums offered on silver certificates have risen, even though erratically, from about 10 per cent early last summer to more than 50 per cent at New York this week.

IBM Purchases 10.8-Acre Site

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — A 10.8-acre industrial complex belonging to Endicott-Johnson Corp. has been sold for an undisclosed price to International Business Machines Corp., IBM said Wednesday.

The E-J shoe manufacturing complex, in the center of this village near Binghamton, includes the firm's Fine Felt factories, a power plant, three tanneries and a fire prevention building.

The tax assessment valuation of the property is listed as $1,029,300.

E-J said last week it would build a new plant this year on a 52-acre site west of here. The company employs about 9,000 persons in the Binghamton area.

IBM, which said it "currently has no plans for utilizing" the purchased area, employs about 14,000 persons here.

Surgeon, Daughter In Plane Crash
CLYDE, N.Y. (AP) — An Ohio surgeon and his daughter, escaped with minor injury when he crashed-landed his single-engine Cessna 206 airplane in a snow-covered corn field west of this Wayne County community Wednesday.

State Police said Dr. John Damiani, 43, of Warren, Ohio, told them his six-passenger plane developed trouble in the fuel system. When the engine stopped, he brought the plane down on the field covered with a foot of snow and it skidded 165 feet before stopping.

He and his daughter, Mary Ann, 12, suffered minor bruises. They were treated and released from Barber Hospital in nearby Lyons.

Damiani, enroute home from Portland, Maine, said he had planned to stop overnight with relatives in Rochester.

The landing gear snapped, and there was minor damage to a wing in the landing. He arranged to have the plane dismantled and taken to a dealer in nearby Seneca Falls. He and his daughter then went to Rochester.

Damiani's address is 1885 North Rd. NE.

Utica Man Killed
UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — John J. Miller, 21, of Utica, was killed Wednesday in the collision of his small automobile and a tank truck on Route 12 north of here, police reported.

Families were evacuated from four homes after the tank or spilled thousands of gallons of diesel fuel oil onto the highway. Firemen coated the area with foam.

Robbery Case Is Postponed Until Jan. 16

A preliminary hearing in the case of Emerson "Tookie" DuBois, 19, charged with robbery, slated for today in city court, has been postponed until Jan. 16.

DuBois, arrested Jan. 3 at his 37 Broadway home by Kingston detectives, is accused of robbing a money bag from a woman Dec. 30 in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. Police found a loaded automatic revolver, a hyperdermic instrument and an alleged quantity of drugs in DuBois' room when making the arrest, they said at the time. He has pleaded innocent to the charges.

Mrs. George Bixby, Woodstock, manager of Nugent's Dress Shop, was robbed of $960 when a masked bandit pushed her to the sidewalk and grabbed her money bag. Mrs. Bixby was set to deposit the funds when the incident occurred.

DuBois is represented by Michael Bruhn. Bruhn requested today's adjournment after filing several motions. The court has reserved decision.

Nuns Seeking More Modern Regulations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teaching nuns who wear modern dress in defiance of Roman Catholic leaders say they may refuse to return to their classrooms next fall unless they can abandon other regulations they call out of date.

The mother general, Sister Anita Caspary, has written a letter to the parents of students in 38 parochial schools in the Los Angeles archdiocese, saying the nuns had been asked to quit. James Francis Cardinal McIntyre denied Wednesday that they have been dismissed.

Sister Anita said her order's modern ideas follow in spirit a directive Pope Paul VI issued after the Second Vatican Council.

"The holy father urged all religious communities to examine and renew their way of life and to engage in wide-ranging experimentation to achieve their renewal," she wrote to 7,500 parents this week.

A source close to the order said that if differences with Cardinal McIntyre aren't settled, most of the 200 nuns of the Immaculate Heart of Mary order in the Los Angeles archdiocese may not return to teach next fall.

Cardinal McIntyre responded Wednesday with a statement saying, "the archdiocese has not dismissed the sisters. He said the archdiocese has asked the order to decide promptly how many of the nuns want to continue teaching in the parochial schools as nuns."

"The question of uniform dress is an obvious but minor part of the discussion," wrote Sister Anita of her disagreement with Catholic leaders.

"More central to the discussion are regulations for a fixed time for rising and retiring, fixed hours for prescribed prayers, a highly centralized mode of local house government. This mode of living may have suited former times but it is a hindrance to present demands of apostolic life in schools or hospitals."

Drop Larceny; Embezzlement Is Reduced

Two grand larceny cases involving burglary and embezzlement came up before Town of Ulster Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly yesterday and it was learned that the burglarized firm refused to prosecute and the individual accused of embezzling made restitution.

Justice Reilly told The Freeman today that Wallace's Albany Avenue Ext. department store had dropped its charges against former manager Joseph Chromy of Lake Katrine.

Chromy was arrested in Poughkeepsie Friday by Kingston BCI agents and accused of taking $4,320 from the store's safe. The burglary allegedly took place on Dec. 26.

Officers said at the time that $4,006 of the money had been recovered.

Justice Reilly said that Wallace's "did not wish to prosecute."

The embezzlement case involved 27-year-old Woodstock woman Patricia Osten. She was arrested Friday by the BCI at her home.

Accused of taking $883.60 from Kingston Blue Print and Supply Co. in Lake Katrine, Miss Osten reportedly made restitution and the charge was reduced from grand larceny to petit larceny.

She pleaded guilty to the lesser charge, was fined $100 and released.

State Workers Will Take Steps For Pay Raise

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The largest organization of state employees in New York says its members "might withhold their services" unless the state resumes negotiations on salaries and benefits.

The Civil Service Employees Association made that prophecy at a meeting Wednesday and set April 1, the start of a new fiscal year, as a deadline for the bargaining to start. A spokesman said delegates would meet again on that date to decide what action would be taken.

A CSEA official said any action taken by the group would be within the confines of the Taylor Law, which prescribes procedures and penalties in the bargaining of public workers.

The 450 delegates did, however, pass a resolution that said the group would "take whatever steps are necessary, including plans for withholding of the services of state employees," if negotiations are not resumed.

The CSEA had been designated by Gov. Rockefeller as the exclusive bargaining agent for the state's 124,000 workers, but the decision was overruled by the State Public Employment Relations Board.

The board ordered that the state must be neutral in dealing with all employee organizations. The state, however, suspended negotiations pending the outcome of hearings on the issue of exclusive bargaining agent.

Newburgh Man Gets 6 Months
NEW YORK (AP) — A man who took part in a scheme to secure $500,000 in fraudulent loans from a Newburgh, N.Y., bank was sentenced in federal court today to six months in prison.

Judge Constance Baker Motley ordered the prison term for Joseph G. Scata, 46, of North Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crudele, 28, of Hialeah, Fla., was sentenced to six months probation.

Scata and Mrs. Crudele pleaded guilty Nov. 28 to their part in the conspiracy to defraud the County National Bank of Newburgh.

U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau said the two and Irwin Gordon, now a fugitive in Lisbon, Portugal, obtained the fraudulent loans on behalf of themselves and corporations they controlled by using false financial statements. Over $300,000 of the loans have not been repaid, he said.

U.S. Military Situation: Major Equipment Shortage

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Army divisions and brigades that form a strategic reserve to meet any new crisis abroad, are short nearly one-fifth of their major equipment.

This situation exists more than two years after the Defense Department began putting in heavy orders for gear and supplies to support a big military buildup for the Vietnam war.

Asked for a report on the present equipment situation in the strategic reserves, the Army replied Wednesday: "The active Army divisions and brigades currently stationed in continental United States have on hand approximately 82 per cent of their authorized major end items equipment."

The Army defined a major end item as "one which in itself performs a function" such as trucks and tanks.

It estimated only about one-half of the shortages will be filled by June 30.

Declines Breakdown

Beyond an across-the-board percentage the Army declined to security grounds to provide a detailed breakdown of short items.

But while the strategic reserves are short of their allotted equipment, the Army apparently has made progress in modernizing their gear.

In May 1966 the Senate preparedness subcommittee complained stateside divisions were burdened with over-age vehicles and tracked equipment which has been driven "an excessive number of miles."

The new report said fewer than 1.2 per cent of the major items on hand are less than first-line quality.

The preparedness subcommittee charged in March 1966 that the Army's divisions in the United States were not combat-ready because they were being used to train draftees and recruits. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara acknowledged this was so.

A separate Army report, furnished on request to The Associated Press, showed this problem has been overcome. The Army said no basic training remains in the ranks of its divisions and brigades in the United States.

Furthermore, virtually all those units are at 100 per cent strength with many of their men Vietnam combat veterans.

Only two divisions, one a mechanized infantry division and one an armored division, are below full strength and these, sources said, range between 95 per cent and 100 per cent, of full manpower.

There are four Army divisions in the strategic reserves.

They are the 1st Armored Division and 2nd Armored Division, both at Ft. Hood, Texas; the 5th Mechanized Division at Ft. Carson, Colo.; and the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

New Division

A new division, the 6th Infantry, is beginning to take shape at Ft. Campbell, Ky. It will probably not be combat-ready until late this year.

When the United States decided to take the big plunge in Vietnam in the summer of 1965, the Army's strategic reserve was made up of eight divisions plus two brigades.

Also forming an important part of the strategic reserves are two Marine divisions, the 2nd based at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and the 5th at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

About one-third of the 5th Marine Division is in Vietnam.

Roughly the same slice of the 2nd Marine Division is afloat on normal rotation duty in the Mediterranean and Caribbean or stationed at the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Sources said both Marine divisions have some minor manpower gaps but are in pretty good shape so far as equipment is concerned.

NEW YORK (AP) — Growing demand, a miners' strike, speculation and the inability to find substitutes continue to push up the price of silver. This week it sold for more than $2.10 an ounce, 91 cents higher than last May.

Among those hurt the most by this 61 per cent increase are photographic film manufacturers and eventually the users of their product, who must pay higher prices. Film makers are the largest industrial users of the metal, which helps make their product light sensitive.

Among the chief beneficiaries are owners of paper currency on which is printed the words "silver certificate." These bills, in $1, $5 and $10 denominations are redeemable in silver priced at only $1.293 an ounce.

As a result, currency brokers have been scouring the country for these certificates, which no longer will be redeemable in silver after June 24. Brokers this week were paying as much as $15.50 for a $10 bill.

Estimates Vary

Estimates vary, but something like $300 million of silver certificates still remain outstanding, meaning their value with premium added is about $450 million. But, if not redeemed within the next five months their value is nil.

The resulting scramble finds currency dealers opening neighborhood offices, advertising nationally, accepting bills by mail. In turn, they take the bills to the U.S. Assay Office, buy silver at $1.293 an ounce and resell it at $2.10.

This would seem to give the dealers a profit of more than 80 cents, but the 55 per cent premium reduces this to a still worthwhile nine or 10 cents profit per dollar.

The incredible series of factors that led to the state of affairs began many years ago when the government wished to assure the world that its currency was worth its weight in silver.

In 1961 the government knew that growing industrial demand for silver would cause shortages, because nature limits domestic silver production to about 45 million ounces a year. It began replacing silver certificates with Federal Reserve notes, which cannot be redeemed for metal of any kind.

As industrial demand increased, the price of silver rose from a base of about 90 cents. By mid-1963 it reached $1.293 an ounce, where it was frozen by government in order to protect coinage from being melted.

The Treasury made sure this price was not exceeded by agreeing to supply silver users from its own supplies. If the price had a tendency to rise it couldn't go far; the government made sure of that.

As Treasury stocks of silver dwindled, silverless coins were introduced in 1965. Melting was specifically forbidden. Bans on silver exports were instituted. All these measures were aimed at maintaining an adequate supply.

The Fixed Price Went

Last July, with mounds of silverless coins available, the Treasury abandoned its fixed price. Soon the law of supply and demand began boosting prices. Speculators and hoarders pushed it up even more.

At the same time another factor came on the scene: copper miners went on strike. Since silver is a byproduct of copper mining, silver production has been nearly halted since last summer, thus worsening the shortage.

All during this time of soaring demand and price, chemical companies and film makers have been trying to find substitutes. But, in film making at least, the search has been mostly in vain.

As a result, the premiums offered on silver certificates have risen, even though erratically, from about 10 per cent early last summer to more than 50 per cent at New York this week.

London Gold Rush Develops, Metal Price Up

LONDON (AP) — A mini gold rush developed in the London bullion market today, and the price of the metal surged up more than 2 1/2 cents when the Bank of England was unable to fully satisfy demand.

Market sources said the Bank, which operates the seven-nation international gold pool, was evidently caught by surprise at the sudden rise in demand after weeks of comparatively minor trading.

The price set at the daily fixing at N.M. Rothschild and Sons was $35.17, up 2 1/2 cents on Wednesday's price.

Dealers emphasized that demand for the metal today was nowhere near that of the gold rushes in November and December when demand reached 100 tons and more a day.

One dealer said the demand today began even before the price fixing and continued in later dealings to send the price up another cent, to $35.18 an ounce.

Dutchess GI Killed in Viet

WAPPINGERS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The family of Lance Cpl. Wayne Whiteley has been notified that the 19-year-old Marine was killed in action in Vietnam on Jan. 6, according to his father, William E. Whiteley of Wappingers Falls.

Whiteley is survived by his parents, a brother and five sisters.

All live at 120 Phyllis Road, Wappingers Falls.

Shoppers' Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's consumers would be able to inspect packaged meats and fruits from all angles under a bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-East Meadow, mandates that packaged meat and fruit displayed in supermarkets have completely see-through wrappings.

"The day of concealing the fat under the chops or the poor apples or tomatoes at the bottom of the package is gone," Speno said in a statement.

Vegetables are not included in the bill, but Speno's office could not explain why.

Identify Body

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police have identified the body of a man who was removed from the partially-frozen ship canal near S. Michigan Ave. Tuesday as that of John Nelson, 36, of Buffalo.

Marlboro Courses

The Marlboro board of education is seeking suggestions from interested citizens for adult education offerings.

James Nugent, director of adult education may be contacted at the Marlboro Central School. New programs will start early in February.

IBM Purchases 10.8-Acre Site

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — A 10.8-acre industrial complex belonging to Endicott-Johnson Corp. has been sold for an undisclosed price to International Business Machines Corp., IBM said Wednesday.

The E-J shoe-manufacturing complex, in the center of this village near Binghamton, includes the firm's Fine Fleet factories, a power plant, three tanneries and a fire-prevention building.

The tax assessment valuation of the property is listed as $1,023,300.

E-J said last week it would build a new plant this year on a 32-acre site west of here. The company employs about 9,000 persons in the Binghamton area.

IBM, which said it "currently has no plans for utilizing" the purchased area, employs about 14,000 persons here.

Surgeon, Daughter In Plane Crash

CLYDE, N.Y. (AP) — An Ohio surgeon and his daughter escaped with minor injury when he crash-landed his single-engine Cessna 205 airplane in a snow-covered corn field west of this Wayne County community Wednesday.

State Police said Dr. John Damiani, 43, of Warren, Ohio, told them his six-passenger plane developed trouble in the fuel system. When the engine stopped, he brought the plane down on the field covered with a foot of snow and it skidded 165 feet before stopping.

He and his daughter, Mary Ann, 13, suffered minor bruises. They were treated and released from Barber Hospital in nearby Lyons.

Damiani, enroute home from Portland, Maine, said he had planned to stop overnight with relatives in Rochester.

The landing gear snapped, and there was minor damage to a wing in the landing. He arranged to have the plane dismantled and taken to a dealer in nearby Seneca Falls. He and his daughter then went to Rochester.

Damiani's address is 1385 North Rd. NE.

DIES — Dr. Theophilus E. Donges, 69, who was elected President of South Africa and was scheduled to be inaugurated last May, died at Groote Schuur Hospital in Capetown, South Africa, Wednesday, eight months after his election. The South African leader suffered a stroke shortly before his scheduled inauguration and his conditioned worsened steadily after that time. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Robbery Case Is Postponed Until Jan. 16

A preliminary hearing in the case of Emerson "Tookie" DuBois, 19, charged with robbery, slated for today in city court, has been postponed until Jan. 16.

DuBois, arrested Jan. 3 at his 37 Broadway home by Kingston detectives, is accused of robbing a money bag from a woman Dec. 30 in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. Police found a loaded automatic revolver, a hyperdermic instrument and an alleged quantity of drugs in DuBois' room when making the arrest, they said at the time. He has pleaded innocent to the charges.

Mrs. George Bixby, Woodstock, manager of Nugent's Dress Shop, was robbed of $960 when a masked bandit pushed her to the sidewalk and grabbed her money bag. Mrs. Bixby was set to deposit the funds when the incident occurred.

DuBois is represented by Michael Bruhn. Bruhn requested today's adjournment after filing several motions. The court has reserved decision.

Nuns Seeking More Modern Regulations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teaching nuns who wear modern dress in defiance of Roman Catholic leaders say they may refuse to return to their classrooms next fall unless they can abandon other regulations they call out of date.

The mother general, Sister Anita Caspari, has written a letter to the parents of students in 38 parochial schools in the Los Angeles archdiocese, saying the nuns had been asked to quit. James Francis Cardinal McIntyre denied Wednesday that they have been dismissed.

Sister Anita said her order's modern ideas follow in spirit a directive Pope Paul VI issued after the Second Vatican Council.

"The holy father urged all religious communities to examine and renew their way of life and to engage in wide-ranging experimentation to achieve their renewal," she wrote to 7,500 parents this week.

A source close to the order said that if differences with Cardinal McIntyre aren't settled, most of the 200 nuns of the Immaculate Heart of Mary order in the Los Angeles archdiocese may not return to teach next fall.

Cardinal McIntyre responded Wednesday with a statement saying, "the archdiocese has not dismissed the sisters." He said the archdiocese has asked the order to decide promptly how many of the nuns want to continue teaching in the parochial schools as nuns.

"The question of uniform dress is an obvious but minor part of the discussion," wrote Sister Anita of her disagreement with Catholic leaders.

"More central to the discussion are regulations for a fixed time for rising and retiring, fixed hours for prescribed prayers, a highly centralized mode of local house government. This mode of living may have suited former times but it is a hindrance to present demands of apostolic life in schools or hospitals."

Two Beaten to Death

BATH, N.Y. (AP) — A man and woman were beaten to death in a rural home about five miles south of this Steuben County village early today, State Police said.

Troopers said a man had been arrested.

Utica Man Killed

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — John J. Miller, 21, of Utica, was killed Wednesday in the collision of his small automobile and a tank truck on Route 12 north of here, police reported.

Families were evacuated from four homes after the tanker spilled thousands of gallons of diesel fuel oil onto the highway. Firemen coated the area with foam.

Drop Larceny; Embezzlement Is Reduced

Two grand larceny cases involving burglary and embezzlement came up before Town of Ulster Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly yesterday and it was learned that the burglarized firm refused to prosecute and the individual accused of embezzling made restitution.

Justice Reilly told The Freeman today that Wallace's Albany Avenue Ext. department store had dropped its charges against former manager Joseph Chomy of Lake Katrine.

Chomy was arrested in Poughkeepsie Friday by Kingston BCI agents and accused of taking $4,320 from the store's safe. The burglary allegedly took place on Dec. 26.

Officers said at the time that $4,006 of the money had been recovered.

Justice Reilly said that Wallace's "did not wish to prosecute."

The embezzlement case involved 27-year-old Woodstock woman Patricia Osten. She was arrested Friday by the BCI at her home.

Accused of taking $883.60 from Kingston Blue Print and Supply Co. in Lake Katrine, Miss Osten reportedly made restitution and the charge was reduced from grand larceny to petit larceny.

She pleaded guilty to the lesser charge, was fined $100 and released.

State Workers Will Take Steps For Pay Raise

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The largest organization of state employees in New York says its members "might withhold their services" unless the state resumes negotiations on salaries and benefits.

The Civil Service Employees Association made that prophecy at a meeting Wednesday and set April 1, the start of a new fiscal year, as a deadline for the bargaining to start.

A spokesman said delegates would meet again on that date to decide what action would be taken.

A CSEA official said any action taken by the group would be within the confines of the Taylor Law, which prescribes procedures and penalties in the bargaining of public workers.

The 450 delegates did, however, pass a resolution that said the group would "take whatever steps are necessary, including plans for withholding of the services of state employees," if negotiations are not resumed.

The CSEA had been designated by Gov. Rockefeller as the exclusive bargaining agent for the state's 124,000 workers, but the decision was overruled by the State Public Employment Relations Board.

The board ordered that the state must be neutral in dealing with all employee organizations. The state, however, suspended negotiations pending the outcome of hearings on the issue of exclusive bargaining agent.

Newburgh Man Gets 6 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who took part in a scheme to secure $300,000 in fraudulent loans from Newburgh, N.Y., bank was sentenced in federal court today to six months in prison.

Judge Constance Baker Motley ordered the prison term for Joseph G. Scata, 46, of North Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crudele, 28, of Hialeah, Fla., was sentenced to six months probation.

Scata and Mrs. Crudele pleaded guilty Nov. 28 to their part in the conspiracy to defraud the County National Bank of Newburgh.

U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau said the two and Irvin Gordon, now a fugitive in Lisbon, Portugal, obtained the fraudulent loans on behalf of themselves and corporations they controlled by using false financial statements. Over $300,000 of the loans have not been repaid, he said.

A Study in Frustration

The 1954 Geneva Accords and A Settlement in Viet

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Could a successful and lasting Vietnam settlement be based on the 1954 Geneva accords, as critics of U.S. policy often suggest?

The story of what happened in Indochina after the French collapse in 1954 has been a study in frustration. Arrangements to deal with the dangers existing at that time were full of holes. A settlement of the present war on the basis of the 1954 arrangements would be presupposing agreements which did not really exist.

Agreements did exist between France and Ho Chi Minh's government and Viet Minh forces. The United States did not sign them. South Vietnam rejected them.

Contrary to the prevalent notion, there was no agreement as such on elections in 1956. The signed agreement spoke only in general terms of "pending elections" which were to bring unification. It was a "final declaration" which proposed that elections be held in July 1956, but that declaration was an unsigned instrument without the binding force of a treaty; it imposed no responsibility on any of the nine Geneva participants. In any case, neither the Americans nor the South Vietnamese were party to the final declaration. The United States issued its own final statement, merely affirming its intention not to disturb the settlement by force.

The Geneva conference was in reality two conferences in one, on Indochina and Korea. The Korea talks got nowhere. The conference on Indochina seemed to produce a prospect of peace. The conferees were France, North Vietnam, South Vietnam, the Soviet Union, Britain, the United States, Cambodia, Laos and Communist China. Their deliberations resulted in the partition of North and South Vietnam at the 17th parallel pending unification. A narrow strip on either side of the demarcation line was set as a demilitarized zone with all military forces barred from it.

The agreement on cessation of hostilities was signed by Ho Chi Minh's representative and the French Union commander. It provided for regroupment of forces on either side of the line. Pending elections which were to permit reunification of the country, civil administrations in the zones were to be in the hands of the party whose forces were regrouped there.

The two sides were not to indulge in reprisals and were supposed to allow democratic freedoms. No military equipment or supplies were to be imported except for replacement purposes. North and South Vietnam were to shun military alliances and to forbid military bases under the control of any foreign state.

An International Control Commission, with India as chairman and including Canada and Portugal, was to supervise the process of moving freely from zone to zone with cooperation from local authorities.

In Laos, the Viet Minh were required to withdraw and avoid any hostile actions or imports of new troops or munitions. Pending settlement the Communist Pathet Lao forces would be restricted to two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Sam Neua.

The Communists chose to interpret the accord as giving them exclusive control of two provinces. They ignored a requirement to give access to the royal government, and eventually there was civil war.

In Vietnam, the Ho Chi Minh government obstructed the ICC, but so, in many instances, did the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in the South. South Vietnam, first under Emperor Bao Dai and then Diem, rejected the accords Saigon had refused to sign.

A Study in Frustration

The 1954 Geneva Accords and A Settlement in Viet

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Could a successful and lasting Vietnam settlement be based on the 1954 Geneva accords, as critics of U.S. policy often suggest?

The story of what happened in Indochina after the French collapse in 1954 has been a study in frustration. Arrangements to deal with the dangers existing at that time were full of holes. A settlement of the present war on the basis of the 1954 arrangements would be presupposing agreements which did not really exist.

Agreements did exist between France and Ho Chi Minh's government and Viet Minh forces. The United States did not sign them. South Vietnam rejected them.

Contrary to the prevalent notion, there was no agreement as such on elections in 1956. The signed agreement spoke only in general terms of "pending elections" which were to bring unification. It was a "final declaration" which proposed that elections be held in July 1956, but that declaration was an unsigned instrument without the binding force of a treaty; it imposed no responsibility on any of the nine Geneva participants.

In any case, neither the Americans nor the South Vietnamese were party to the final declaration. The United States issued its own final statement, merely affirming its intention not to disturb the settlement by force.

The Geneva conference was in reality two conferences in one, on Indochina and Korea. The Korea talks got nowhere. The conference on Indochina seemed to produce a prospect of peace.

The conferees were France, North Vietnam, South Vietnam, the Soviet Union, Britain, the United States, Cambodia, Laos and Communist China. Their deliberations resulted in the partition of North and South Vietnam at the 17th parallel pending unification. A narrow strip on either side of the demarcation line was set as a demilitarized zone with all military forces barred from it.

The agreement on cessation of hostilities was signed by Ho Chi Minh's representative and the French Union commander. It provided for regroupment of forces on either side of the line. Pending elections which were to permit reunification of the country, civil administrations in the zones were to be in the hands of the party whose forces were regrouped there.

The two sides were not to indulge in reprisals and were supposed to allow democratic freedoms. No military equipment or supplies were to be imported except for replacement purposes. North and South Vietnam were to shun military alliances and to forbid military bases under the control of any foreign state.

An International Control Commission to supervise these terms, with India as chairman and including Canada and Portugal, was to have the right to move freely from zone to zone with cooperation from local authorities.

In Laos, the Viet Minh were required to withdraw and avoid any hostile actions or imports of new troops or munitions. Pending settlement the Communist Pathet Lao forces would be restricted to two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Sam Neua.

The Communists chose to interpret the accord as giving them exclusive control of two provinces. They ignored a requirement to give access to the royal government, and eventually there was civil war.

In Vietnam, the Ho Chi Minh government obstructed the ICC, but so, in many instances, did the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in the South. South Vietnam, first under Emperor Bao Dai and then Diem, rejected the accords Saigon had refused to sign.

Some Tips, Gasps and Guffaws

The Answers to Rosendale's Questionnaire

By LYNN MULVANEY

Rosendale's poll of the people to find out what they like or don't like about their town and village has brought a wealth of enlightenment to planning officials as well as a few gasps and guffaws.

Results of a questionnaire sent to 1,700 residents revealed that while the majority favor such things as the town's rural atmosphere, its geographical location and the friendliness of the people, there are a few souls who would like:

"To widen the village Main Street by removing buildings from one side."

"Move the town seat to Tillsen."

"Discourage outsiders from moving in."

But Not True Picture

Such answers, however, do not give a true picture of the majority opinions. Most people said they would like:

To attract new industry to the town.

Attract more retail stores.

Add parks and recreational facilities including swimming and picnic facilities.

Allowed to voice their dislikes, too, some volunteered:

"The bickering of public officials."

"Lack of cultural activities."

"Dangerous mines close to the population."

"Housing developments."

And, "Hiring professional planners!"

Rosendale has hired the engineering firm of Brown and Anthony to conduct a two-year survey in which a base map is being prepared in order to insure future orderly planning within the town and village.

Map Purpose Explained

Chairman of the Town Planning Board, Kenneth Clark, meeting publicly Tuesday night with town and village planners and the consulting firm explained to residents the purpose of the map. It will enable users to know why certain areas permit large or small building lots, where business areas should be located, what land should be reserved for recreation, agriculture or forever-wild purposes.

Set Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed discontinuance of two Erie Lackawanna passenger trains that operate between Buffalo, N.Y., and Hoboken, N.J., has been delayed pending an investigation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced that decision Wednesday after Rep. Howard W. Robison, R-N.Y., asked that the investigation be made.

The Erie had planned to drop the service on Jan. 22.

Robison said field hearings will be held by the ICC before it takes final action.

No dates for the hearings have been set.

Such a survey will provide Rosendale with the necessary requirements for seeking state and federal aid for the installation of such things as water and sewer districts, Clark said.

Surveying simultaneously are the Towns of Marbletown, Wawarsing and Rochester. They too, are polling their residents for personal views.

Results of the questionnaire indicate that more persons do most of their family shopping in Kingston rather than in Rosendale and a goodly number shop in both places. About half indicated they would like more stores and shops in their own town.

On the sports scene, the addition of ball fields, skating areas and swimming facilities were greatly favored.

Two persons felt the need for a teenage recreational facility and one requested night club entertainment.

Asked if they favored prohibiting billboards, residents replied yes, 8 to 2. A share of persons had "no opinion" on that subject or a number of others.

Sidewalks, wider streets, sewage and water facilities were all wanted by a fair majority but two-story garden apartments and a new town hall did not get too much support for almost as many persons that were for them were against them and a decided number had no opinion.

Of 114 persons polled on the town hall proposal, 40 voted yes, 41, no and 33 gave no indication of their feelings.

Restricting trailers to certain locations gained overwhelming support. Only a few persons felt that they should be permitted in any area of the town.

Lastly, the importance of retaining as much of the town's present character received support from more than half while becoming more urbanized was important to about one-third.

Another public meeting will be held in May at a date to be announced, Clark said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains outnumbered losses by more than 2 to 1 in active stock market trading early Thursday. The ticker tape was late.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 41 to 904.36.

The over-all list did much better than the 30-stock industrial average because of a continued lackluster performance among most of its blue chip components.

Fractional losses were taken by such key stocks as General Motors, Sears, Roebuck, Woolworth, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Procter & Gamble, Texaco and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

An exception, Du Pont, advanced about 1½.

By LYNN MULVANEY

Rosendale's poll of the people to find out what they like or don't like about their town and village has brought a wealth of enlightenment to planning officials as well as a few gasps and guffaws.

Results of a questionnaire sent to 1,700 residents revealed that while the majority favor such things as the town's rural atmosphere, its geographical location and the friendliness of the people, there are a few souls who would like:

"To widen the village Main Street by removing buildings from one side."

"Move the town seat to Tillson."

"Discourage outsiders from moving in."

But Not True Picture

Such answers, however, do not give a true picture of the majority opinions. Most people said they would like:

To attract new industry to the town.

Attract more retail stores.

Add parks and recreational facilities including swimming and picnic facilities.

Allowed to voice their dislikes, too, some volunteered:

"The bickering of public officials."

"Lack of cultural activities."

"Dangerous mines close to the population."

"Housing developments."

And, "Hiring professional planners!"

Rosendale has hired the engineering firm of Brown and Anthony to conduct a two-year survey in which a base map is being prepared in order to insure future orderly planning within the town and village.

Map Purpose Explained

Chairman of the Town Planning Board, Kenneth Clark, meeting publicly Tuesday night with town and village planners and the consulting firm explained to residents the purpose of the map. It will enable users to know why certain areas permit large or small building lots, where business areas should be located, what land should be reserved for recreation, agriculture or forever-wild purposes.

Such a survey will provide Rosendale with the necessary requirements for seeking state and federal aid for the installation of such things as water and sewer districts, Clark said.

Surveying simultaneously are the Towns of Marletown, Wawarsing and Rochester. They too, are polling their residents for personal views.

Results of the questionnaire indicate that more persons do most of their family shopping in Kingston rather than in Rosendale and a goodly number shop in both places. About half indicated they would like more stores and shops in their own town.

On the sports scene, the addition of ball fields, skating areas and swimming facilities were greatly favored.

Two persons felt the need for a teenage recreational facility and one requested night club entertainment.

Asked if they favored prohibiting billboards, residents replied yes, 8 to 2. A share of persons had "no opinion" on that subject or a number of others.

Sidewalks, wider streets, sewage and water facilities were all wanted by a fair majority but two-story garden apartments and a new town hall did not get too much support for almost as many persons that were for them were against them and a decided number had no opinion.

Of 114 persons polled on the town hall proposal, 40 voted yes, 41, no and 33 gave no indication of their feelings.

Restricting trailers to certain locations gained overwhelming support. Only a few persons felt that they should be permitted in any area of the town.

Lastly, the importance of retaining as much of the town's present character received support from more than half while becoming more urbanized was important to about one-third.

Another public meeting will be held in May at a date to be announced, Clark said.

DEATH SENTENCE — Jack Kirschke, former Deputy District Attorney, talks to newsmen following his sentence of death on both counts of his conviction for the murder of his wife and her lover. Kirschke had asked the jury for the death penalty in handling his own penalty phase of the trial. His attorney, Albert C. Ramsey, explained Kirschke's plea and sentence would give him an automatic appeal to the California Supreme Court. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Thinks Rocky Could Unite GOP on Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., says New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's position is flexible enough to unite Republicans on the Vietnam issue if he should become the party's presidential nominee.

Hatfield, a critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policies, said in an interview he does not believe that Rockefeller's general support of the course Johnson has pursued in Asia would preclude him from offering alternatives.

"I think Gov. Rockefeller's position on Vietnam is flexible," Hatfield said Wednesday. "I would have no hesitancy in supporting him if he were the nominee."

The Oregon senator added he isn't taking sides in the nomination contest.

Rockefeller's brother, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, cheered on Wednesday Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew's move to draft the New Yorker.

But other Republican governors generally are waiting to see if the outcome of the March 12 New Hampshire primary moves Rockefeller away from his noncandidate status.

If Michigan Gov. George Romney should be walloped by Nixon in that test, as current polls seem to indicate, Rockefeller would face a decision on whether to respond favorably to the movements springing up across the country to draft him for the nomination.

The action could come in a decision on whether to sign a noncandidate affidavit withdrawing his name if a state commission places it on the ballot in Wisconsin's April 2 primary. The withdrawal deadline there is Feb. 29.

However, if Romney took a shellacking in New Hampshire, Rockefeller would have until March 15 to decide what to do about the May 14 Nebraska primary and until March 22 to act on the May 28 Oregon primary.

Nobody expects Romney to quit, even if he loses heavily in New Hampshire, at least until he has tested his vote appeal in Wisconsin. So if there is any Rockefeller move it probably will have to be taken without any formal release from his commitment to Romney.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, who has joined Rockefeller in supporting Romney, has made it clear he could transfer quickly to backing the New York governor if the latter would just indicate a willingness to run. Chafee heads the Republican governors association, which next meets in June.

Gov. David F. Cargo of New Mexico, who hasn't endorsed any candidate, said he thinks Rockefeller could be persuaded to run if enough governors get behind him.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains outnumbered losses by more than 2 to 1 in active stock market trading early Thursday. The ticker tape was late.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 41 to 904.36.

The over-all list did much better than the 30-stock industrial average because of a continued lackluster performance among most of its blue chip components.

Fractional losses were taken by such key stocks as General Motors, Sears, Roebuck, Woolworth, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Procter & Gamble, Texaco and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

An exception, Du Pont, advanced about 1 1/2.

Would Strip False Fronts By Underworld

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A move to strip away the false fronts raised by some underworld figures controlling legitimate businesses was launched today in the Legislature.

A bill was introduced that would require public disclosure of the identity of every individual who is in control of a firm that seeks to do business with state or local government.

The measure was advanced by some Long Island lawmakers at the request of State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

In a statement issued in connection with the legislators' action, Lefkowitz said:

"Conflict - of - interest sections, hidden interests, criminal influence and double - dealing have been spotlighted recently in connection with the negotiation of contracts and the action of various municipal bodies in zoning applications and other matters."

"It is my intention through this legislation to wipe away the mask which imposes a limitation on the identification of controlling principals of the firms seeking to do business with public agencies, authorities and other groups on every level of government."

In the background of today's action were such factors as reports of underworld control of a number of legitimate businesses and charges that a former member of the state tax commission was a secret business associate of a former convict.

Under the bill introduced today, any firm dealing with public agencies would be required to file a sworn statement disclosing the names of all controlling principals. This would include those who hold at least a 10 per cent investment interest, directly or indirectly.

The bill also would cover condemnation awards, zoning matters and a wide range of financial dealings by business firms with government.

Bridge Results Set Radio Interview With Freeman Head

The Glenrie Bridge Club played its regular fractional point game at the Elks Club and played 21 boards in a Howell Movement.

First place went to Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley. Second spot went to Ted Kraut of Kingston and James Schaefer of Woodstock. Third place was taken by Miss Dorothy Maroon of Kingston and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Saugerties. Fourth place went to Dr. John Comstock and Donald Thomson of Kingston.

Owing to the Regional Tournament at Grossinger's, Liberty, there will be no game Friday at the Elks Club.

Ralph Ingersoll, president of Mid-Hudson Publications Inc., of which The Freeman is a member, will be interviewed tonight on Radio Station WEOK-FM by Chanler Chapman, editor of the Barrytown Explorer.

The half hour program will be aired at 7:30 p. m. at 101.5 on the radio dial from Poughkeepsie. Ingersoll will discuss his interview with the late premier of Russia, Joseph Stalin, in 1940. He will also discuss the London Blitz and his interview with Winston Churchill.

Norwich Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has approved a grant of $74,420 to help finance work training experience for 103 youths in Norwich, N.Y. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said Wednesday.

High-Grade Depressed Stocks Usually Recover

Q—I bought Corn Products for growth and price appreciation. It is now listed well below my cost price. What do you think of this stock's potential?—H. H.

A—I am very sorry that you have a paper loss in Corn Products. This is a high-quality stock in a worldwide enterprise which has seen growth slow down sharply this year. The shares moved up in price from 17 in 1957 to 67% in 1964. They were universally regarded as an excellent holding for price appreciation. Two things then happened. Growth in Corn Products slowed down in 1964 and many similar issues—such as General Foods—fell out of favor. I have always liked the stock but I advised sale here when it became apparent that earnings would be appreciably lower this year. I feel now, though, that the stock has been pretty thoroughly sold out, that its present yield of 4 1/2 per cent is exceedingly good for a stock of such high caliber and at present depressed levels. I advise you to hold for recovery which I believe will come ultimately. Investors rarely lose money permanently in a top-grade issue.

Q—Mother is 78, has $31,000 in the bank and receives social security. She has been offered an annuity which would pay her $200 a month—and the balance to her beneficiary, if any is left—for a consideration of $23,753. Do you advise buying the annuity or continuing to get by on interest and possible withdrawal of capital?—W. S.

A—You mother has been offered a refund annuity. At her age this will pay her substantially more than she can obtain from any other safe investment. In the event of her death before the capital has been exhausted, it will pay to you—presumably as beneficiary—any balance of the original consideration not already paid to your mother. In view of her circumstances, I believe such an annuity is sound and I advise it.

Reverend Krapf Resigns Post at Christ Church

The Rev. Norman C. Krapf, pastor of Christ's Church, Woodstock, is considering a move to the pastorate of a Lutheran Church in western New York. He has resigned as pastor of Christ's Church as of early February and will be leaving Woodstock as soon as his plans are completed. Pastor Krapf has served as pastor of the local Lutheran church since June 5, 1960 following his ordination in Philadelphia, Pa. A committee charged with the responsibility of recommending pastoral candidates for the consideration of the congregation has been formed. Members of the committee are: Mike Gritman, Tom Nau, Bob Ross, Connie Wengert and Louise Wunderle. The committee is in consultation with the officers of the Metropolitan New York Synod of the Lutheran Church in America and has completed the initial phases of the prescribed procedure for securing a new minister for Christ's Church.

The Rev. Mr. Krapf accepted the Woodstock pastorate in 1960 following the retirement of the Rev. G. Oliver Sands, A graduate of Wagner College and Mt. Airy Seminary in budget totaling $14,611 will highlight the January 16 meeting of the congregation. Those nominated for church officers are: Church Council, Odd Bloch, Sig Golan, Mike Gritman, Joan Harman and Fred Thaisz Jr.; treasurer, Joan Harman; secretary, Louise Wunderle. A financial secretary will be elected upon nomination at the meeting.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a pot-luck supper in the fellowship hall. Following supper, a special program will be held for the children of those attending. Philadelphia, he served three years in the Army Signal Corps prior to entering the seminary. The election of eight officers and consideration of a 1968

The Rev. Norman C. Krapf, pastor of Christ's Church, Woodstock, is considering a move to the pastorate of a Lutheran Church in western New York. It has been announced. He has resigned as pastor of Christ's Church as of early February and will be leaving Woodstock as soon as his plans are completed. Pastor Krapf has served as pastor of the local Lutheran church since June 5, 1960 following his ordination in Philadelphia, Pa.

A committee charged with the responsibility of recommending pastoral candidates for the consideration of the congregation has been formed. Members of the committee are: Mike Gritman, Tom Nau, Bob Ross, Connie Wengert and Louise Wunderle. The committee is in consultation with the officers of the Metropolitan New York Synod of the Lutheran Church in America and has completed the initial phases of the prescribed procedure for securing a new minister for Christ's Church.

The Rev. Mr. Krapf accepted the Woodstock pastorate in 1960 following the retirement of the Rev. G. Oliver Sands. A graduate of Wagner College and Mt. Airy Seminary in budget totaling $14,611 will highlight the January 16 meeting of the congregation.

Skit by LWV Depicts State School Aid

The Woodstock League of Women Voters held its general membership meeting Monday at Deane's.

An eight-member group studying the Ontario Central School budget presented a skit on the financing of education based on the state aid formula. They also described the school district, and showed through charts the OCS budget as compared to three other school districts, giving facts relative to Ontario's income and expenditures.

The OCS budget study group is headed by Mrs. Betty Schwartz, and its members include the Mmes. Helen Dendy, Barbara Peekema, Kathleen Fuldner, Barbara Schaefer, Joyce Gagnon, and Sophie Bernard.

Senior Citizens

Senior Citizens of Woodstock will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Overlook Methodist Church Hall, weather permitting.

ing of the congregation. Those nominated for church officers are: Church Council, Odd Bloch, Sig Gollan, Mike Gritman, Joan Harman and Fred Thaisz Jr.; treasurer, Joan Harman; secretary, Louise Wunderle. A financial secretary will be elected upon nomination at the meeting.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a pot-luck supper in the fellowship hall. Following supper, a special program will be held for the children of those attending.

Philadelphia, he served three years in the Army Signal Corps prior to entering the seminary. The election of eight officers and consideration of a 1968

Annual Supper Friday at Dutch Church

No Subway Alumni, will be the subject of a sermon Sunday by the Rev. Edgar Hicks, minister, Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Woodstock Village Green. The service will be held at 11 a. m.

The United Senior Christian Youth Fellowship will meet at the Methodist Church at 5:30 p. m. Sunday and the Junior High Christian Endeavor will leave at 6:30 p. m. to go to the Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston, to share in the Jazz Mass presentation by men of an Episcopal Monastery.

Friday at 6:30 p. m. the annual congregational fellowship supper will be held. Those attending are requested to bring a covered dish, table settings and milk for their children. A meeting will follow at 7:30 with election of officers.

Theology of New Age, Subject of Overlook Pastor

The Rev. James W. Cook will conduct the worship service Jan. 14 at Overlook Methodist Church when he will have as his sermon topic: The Theology of The New Age. Church school sessions will be held at 9:30 and 11 a. m. and a nursery is provided throughout the morning.

On January 7 Miss Carolyn Goble, a professional harpist and a member of the Overlook congregation, was the guest soloist. At the same service the Rev. Mr. Cook baptized Garry Mark Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jordan of West Hurley.

Dispatchers at the Ulster County Fire Control Center at Golden Hill handled a total of 9,488 calls in 1967 and 1,038 Civil Defense test calls, according to an annual report compiled Wednesday.

The total number of calls was 382 less than the 1966 total of 9,870, and the civil defense tests were 63 below the 1966 total.

Fire calls handled by the dispatchers last year totaled 968, 231 below the 1966 total of 1,199. Ninety-six of the 968 calls were for mutual aid jobs. A total of 525 radio tests were recorded in 1967 compared to 465 the previous year.

Thirteen inter-county mutual aid calls were made last year. The total in 1966 was 17. Quick call tests in 1967 numbered 151, 43 more than the previous year.

Emergency calls last year totaled 330, five more than in 1966. False alarms were 9 below the 1966 total of 51.

Urges New Plan For Middle Class

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says the antipoverty agency has failed to make white, middle-class Americans believe they benefit directly from helping the poor.

"We've got to come up with a plan or a way to demonstrate to the middle class that everyone benefits when a person out of work gets a job," Shriver said in an interview Tuesday.
"There must be some way," Shriver said the task of winning support from the $8,000 to $20,000 income group rates concentrated effort by the antipoverty agency this year—but he is not sure what approach will be taken.

"The elimination of poverty is a goal that will benefit white people as well as black people," Shriver added.

"We've gotten through pretty well to the leadership groups—the doctors, the lawyers, the social workers, the politicians—and to the lower levels," he said. "But we haven't gotten through or penetrated to the mass in the middle."

"There is a gross misunderstanding about what we're doing. They look upon this program as a Robin Hood program—that we rob from the rich and give to the poor."

"It's true we're using taxes paid by the rich—not to give to the poor but to help the poor get out of poverty so they can become independent of the government, get off welfare, begin to earn their living and become consumers and participants in the free private enterprise system."

Shriver reiterated he has made no decision on whether he'll leave his post soon, possibly to pursue a political career in Illinois, his home state.

There have been rumors off and on for the past two years—especially in recent weeks—that he would run either for governor of Illinois or for U.S. senator from that state. Candidates seeking to run in Illinois must file by March 11.

12th Armored Winter Parley This Weekend

The annual mid-winter meeting of the 12th Armored Division Association will be held Friday and Saturday at Philadelphia, Pa., at the Sheraton Hotel.

Robert H. Sachloff of the Freeman advertising staff, who is association first vice president, will be attending from the Kingston area.

The session was set for the reunion city and further plans will be discussed for the event to be held July 25, 26 and 27 at the Sheraton.

Bernard McCann is events chairman, assisted by John V. Clarke and Bert Romano.

Hotel accommodations and special tours of the Philadelphia area will be arranged. Lawrence E. Mintz is association president.

New Dimensions Reading Seminar

Dr. Mark B. Scurrah, New York State Educational Department Consultant for Title III will speak on New Dimensions for the Won't, the Sometime and the Eager Readers to elementary principals, supervisors, administrators, reading specialists, curriculum coordinators and leading area teachers on Jan. 16, at College Union Building, State University, New Paltz.

The meeting, sponsored by New Dimensions in Education, Inc., Jericho, is to explore the new directions that educational materials must take in order to provide today's student with the impetus, challenge and intellectual grasp so vital in the areas of reading and science.

Dr. Scurrah, a graduate of Syracuse and Ottawa Universities, has been a teacher, principal, curriculum coordinator, and elementary supervisor. Before joining the State Education Department as a consultant, he was director of the Division of Education at the State University of New York at Plattsburgh.

Sidney Rigaud, educational consultant for New Dimensions in Education Inc., will serve as host for the meeting.

Agree on Lower Assessment for Saugerties Site

An agreement for a lower assessment was reached Tuesday afternoon in Supreme Court on the property and building on Barclay Heights, Saugerties housing the A & P Super Market. The case was heard before Judge George L. Cobb.

Emanuel B. Katz, owner of the building leased to the food market chain through his attorney William D. Brinner asked that the $75,000 assessed valuation on the property in the Village of Saugerties be lowered to $65,000. Attorney Daniel N. Lamb represented the village.

The Board of Assessors of the village agreed to a reduction of $7,500, pending approval of the Village Board which meets next Monday. The assessors contended that the $75,000 assessment has never been raised since set in 1963 and is 70 per cent of full value.

Better Care For Medicaid Patients Urged

The Commerce and Industry Association of New York today called on the State to improve medical care for Medicaid patients so that it compares with the quality medical care available to paying patients.

The recommendation was made by the association's social insurance director, Mahlon A. Eubank, during a public hearing in New York City of the Joint Legislative Committee on the problems of Public Health, Medicaid and Compulsory Health and Hospital Insurance.

The committee is currently considering ways of revamping New York's Medicaid law, including requirements under new amendments to the Federal Medicare Act, signed into law by President Johnson earlier this month.

QUESTION, ANSWERS — Former Congressman Adam Clayton Powell cups his hands to his ears and answers questions after addressing a crowd of about 6,000 students at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion. His remarks were directed mainly at white students who predominated at the gathering. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

War Generates Joylessness and Fear: Eugene

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, carrying his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to the nation's most populous state, says the Vietnam war has generated a spirit of "joylessness and fear" in America.

The Minnesota Democrat said the "frustrations of the poor and the unpleasantness of our cities cannot be separated" from the war.

McCarthy, who plans to run in several Democratic primaries, opened today a six-day campaign swing through California. His initial speech was prepared for delivery at a Los Angeles luncheon.

McCarthy said the war has distorted the nation's priorities. During the last two sessions of Congress total appropriations increased by $38 billion—all but $2.6 billion of the total for defense program, he said.

In other political developments: A major Rhode Island supporter of Michigan Gov. George Romney who seeks the Republican nomination, said Romney's campaign is "not catching on."

California Gov. Ronald Reagan said he can't imagine any circumstances under which he'd campaign in primaries for the GOP nomination.

McCarthy asked the Federal Communication Commission to let his lawyers prove President Johnson is an active reelection candidate. This is a principal argument in McCarthy's effort to win free air time on the three major networks to reply to recently broadcast comments about him by the President.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's position on the Vietnam war is flexible enough to unite Republicans on the issue if he becomes their presidential candidate.

McCarthy told his Los Angeles audience the Johnson administration "has committed itself... without really consulting anybody" to the generals leading South Vietnam, "and is fulfilling that commitment with money and energy to spare."

He said Johnson should devote more attention to social problems at home "because we also have major commitments to our own citizens."

Set Film Increase

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The retail price of most of Eastman Kodak Co.'s color film will be increased from 15 to 25 cents a roll beginning Monday, the firm announced Wednesday.

The photographic company said color-film processing and color photographic paper costs also will go up.

The price hikes were necessitated by higher production costs, including the cost of silver, Kodak said.

Garage Damaged

Fire damaged a garage last night behind 56 Abbey Street when an oil burner stove pipe overheated causing the wooden building to erupt into flames, firemen disclosed. The garage, owned by Charles Palmator of 56 Abbey Street, received considerable internal damage, officers said. The alarm was sounded at 7:06 p. m. and was extinguished by 8 o'clock.

'Air' Stamps Not Good for Regular Mail

Airmail stamps are no good to use for regular postage, when regular stamps are not available.

Some post office customers discovered this earlier in the week when most post offices ran out of one-cent and six-cent stamps at the time the higher six-class first class mail became effective.

Postal customers left high and dry without the proper postage stamps and no place to buy them, used what they had at home.

Some used airmail stamps, but to their dismay, they discovered that airmail stamps, according to postal regulations are not to be used for regular postage.

If by chance you should use an airmail stamp for carrying a letter between Kingston and Saugerties it would receive theoretical airmail service. Actually mail between Kingston and Saugerties travels by postal truck several times per day.

Airmail service between Kingston and Saugerties is 10 cents whether it's theoretical or any other way.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said that for some reason there is a run on one-cent stamps. More than 102,000 were sold at all Kingston area stations yesterday. This time postal authorities were ready for the stamp rush.

Magistrates To Elect Slate On January 25

Ulster County Magistrates Association will elect officers for the ensuing year at its annual meeting Thursday, Jan. 25 at 8 p. m. in county legislator's rooms in the county office building.

Marbletown Town Justice Edmund "Tiny" Ruffner is president of the association.

Charles E. Schultz, chief county probation officer will address the group on the new penal law as it pertains to justice courts.

War Generates Joylessness and Fear: Eugene

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, carrying his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to the nation's most populous state, says the Vietnam war has generated a spirit of "joylessness and fear" in America.

The Minnesota Democrat said the "frustrations of the poor and the unpleasantness of our cities cannot be separated" from the war.

McCarthy, who plans to run in several Democratic primaries, opened today a six-day campaign swing through California. His initial speech was prepared for delivery at a Los Angeles luncheon.

McCarthy said the war has distorted the nation's priorities. During the last two sessions of Congress total appropriations increased by $38 billion—all but $2.6 billion of the total for defense program, he said.

In other political developments:

—A major Rhode Island supporter of Michigan Gov. George Romney who seeks the Republican nomination, said Romney's campaign is "not catching on."

—California Gov. Ronald Reagan said he can't imagine any circumstances under which he'd campaign in primaries for the GOP nomination.

—McCarthy asked the Federal Communication Commission to let his lawyers prove President Johnson is an active reelection candidate. This is a principal argument in McCarthy's effort to win free air time on the three major networks to reply to recently broadcast comments about him by the President.

—Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's position on the Vietnam war is flexible enough to unite Republicans on the issue if he becomes their presidential candidate.

McCarthy told his Los Angeles audience the Johnson administration "has committed itself, without really consulting anybody" to the generals leading South Vietnam, "and is fulfilling that commitment with money and energy to spare."

He said Johnson should devote more attention to social problems at home "because we also have major commitments to our own citizens."

—The price of most of Eastman Kodak Co.'s color film will be increased from 15 to 25 cents a roll beginning Monday, the firm announced Wednesday.

The photographic company said color-film processing and color photographic paper costs also will go up.

The price hikes were necessitated by higher production costs, including the cost of silver, Kodaksaid.

Garage Damaged

Fire damaged a garage last night behind 56 Abbey Street when an oil burner stove pipe overheated causing the wooden building to erupt into flames, firemen disclosed. The garage, owned by Charles Palmator of 56 Abbey Street, received considerable internal damage, officers said. The alarm was sounded at 7:06 p. m. and was extinguished by 8 o'clock.

'Air' Stamps Not Good for Regular Mail

Airmail stamps are no good to use for regular postage, when regular stamps are not available.

Some post office customers discovered this earlier in the week when most post offices ran out of one-cent and six-cent stamps at the time the higher six-class first class mail became effective.

Postal customers left high and dry without the proper postage stamps and no place to buy them, used what they had at home.

Some used airmail stamps, but to their dismay, they discovered that airmail stamps, according to postal regulations are not to be used for regular postage.

If by chance you should use an airmail stamp for carrying a letter between Kingston and Saugerties it would receive theoretical airmail service. Actually mail between Kingston and Saugerties travels by postal truck several times per day.

Airmail service between Kingston and Saugerties is 10 cents whether it's theoretical or any other way.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said that for some reason there is a run on one-cent stamps. More than 102,000 were sold at all Kingston area stations yesterday. This time postal authorities were ready for the stamp rush.

Magistrates To Elect Slate On January 25

Ulster County Magistrates Association will elect officers for the ensuing year at its annual meeting Thursday, Jan. 25 at 8 p. m. in county legislator's rooms in the county office building.

Marbletown Town Justice Edmund "Tiny" Ruffner is president of the association. Charles E. Schultz, chief county probation officer will address the group on the new penal law as it pertains to justice courts.

At Oneonta Hospital

Term County TB Patients Satisfied

"Ulster County Tuberculosis patients now under care at the Homer Folks State TB Hospital at Oneonta appear to have adjusted to the move from the local hospital, and are adapted to and satisfied with their new surroundings."

This was noted by Saugerties banker John M. Robbins, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, and E. Robert Johnson, association executive director who, on behalf of the Association and its patient services program made the first official visit to the Oneonta hospital.

"Many of our people have been apprehensive about this new system involving a hospital so many miles away," they added. "We want to report that we found the hospital to be the top-flight institution long since indicated by its reputation. In particular, we were most warmly impressed by the general high spirits and sense of satisfaction of our own Ulster County patients."

Robbins and Johnson toured the hospital, had the opportunity to develop necessary Patient Services Hospital contracts, and conferred with key hospital administration. They visited personally and individually with each of the seven TB patients from Ulster County currently at the Oneonta hospital. The Homer Folks Hospital now serves 23 county areas, including Ulster.

With the recent closing of the former TB Hospital at Golden Hill, all Ulster County TB patients now receive their bed therapy at the Homer Folks Hospital, and while there, receive the full attention of the Ulster County TB Christmas Seal Association through its newly developed Patient Services Program.

Holiday presents also were taken to the hospital for each of the patients. The TB group also has ordered two subscriptions to The Kingston Daily Freeman in order to provide the Ulster County patients at the Homer Folks Hospital with daily copies of the area paper. "This point particularly pleased our patients," Robbins pointed out. "Having the home area paper to read seemed particularly important to each of them."

also were obviously pleased that our TB Association's Patient Service team will be making regular monthly visits, and expressed their gratitude that family and friends unable to get to see them, will now be taken along to the hospital by our Patient Service group.

"We are well aware of the many Ulster County people who along with us have been deeply concerned with the future of our TB patients, both here at home and while away at Oneonta," they continued.

"We've already reported on the continuation of the TB program at Golden Hill through our Ulster County Chest Clinic which now occupies the north-west wing of the former TB

Hospital, now the Infirmary Annex. This is a top-flight TB and pulmonary clinic which includes in its program the more than 180 TB patients under treatment locally. Now we confidently and very warmly assure our Ulster County people, concerning the excellent state facilities and treatment that benefit our TB patients at Oneonta. Moreover, our Board of Directors of the TB Association has authorized Christmas Seal Program to include a highly developed Patient Service Program provided largely from a part of the Christmas Seal Fund, and geared directly to the patient, the patient's family and hospital representation on the patient's behalf."

Youths on Rampage

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A year and a half after the start of Mao Tse-tung's "cultural revolution" purge, a Maoist newspaper reports "hoodlum and delinquent gangs" who want capitalism have started new violence in Shanghai, Red China's largest city.

Life, Death Struggle

The gangs went on a rampage recently as "a last-ditch, life or death struggle waged by the enemy against us," says the Dec. 27 edition of the Liberation Daily, a translation of which became available in Tokyo today.

The newspaper also reported a split in the workers' movement in the port city of 10 million people and said "class enemies" have been uncovered throughout the educational system and in literature, art, publication and press organizations.

This suggests that the Shanghai Revolutionary Committee—formed recently with Mao's blessing—does not yet exercise complete control over the city.

The Dec. 25 issue of Liberation Daily said the anti-Mao "Workers' Red Militia," formed early in the cultural revolution purge, continues "to carry out underground activities and organized a Red militia under a different form, in order to conspire for a counterseizure of power."

The newspaper's Dec. 27 issue said: "The hoodlum and delinquent gangs are social forces with political overtones. They are out-and-out enemies of the people. What they want is capitalism; what we want is socialism."

"The fascist bastion of the hoodlums can be reduced to rubble only by fiercely hitting the chief culprits, the backstage planners and diehards. They must be discredited politically and their arrogance shattered."

Liu Chief Target

The paper's Dec. 22 issue said the chief target of the purge, President Liu Shao-chi, was sheltering Mao's opponents in Shanghai's school system.

Liberation Daily accused Chen Pi-hsien, political commissar of the Shanghai garrison command, and Vice Mayor Tsao Ti-chiu of encouraging the break in the laborers' ranks. It described them as representatives of Liu.

The Peking correspondent of Japan's Kyodo News Service reported the newspaper Wen Hui Pao announced Tuesday the establishment of a revolutionary people's conference—the first of its kind—in the Hwangpoo district of Shanghai.

It is regarded as one of the first steps toward a national party congress. Foreign observers believe Mao won't call a party congress until he is certain he has the votes to oust Liu from the presidency.

Two UCCC Courses Set at Woodstock

Ulster County Community College will offer two extension courses in the Spring, 1968, Semester at the Woodstock Elementary School in the Oneonta Central School District.

The courses are General Psychology and History of Civilization II.

Persons interested in the courses can register by mail or in person at the Stone Ridge campus on Thursday, Feb. 1, from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Feb. 3, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone interested in registration by mail should write the college registrar.

General Psychology will be offered on Thursdays from 7 to 9:40 p.m., starting Feb. 8, in the Woodstock School Library.

This course is an introduction to the principles of human behavior in everyday life. Emphasis will be given to experimental investigations of such fields as learning, emotions, attention, perception, intelligence, thinking and personality. Application of psychological principles will be considered and there will be demonstrations.

History of Civilization II will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday nights, starting Feb. 7, in the School Library. It is not necessary for a student to take History of Civilization I before taking this course.

History of Civilization II will consider the movements and events from which modern institutions and culture have developed from mid 17th century to 1914.

Both these courses are open to all who have a high school diploma or its equivalent.

Additional information about these courses may be obtained by calling James C. Haviland, director of community services at Ulster County Community College.

BANKING WEEK — Peter J. Savago (center) discusses proclamation issued by the Ulster County Legislature designating next week as Ulster County Chapter, American Institute Banking Week, with Francis Kugelman, Jr. (L), president, Ulster County Chapter, American Institute of Banking and John T. Molloy (R), vice president, Savago, chairman of the County Legislature, signed the proclamation. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

County AIB Chapter In National Celebration

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature announced today that the Legislature has proclaimed the week of Jan. 8th through 14th as "Ulster County Chapter, American Institute of Banking" week in conjunction with the national celebration of AIB week. The proclamation recognizes the Institute's establishment and maintenance of banking education since 1900. Francis Kugelman Jr., president of the local chapter, accepted the proclamation on behalf of the chapter and expressed his appreciation to the County Legislature for their acknowledgment and participation in the observance.

The American Institute of Banking was organized in 1900 by a group of bankers who felt there was a need for an educational program that would give bank employees a better understanding of their work and help them progress in their chosen field. The American Bankers Association gave the new organization a helping hand and the Institute still functions as the educational section of the American Bankers Association.

For more than six decades, the American Institute of Banking has been the most important, available, and effective source of banking knowledge. Today, the American Institute of Banking proudly numbers 339 chapters, more than 200,000 members, and an educational enrollment of more than 100,000 bankers.

The local chapter was organized in September 1957 and has offered area bankers a college level program of banking education continuously for ten years.

Order Navy Recruiters To Evacuate

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two Navy recruiters were told to evacuate to another office Wednesday after they refused to answer a flood of questions about the Vietnam War posed by a group of Harpur College students.

An administrator at the State University unit gave that order after the two, both junior-grade lieutenants, were surrounded by about 200 students who fired question about the war for 45 minutes.

The incident took place about a month after President Bruce Deering of the State University of Binghamton, where Harpur is the undergraduate unit, had allowed military recruiting back on the campus after a month's ban.

The ban was made as a protest against federal implications that students would be drafted because of their objections to serving in Vietnam.

Aysel Searles Jr., director of appointments and placements at the college, said the recruiters came on the campus with the understanding that they would discuss issues with students.

But Lt. (j.g.) John Enzman of Valley Stream said "We came here to answer questions about the Navy flight program."

His companion, Lt. (j.g.) Thomas Walker of Camden, said their naval station in Brooklyn had only one public information officer and that he could not accompany recruiters around the East Coast.

As the two officers moved from the Student Center to a room in the placement office, they were followed by about 20 students who vowed to continue harassment. They dispersed, however, within an hour.

At the height of the questioning, an unidentified Marine, apparently just an onlooker, asked a dissenter:

"Why don't you go there and find out what it's like? You might think differently..."

The Marine said he had served in Vietnam.

All banks in Ulster County have participated in the local chapter's educational program since its inception. Debate, public speaking, speech clubs, forum

Grand Opening Planned by Mohican Owners

The ownership of Mohican Market at 57 John Street near Wall Street changed hands at the first of the year, and although the operation continued a grand opening event is being planned by the new owners for this weekend.

The new owners are Robert Callan, formerly of Elmont, L. I., and Thomas Whittaker, formerly of Staten Island. The new owners announced extension of store hours for greater convenience of their customers. Hours: Monday through Thursday will be 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Friday 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. and Saturday 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Callan and Whittaker purchased the business from Edward and Vincent Bruck, who operated the market at this location for many years and through the transition from the Mohican chain to an independent market. The market operates under the new firm of Cal-wit Inc.

The United States Navy's first experimental navigation satellite, I-B, traveled more than a billion miles before falling into the earth's atmosphere and burning up.

BANKING WEEK — Peter J. Savago (center) discusses proclamation issued by the Ulster County Legislature designating next week as Ulster County Chapter, American Institute Banking Week, with Francis Kugelman, Jr. (L), president, Ulster County Chapter, American Institute of Banking and John T. Molloy (R), vice president. Savago, chairman of the County Legislature, signed the proclamation. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

County AIB Chapter In National Celebration

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature announced today that the Legislature has proclaimed the week of Jan. 8th through 14th as "Ulster County Chapter, American Institute of Banking" week in conjunction with the national celebration of AIB week. The proclamation recognizes the Institute's establishment and maintenance of banking education since 1900. Francis Kugelman Jr., president of the local chapter, accepted the proclamation on behalf of the chapter and expressed his appreciation to the County Legislature for their acknowledgement and participation in the observance.

The American Institute of Banking was organized in 1900 by a group of bankers who felt there was a need for an educational program that would give bank employees a better understanding of their work and help them progress in their chosen field. The American Bankers Association gave the new organization a helping hand and the Institute still functions as the educational section of the American Bankers Association.

For more than six decades, the American Institute of Banking has been the most important, available, and effective source of banking knowledge. Today, the American Institute of Banking proudly numbers 339 chapters, more than 200,000 members, and an educational enrollment of more than 100,000 bankers.

The local chapter was organized in September 1957 and has offered area bankers a college level program of banking education continuously for ten years.

Order Navy Recruiters To Evacuate

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two Navy recruiters were told to evacuate to another office Wednesday after they refused to answer a flood of questions about the Vietnam War posed by a group of Harpur College students.

An administrator at the State University unit gave that order after the two, both junior-grade lieutenants, were surrounded by about 200 students who fired question about the war for 45 minutes.

The incident took place about a month after President Bruce Deering of the State University of Binghamton, where Harpur is the undergraduate unit, had allowed military recruiting back on the campus after a month's ban.

The ban was made as a protest against federal implications that students would be drafted because of their objections to serving in Vietnam.

Aysel Searles Jr., director of appointments and placements at the college, said the recruiters came on the campus with the understanding that they would discuss issues with students.

But Lt. (j.g.) John Enzman of Valley Stream said "We came here to answer questions about the Navy flight program." His companion, Lt. (j.g.) Thomas Walker of Camden, said their naval station in Brooklyn had only one public information officer and that he could not accompany recruiters around the East Coast.

As the two officers moved from the Student Center to a room in the placement office, they were followed by about 20 students who vowed to continue harassment. They dispersed, however, within an hour.

At the height of the questioning, an unidentified Marine, apparently just an onlooker, asked a dissenter:

"Why don't you go there and find out what it's like? You might think differently..." The Marine said he had served in Vietnam.

All banks in Ulster County have participated in the local chapter's educational program since its inception. Debate, public speaking, speech clubs, forum

At Oneonta Hospital

Term County TB Patients Satisfied

"Ulster County Tuberculosis patients now under care at the Homer Folks State TB Hospital at Oneonta appear to have adjusted to the move from the local hospital, and are adapted to and satisfied with their new surroundings."

This was noted by Saugerties banker John M. Robbins, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, and E. Robert Johnson, association executive director who, on behalf of the Association and its patient services program made the first official visit to the Oneonta hospital.

"Many of our people have been apprehensive about this new system involving a hospital so many miles away," they added. "We want to report that we found the hospital to be the top-flight institution long since indicated by its reputation. In particular, we were most warmly impressed by the generally high-spirits and sense of satisfaction of our own Ulster County patients."

Robbins and Johnson toured the hospital, had the opportunity to develop necessary Patient Services Hospital contracts, and conferred with key hospital administration. They visited personally and individually with each of the seven TB patients from Ulster County currently at the Homer Folks Hospital. The Homer Folks Hospital now serves 23 county areas, including Ulster.

With the recent closing of the former TB Hospital at Golden Hill, all Ulster County TB patients now receive their bed therapy at the Homer Folks Hospital, and while there, receive the full attention of the Ulster County TB Christmas Seal Association through its newly developed Patient Services Program.

Holiday presents also were taken to the hospital for each of the patients. The TB group also has ordered two subscriptions to The Kingston Daily Freeman in order to provide the Ulster County patients at the Homer Folks Hospital with daily copies of the area paper. "This point particularly pleased our patients," Robbins pointed out. "Having the home area paper to read seemed particularly important to each of them." They also were obviously pleased that our TB Association's Patient Service team will be making regular monthly visits, and expressed their gratitude that family and friends unable to get to see them, will now be taken along to the hospital by our Patient Service group.

"We are well aware of the many Ulster County people who along with us have been deeply concerned with the future of our TB patients, both here at home, and while away at Oneonta," they continued.

"We've already reported on the continuation of the TB program at Golden Hill through our Ulster County Chest Clinic which now occupies the north-west wing of the former TB

Hospital, now the Infirmary Annex. This is a top-flight TB and pulmonary clinic which includes in its program the more than 180 TB patients under treatment locally. Now we confidently and very warmly re-assure our Ulster County people, concerning the excellent state facilities and treatment that benefit our TB patients at

Oneonta. Moreover, our Board of Directors of the TB Association has authorized Christmas Seal Program to include a highly developed Patient Service Program provided largely from a part of the Christmas Seal Fund, and geared directly to the patient, the patient's family and hospital representation on the patient's behalf."

New Shanghai Violence Reported

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A year and a half after the start of Mao Tse-tung's "cultural revolution" purge, a Maoist newspaper reports "hoodlum and delinquent gangs" who want capitalism have started new violence in Shanghai, Red China's largest city.

Life, Death Struggle

The gangs went on a rampage recently as "a last-ditch, life or death struggle waged by the enemy against us," says the Dec. 27 edition of the Liberation Daily, a translation of which became available in Tokyo today.

The newspaper also reported a split in the workers' movement in the port city of 10 million people and said "class enemies" have been uncovered throughout the educational system and in literature, art, publication and press organizations.

This suggests that the Shanghai Revolutionary Committee, formed recently with Mao's blessing—does not yet exercise complete control over the city.

The Dec. 25 issue of Liberation Daily said the anti-Mao "Workers' Red Militia," formed early in the cultural revolution purge, continues "to carry out underground activities and organized a Red militia under a different form, in order to conspire for a counterseizure of power."

The newspaper's Dec. 27 issue said: "The hoodlum and delinquent gangs are social forces with political overtones. They are out-and-out enemies of the people. What they want is capitalism; what we want is socialism."

"The fascist bastion of the hoodlums can be reduced to rubble only by fiercely hitting the chief culprits, the backstage planners and diehards. They must be discredited politically and their arrogance shattered."

Liu Chieh Taret

The paper's Dec. 22 issue said the chief target of the purge, President Liu Shao-chi, was sheltering Mao's opponents in Shanghai's school system.

Liberation Daily accused Chen Pi-hsien, political commissar of the Shanghai garrison command, and Vice Mayor Tsao Ti-chiu of encouraging the break in the laborers' ranks. It described them as representatives of Liu.

The Peking correspondent of Japan's Kyodo News Service reported the newspaper Wen Hui Pao announced Tuesday the establishment of a revolutionary people's conference—the first of its kind—in the Hwangpoo district of Shanghai.

It is regarded as one of the first steps toward a national party congress. Foreign observers believe Mao won't call a party congress until he is certain he has the votes to oust Liu from the presidency.

Two UCCC Courses Set at Woodstock

The courses are General Psychology and History of Civilization II.

Persons interested in the courses can register by mail or in person at the Stone Ridge campus on Thursday, Feb. 1, from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Feb. 3, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone interested in registration by mail should write the college registrar.

General Psychology will be offered on Thursdays from 7 to 9:40 p.m., starting Feb. 8, in the Woodstock School Library.

This course is an introduction to the principles of human behavior in everyday life. Emphasis will be given to experimental investigations of such fields as learning, emotions, attention, perception, intelligence, thinking and personality. Application of psychological principles will be considered and there will be demonstrations.

History of Civilization II will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

For Possible Funding

Area School Districts Prepare Projects

There have been three innovative education projects prepared by the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center for possible funding under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title III.

The proposals were planned, designed and developed with the assistance and cooperation of four regional school districts. Participating in the preparation were the Poughkeepsie School District; Carmel No. 1, Mahopac; Newburgh Enlarged School District; and Monticello Central School District No. 1.

The Poughkeepsie proposal was developed with the aid of Dr. Franklin Butts and Dr. Edwin L. Hunger. The purpose of the project is to "develop and coordinate quality education for all individuals with Phase I focus on disadvantaged youth and their families, to improve the communications between and among racial and ethnic groups, and to raise the aspiration level of the disadvantaged."

This proposal is the first Urban Core-City project to be submitted by any school district outside New York City. Working with Drs. Butts and Hunger in developing the final proposal was Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director of the MHRSEC, New Paltz.

A project submitted by the Monticello Central School District No. 1 is "proposed that a Health Education Program, conceptually based, developmentally conceived and behaviorally evaluated (K-12) be provided for all students. The program's aim of involving school, home community, and state agencies will mean a coordinated effort and program to combat misinformation, poor health habits, and anti-social behaviors." This project which was prepared by Dr. Bess Fleckman is over the signature of Dr. Stewart I. Gay, superintendent of schools.

The third proposal submitted is a Multi-District Television project. The legal educational agency for the project is the Carmel School No. 1, Mahopac. Peter Housekeeper, supervising principal, is the legal applicant for this proposal.

Assisting in the development of this proposal were Dominick

Tedesco, assistant supervising principal, Mahopac, and A. E. Wooley of New Paltz, associate director of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center. Also participating in the planning of this project were: Dr. Harold Monson, superintendent, Newburgh Enlarged City School District; Jim Close and Mrs. Christine Schleinmacher, both from Newburgh; and Robert Jetter, Maintenance III Office, Albany. The combined monies involved in the three proposals is $615,702. The proposals were submitted January 1, for possible approval and funding July 1.

Viet GI's Elated Over Ditty Bags

A community project which began last spring in the Ulster County chapter of the American Red Cross reached a climax in Vietnam Christmas Eve 1967. Among others, Marine Lt. George F. Dickinson, Executive Officer of I Company, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines took time to write a letter to the Ulster County chapter.

Lt. Dickinson said, in part, "Today is Christmas Eve. The company gunnery sergeant has handed to each man in our unit one bag of neatly wrapped gifts from the American Red Cross. One hundred twenty-two of these colorful hand bags came from your chapter. There is no doubt in my mind that the effort it took you to gather together these presents (and by the way, they are most useful) was well worth it because the men's morale is partially built upon the messages, gifts, and support they receive from home. And, by home, I mean any American citizen or organization. From these various degrees of communication with America, my Marines begin to sense a feeling of support from the United States government which in turn plays a crucial factor in the psychological war waging in these men's minds every hour of the day."

"It is a privilege for me," continued Lt. Dickinson, "to report to the Ulster County chapter that your time and efforts are doing a 'bang up' job for the men here in Vietnam."

Started In April

The Ulster County chapter "ditty bag" project began last April when the chapter accepted responsibility of providing 500 of these bags as their part in the nation-wide program. Ulster County home extension units, girl scout troops and 4-H clubs, together with women's church groups and other interested volunteers cooperated with the chapter staff in cutting out and sewing the bright red and green drawstring bags. Others contributed contents and volunteered to help fill and pack the bags. Merchants and industrial plants saw too that the necessary contents were secured and the proper packing was available. Finally, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, Supt. of Mails William Barry and their staff at the Kingston Post Office assisted in transporting and mailing the 17 heavy cartons.

Frequently the shipping deadline of Oct. 21 seemed much too close. There were unavoidable delays in securing supplies, debates about what contents should be included, and questions as to whether the work, time, money, inconveniences, and confusion were worthwhile. Those having business at the chapter headquarters fell over boxes of paperback books, cans of vacuum-packed hard candy, and cartons of games. It did not "Thanking all the thoughtful people at the Ulster County seem possible that the hundreds of packs of cards, the dozens of tubes of toothpaste and shaving cream and other articles too numerous to mention would ever be used. However, they were necessary, everything finally worked out and by Oct. 21, the bags were on their way to Vietnam."

"Is it worth it?" those involved in the project have been asked. Letters received by the chapter from servicemen there showed they think so. A greeting card received from "The Marines of Artillery Section, Maintenance Platoon, FLSU #1, Dong Ha" and signed by seven men said, "Chapter in helping our Christmas away from home be a little nicer. We appreciate your concern and are deeply gratified to feel and see such thoughtful support."

Lt. Cpl. Rudy Dimas of the 3rd Marine Division wrote, "Christmas away from home isn't the best feeling in the world, but to know there is someone in the United States of America thinking of you lifts your morale one hundred percent and morale is something that keeps most of us alive."

Also from the 3rd Marine Division came a letter from PFC Patrick R. Boyle who said, "Our battalion marched in out of the field the day these bags were handed out. Boy, they went over like rockets. You see, for most of us, it was the only gear we had left to write with and get cleaned up with. We have been up front off and on for 9 months. When the packages showed up, everyone just sort of forgot where they have been and started having a good old time."

Appreciative Letters

Other letters of thanks arrived from servicemen stationed with the 65th Artillery, several more companies of the 3rd battalion, 4th Marines and the 2nd Battalion, 9th Marines. One of these read in part, "By the way it was the only one (present) I got and I'm glad to find some people care." Another, signing himself an 18-year-old Marine, said, "It was the nicest package I received from anyone. You people must have hearts of gold to do this for us servicemen over here. It's my first time away from home."

Ulster County's share was a small part of the more than 525,000 ditty bags shipped by the American Red Cross to Vietnam this year. It is the policy of the organization to see that each member of the military is so remembered at Christmas. The chapters will soon begin their plans to provide any bags that will be necessary in 1968.

This service is just one of many provided by the Ulster County chapter of the American Red Cross, a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

CLINTONDALE NEWS

CLINTONDALE—Seaman Recruit Robert D. Palazzo has graduated after nine weeks of basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois. He studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will find on his first ship or shore station. He has been spending a leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Palazzo, Prospect Boulevard before being assigned to duty. He was graduated from Highland High School and enlisted last June.

Several fruit growers from this area are planning to attend the 135th annual meeting of the New York State Agricultural Society to be held Wednesday, Jan. 10 at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel in Albany. The list of speakers is headed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Robert Smith, a sophomore at State University College at Stony Brook, has returned to his studies here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith.

Joseph Martorana attended the first meeting of the Ulster County Legislature in Kingston on Thursday. Mr. Martorana had served two successful terms as supervisor for the Town of Plattekill. He declined the 1967 nomination so that he might run as county legislator from the Towns of Plattekill, Lloyd, Marlboro and Shawangunk.

Clintondale Fire Department is in second place in the Firemen's Bowling League. Their matches are bowled at the College Lanes.

Miss Susan Hurd has returned to Syracuse University after spending Christmas and New Year's at her home.

The State Comptroller's Office in Albany has announced the completion of an audit of the accounts and fiscal affairs of the Clintondale Fire District. A copy of the auditor's report has been filed with Howard Setterlund, clerk of the Fire District, where it may be examined by an interested person at reasonable hours.

PFC. Philip Palazzo has returned to duty at Fort Devons, Mass., after a furlough spent at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Palazzo.

Paying in Pesos

DEMING, N.M. (AP) — Deming merchants are being asked to accept Mexican pesos in payment for goods and services as well as American dollars. Merchants in this southwest New Mexico city near the border hope for more Mexican business after a highway from the border into the Mexican state of Chihuahua is completed.

"Your businessmen need to learn," Mexican businessman Alberto Duran told a Deming group, "that the peso is just as strong as the American dollar."

For Possible Funding

Area School Districts Prepare Projects

There have been three innovative education projects prepared by the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center for possible funding under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title III.

The proposals were planned, designed and developed with the assistance and cooperation of four regional school districts. Participating in the preparation were the Poughkeepsie School District; Carmel No. 1, Mahopac; Newburgh Enlarged School District; and Monticello Central School District No. 1.

The Poughkeepsie proposal was developed with the aid of Dr. Franklin Butts and Dr. Edwin L. Hunger. The purpose of the project is to "develop and coordinate quality education for all individuals with Phase I focus on disadvantaged youth and their families, to improve communications between and among racial and ethnic groups, and to raise the aspiration level of the disadvantaged."

This proposal is the first Urban-Core-City project to be submitted by any school district outside New York City. Working with Drs. Butts and Hunger in developing the final proposal was Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director of the MHRSEC, New Paltz.

A project submitted by the Monticello Central School District No. 1 is "proposed that a Health Education Program, conceptually based, developmentally conceived and behaviorally evaluated (K-12) be provided for all students. The program's aim of involving school, home community, and state agencies will mean a coordinated effort and program to combat misinformation, poor health habits, and anti-social behaviors." This project which was prepared by Dr. Bess Fleckman is over the signature of Dr. Stewart I. Gay, superintendent of schools.

The third proposal submitted is a Multi-District Television project. The legal educational agency for the project is the Carmel School No. 1, Mahopac. Peter Housekeeper, supervising principal, is the legal applicant for this proposal.

Assisting in the development of this proposal were Dominick

Tedesco, assistant supervising principal, Mahopac, and A. E. Woolley of New Paltz, associate director of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center. Also participating in the planning of this project were: Dr. Harold Monson, superintendent, Newburgh Enlarged City School District; Jim Close and Mrs. Christine Schleirmacher, both from Newburgh; and Robert Jetter, Mahopac. All three projects have been given favorable recommendations by the State Education Department Center on Innovation, Title III Office, Albany. The combined monies involved in the three proposals is $615,702. The proposals were submitted January 1, for possible approval and funding July 1.

Viet GI's Elated Over Ditty Bags

A community project which began last spring in the Ulster County chapter of the American Red Cross reached a climax in Vietnam Christmas Eve 1967. Among others, Marine Lt. George F. Dickinson, Executive Officer of I Company, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines took time to write a letter to the Ulster County chapter.

Lt. Dickinson said, in part, "Today is Christmas Eve. The company gunnery sergeant has handed to each man in our unit one bag of neatly wrapped gifts from the American Red Cross. One hundred twenty-two of these colorful hand bags came from your chapter. There is no doubt in my mind that the effort it took you to gather together these presents (and by the way, they are most useful) was well worth it because the men's morale is partially built upon the messages, gifts, and support they receive from home. And, by home, I mean any American citizen or organization. From these various degrees of communication with America, my Marines begin to sense a feeling of support from the United States government which in turn plays a crucial factor in the psychological waging in these men's minds every hour of the day."

"It is a privilege for me," continued Lt. Dickinson, "to report to the Ulster County chapter that your time and efforts are doing a 'bang up' job for the men here in Vietnam."

Started in April

The Ulster County chapter "ditty bag" project began last April when the chapter accepted responsibility of providing 500 of these bags as their part in the nationwide program. Ulster County home extension units, girl scout troops and 4-H clubs, together with women's church groups and other interested volunteers cooperated with the chapter staff in cutting out and sewing the bright red and green drawstring bags. Others contributed contents and volunteered to help fill and pack the bags. Merchants and industrial plants saw too that the necessary contents were secured and the proper packing was available. Finally, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, Supt. of Mails William Barry and their staff at the Kingston Post Office assisted in transporting and mailing the 17 heavy cartons.

Frequently the shipping deadline of Oct. 21 seemed much too close. There were unavoidable delays in securing supplies, debates about what contents should be included, and questions as to whether the work, time, money, inconveniences, and confusion were worthwhile. Those having business at the chapter headquarters fell over boxes of paperback books, cans of vacuum-packed hard candy, and cartons of games. It did not "Thanking all the thoughtful people at the Ulster County seem possible that the hundreds of packs of cards, the dozens of tubes of toothpaste and shaving cream and other articles too numerous to mention would ever be used. However, they were necessary, everything finally worked out and by Oct. 21, the bags were on their way to Vietnam."

"Is it worth it?" those involved in the project have been asked. Letters received by the chapter from servicemen there showed they think so. A greeting card received from "The Marines of Artillery Section, Maintenance Platoon, FLSU #1, Dong Ha" and signed by seven men said, "Chapter in helping our Christmas away from home be a little nicer. We appreciate your concern and are deeply gratified to feel and see such thoughtful support."

Lt. Cpl. Rudy Dimas of the 3rd Marine Division wrote, "Christmas away from home isn't the best feeling in the world, but to know there is someone in the United States of America thinking of you lifts your morale one hundred percent and morale is something that keeps most of us alive."

Also from the 3rd Marine Division came a letter from PFC Patrick R. Boyle who said, "Our battalion marched in out of the field the day these bags were handed out. Boy, they went over like rockets. You see, for most of us, it was the only gear we had left to write with and get cleaned up with. We have been up front off and on for 9 months. When the packages showed up, every one just sort of forgot where they have been and started having a good old time."

Appreciative Letters

Other letters of thanks arrived from servicemen stationed with the 65th Artillery, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines and the 2nd Battalion, 9th Marines. One of these read in part, "By the way it was the only one (present) I got and I'm glad to find some people care." Another, signing himself an 18-year-old Marine, said, "It was the nicest package I received from anyone. You people must have hearts of gold to do this for us servicemen over here. It's my first time away from home. . . ."

Ulster County's share was a small part of the more than 525,000 ditty bags shipped by the American Red Cross to Vietnam this year. It is the policy of the organization to see that each member of the military is so remembered at Christmas. The chapters will soon begin their plans to provide any bags that will be necessary in 1968.

This service is just one of many provided by the Ulster County chapter of the American Red Cross, a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Drivers at Mock Trial

A mock trial to emphasize the responsibilities of youthful drivers will be staged Monday 7 p. m. in the New Paltz Courtroom, Town Hall.

Participating in the mock trial will be a group of adults, private citizens and public officials. Members of the driver education classes at New Paltz Central School will be the audience.

Driver education instructor at the New Paltz school, Larry Johnson will assemble his classes at the court to witness the "trial" of one of the students selected at random, to act as the "defendant" in a traffic offense case.

Representing the "accused" will be New Paltz Attorney Wendell Harp, who will act as the defense as the story unfolds. The "prosecutor" will be played by Ulster County Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk. State Police Sgt. Stanley Kowalik and Trooper Joseph Czaplicki will act as "arresting" officers in the all but real trial.

Town Justice Rexford Schneider will preside and give the "verdict" at the end of the proceedings.

The purpose of the mock trial, is, to acquaint future drivers with the realities of responsibility by presenting a recent case in a dramatic manner.

Recent changes in the Traffic Laws have stiffened the penalties for violators and the Dutchess Visiting Nurse Service Establishes Patients' Firsts

By LYNN MULVANEY

"We are not at all fussy about whether our patients are two or four-legged," says Patricia West, R.N., and she means it. In recent months here charges have ranged from a white cat to a bedridden former community leader to a wheelchair-stealing old lady.

And, all this comes within the realm of the Visiting Nurses Service of which she is executive director for Northern Dutchess County.

There are other aspects of uniqueness too. Working out of the Northern Dutchess Hospital, the service has instituted a "first" in this part of the state. It goes into patients' homes BEFORE they are discharged from the hospital—to get them in readiness. It also sometimes goes into homes before the patient GOES to the hospital to gather assurances that other members of the family, pets too, will be properly cared for in the interim.

This added service is of course of special value to the elderly.

As an example, Mrs. West narrated a tale in which an elderly man was preparing to enter the hospital for surgery. He was confident that his equally elderly wife would be able to care for herself and her cat.

Arrangements Made

Mrs. West's visit to the home prior to the gentleman's hospitalization provided visible evidence that the wife, sadly, could not take care of herself. Arrangements were made immediately to place her in the care of a friend and later at a boarding home that accommodates elderly people.

Another and upcoming "first"—this one to emanate from the hospital itself, will be securing foster homes for the elderly because, according to administrator Michael Mazzarella, there are not enough nursing or care facilities in the area.

The hospital is thinking in terms of the need for rehabilitation before patients are returned to their own responsibility.

When a patient stays an extra two or three weeks in a hospital because they are not able to care for themselves, Mazzarella explains, he takes up needed bed space. Then too, he adds, when a patient is moved from an acute bed to an extended care facility, he immediately becomes psychologically better.

Funds Are Needed

Hopeful that private foundation funds might be forthcoming for such a venture, Mazzarella also volunteered that Northern Dutchess Hospital is somewhat unique in that it provides all the components necessary to the medicare program.

Very few hospitals this size, he said, provide acute beds, home and extended care and home health aids. The latter program calls for the training of lay persons to care for people in their homes.

"Some people, however, need convincing that they are capable of caring for a sick person," he added and this is where the work of the visiting nurse and the hospital staff physical therapist comes in.

Separately or together they go into the hospital rooms and later to the homes of patients to instruct both the patient and the person caring for them in proper procedures for exercise and feeding.

Basing the Visiting Nurse Service at the hospital contributes greatly to the program's effectiveness, both Mrs. West and Mazzarella agree. "Such a setup is indicative of the foresight of community," he contends. Not too many hospitals are so fortunate.

As for the wheelchair stealing episode, the case called for the diplomacy of a Solomon, says Mrs. West. It seems an elderly woman patient, upon discharge from the hospital returned to her quarters in the home of a wheelchair-using friend. Having grown so accustomed to long time hospital service, food, care and solicitation, she sought to have such services continued once she arrived home. Frustrated when unable to have hospital meals delivered to her, she took her feelings out on the landlady friend by simply appropriating her wheelchair.

With the help of the Visiting Nurse Service the two ladies were established at separate residences—one with her wheelchair and the other with a walker and additional care.

Parent—Home Clinic for the Deaf

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) —

The curly haired 3-year-old boy watched closely as his mother mixed flour in a bowl on the kitchen table.

"Let's make a cake," she tells the youngster in carefully distinct syllables.

The mother repeats the words three times as the boy gazes intently at her face. At last he grins and chirps, "Cake."

An ordinary domestic scene? Not quite.

The child is almost totally deaf, and the two-story frame house is not their's but a parent-home clinic established by the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Familiar Atmosphere

One of four such projects across the nation financed by federal funds, the house is used to show parents in a familiar atmosphere how to help teach children with impaired hearing.

"We tried for years to tell parents in our offices how to do it, but it just didn't work out very well in many cases," explained Dr. June Miller, audiologist and director of the medical center's hearing and speech department.

"In a home situation, the parents can see clearly how and what they must do to help. We're very enthusiastic about it."

Established only a few months ago, the program involves 31 youngsters with varying degrees of hearing loss. Some of the children also have visual problems, are slow learners or have other handicaps.

Most of the boys and girls are under 3. Experts would like to begin the training at ages as early as 6 months, or as soon as a baby is known to have impaired hearing.

A hearing clinician works with the mother or father—often both—to coach them on helping the child understand others and ultimately learn to speak. Parents bring their child on regular visits to the home center until the youngster is ready to enroll in a special preschool program.

"The big problem is getting the parents to simply talk to the child of something that interests him—anything to get the child to look at them," Dr. Miller explained.

"Adults should talk in a normally loud voice, often and meaningfully to draw the child's attention."

When they first come to the home center, some of the deaf youngsters seldom look at their parents when the latter speak. They live in a silent world of their own.

But in surroundings familiar to both of them, parent and child are shown how to communicate while playing games or performing routine household tasks.

Lots of Work

"It's a lot of work," said one mother.

"You've got to keep repeating the same thing over and over until she understands it. But I've learned."

"Now at home when Mary is around I make a point of explaining everything I'm doing. It's amazing how quickly they pick things up."

The home center uses a television videotape device to film parents working with their children. The film is replayed immediately while the instructor points out how to improve the lesson.

Dr. Miller noted although about four of every 100 children have hearing problems and one of 300 suffers severe impairment, there are still a lot of misconceptions about deafness.

Some adults forbid their children to play with deaf youngsters, because they're afraid the disability is catching.

Others are ashamed of their child's hearing problem, believing it to be divine retribution for sins of the parents or even grandparents.

Drivers at Mock Trial

A mock trial to emphasize the responsibilities of youthful drivers will be staged Monday 7 p. m. in the New Paltz Courtroom, Town Hall.

Participating in the mock trial will be a group of adults, private citizens and public officials. Members of the driver education classes at New Paltz Central School will be the audience.

Driver education instructor at the New Paltz school, Larry Johnson will assemble his classes at the court to witness the "trial" of one of the students selected at random, to act as the "defendant" in a traffic offense case.

Representing the "accused" will be New Paltz Attorney Wendell Harp, who will act as the defense as the story unfolds. The "prosecutor" will be played by Ulster County Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk. State Police Sgt. Stanley Kowalik and Trooper Joseph Czaplicki will act as "arresting" officers in the all but real trial.

Town Justice Rexford Schneider will preside and give the "verdict" at the end of the proceedings.

The purpose of the mock trial, is, to acquaint future drivers with the realities of responsibility by presenting a typical case in a dramatic manner.

Recent changes in the Traffic Laws have stiffened the penalties for violators and the newer driver should be aware of what can easily happen to them if they fail to learn the rules of the road.

Sgt. Kowalik will give a lecture to the evening's topic. Short talk and show a film re-

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Jan. 11, the 11th day of 1968. There are 355 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1943, during World War II, the United States and Britain relinquished extraterritorial rights in China.

On this date:

In 1757, the first secretary of the U.S. Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, was born on Nevis Island in the West Indies.

In 1785, the Continental Congress convened in New York.

In 1788, colonists for Ohio set out from Hartford, Conn.

In 1942, Japan invaded the Dutch East Indies.

In 1964, the U.S. government released a report describing cigarette smoking as a definite health hazard.

Ten years ago — A group of the nation's leading atomic reactor experts advised Congress that the Eisenhower administration's program for atomic power development was inadequate.

Five years ago — 31 independent African nations assured the United Nations they supported U.N. efforts to unify the Congo.

One year ago — Two Virginia surgeons said they had transplanted hearts from dead to live dogs. One predicted the first human transplant within five years.

Ductile Metal

A metal is ductile when it is pliable enough to be pulled into a very thin thread without breaking. Such metals as gold, silver, platinum, iron, nickel and copper have this property.

By LYNN MULVANEY

"We are not at all fussy about whether our patients are two or four-legged," says Patricia West R.N., and she means it. In recent months here charges have ranged from a white cat to a bedridden former community leader to a wheelchair-stealing old lady.

And, all this comes within the realm of the Visiting Nurses Service of which she is executive director for Northern Dutchess County.

There are other aspects of uniqueness too. Working out of the Northern Dutchess Hospital, the service has instituted a "first" in this part of the state. It goes into patients' homes BEFORE they are discharged from the hospital—to get them in readiness. It also sometimes goes into homes before the patient GOES to the hospital to gather assurances that other members of the family, pets too, will be properly cared for in the interim.

This added service is of course of special value to the elderly. As an example, Mrs. West narrated a tale in which an elderly man was preparing to enter the hospital for surgery. He was confident that his equally elderly wife would be able to care for herself and her cat.

Arrangements Made

Mrs. West's visit to the home prior to the gentleman's hospitalization provided visible evidence that the wife, sadly, could not take care of herself. Arrangements were made immediately to place her in the care of a friend and later at a boarding home that accommodates elderly people.

Another and upcoming "first"—this one to emanate from the hospital itself, will be securing foster homes for the elderly because, according to administrator Michael Mazzarella, there are not enough nursing or care facilities in the area.

The hospital is thinking in terms of the need for rehabilitation before patients are returned to their own responsibility.

When a patient stays an extra two or three weeks in a hospital because they are not able to care for themselves, Mazzarella explains, he takes up needed bed space. Then too, he adds, when a patient is moved from an acute bed to an extended care facility, he immediately becomes psychologically better.

Funds Are Needed

Hopeful that private foundation funds might be forthcoming for such a venture, Mazzarella also volunteered that Northern Dutchess Hospital is somewhat unique in that it provides all the components necessary to the medicare program.

Very few hospitals this size, he said, provide acute beds, home and extended care and home health aids. The latter program calls for the training of lay persons to care for people in their homes.

"Some people, however, need convincing that they are capable of caring for a sick person," he added and this is where the work of the visiting nurse and the hospital staff physical therapist comes in.

Separately or together they go into the hospital rooms and later to the homes of patients to instruct both the patient and the person caring for them in proper procedures for exercise and feeding.

Basing the Visiting Nurse Service at the hospital contributes greatly to the program's effectiveness, both Mrs. West and Mazzarella agree. "Such a setup is indicative of the foresight of community," he contends. Not too many hospitals are so fortunate.

As for the wheelchair stealing episode, the case called for the diplomacy of a Solomon, says Mrs. West. It seems an elderly woman patient, upon discharge from the hospital returned to her quarters in the home of a wheelchair-using friend. Having grown so accustomed to long-time hospital service, food, care and solicitation, she sought to have such services continued once she arrived home. Frustrated when unable to have hospital meals delivered to her, she took her feelings out on the landlady friend by simply appropriating her wheelchair.

With the help of the Visiting Nurse Service the two ladies were established at separate residences—one with her wheelchair and the other with a walker and additional care.

Parent—Home Clinic for the Deaf

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The curly haired 3-year-old boy watched closely as his mother mixed flour in a bowl on the kitchen table.

"Let's make a cake," she tells the youngster in carefully distinct syllables.

The mother repeats the words three times as the boy gazes intently at her face. At last he grins and chirps, "Cake."

An ordinary domestic scene? Not quite.

The child is almost totally deaf, and the two-story frame house is not their's but a parent-home clinic established by the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Familiar Atmosphere

One of four such projects across the nation financed by federal funds, the house is used to show parents in a familiar atmosphere how to help teach children with impaired hearing.

"We tried for years to tell parents in our offices how to do it, but it just didn't work out very well in many cases," explained Dr. June Miller, audiologist and director of the medical center's hearing and speech department.

"In a home situation, the parents can see clearly how and what they must do to help. We're very enthusiastic about it."

Established only a few months ago, the program involves 31 youngsters with varying degrees of hearing loss. Some of the children also have visual problems, are slow learners or have other handicaps.

Most of the boys and girls are under 3. Experts would like to begin the training at ages as early as 6 months, or as soon as a baby is known to have impaired hearing.

A hearing clinician works with the mother or father—often both—to coach them on helping the child understand others and ultimately learn to speak. Parents bring their child on regular visits to the home center until the youngster is ready to enroll in a special preschool program.

"The big problem is getting the parents to simply talk to the child of something that interests him—anything to get the child to look at them," Dr. Miller explained.

"Adults should talk in a normally loud voice, often and meaningfully to draw the child's attention."

When they first come to the home center, some of the deaf youngsters seldom look at their parents when the latter speak. They live in a silent world of their own.

Pearl Harbor Fatal

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The Pearl Harbor naval shipyard has recorded its first fatal industrial accident since 1958. The Navy said an electrician, Thomas Medeiros III, 30, was electrocuted while working on a switchbox below deck of the U.S. Navy survey ship Maury Jan. 9.

But in surroundings familiar to both of them, parent and child are shown how to communicate while playing games or performing routine household tasks.

Lots of Work

"It's a lot of work," said one mother.

"You've got to keep repeating the same thing over and over until she understands it. But I've learned."

"Now at home when Mary is around I make a point of explaining everything I'm doing. It's amazing how quickly they pick things up."

The home center uses a television videotape device to film parents working with their children. The film is replayed immediately while the instructor points out how to improve the lesson.

Dr. Miller noted although about four of every 100 children have hearing problems and one of 300 suffers severe impairment, there are still a lot of misconceptions about deafness.

Some adults forbid their children to play with deaf youngsters, because they're afraid the disability is catching.

Others are ashamed of their child's hearing problem, believing it to be divine retribution for sins of the parents or even grandparents.

Best-Dressed Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Robb is named on the "best-dressed" list for 1967, maintaining White House representation as her mother, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, was dropped from the annual roster. Lynda was voted No. 9 on the list—just ahead of another newcomer, Mrs. Ronald Reagan, wife of the California governor—in the balloting by some 2,000 persons connected with the fashion industry.

First place went to Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, who took over the spot held by Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's sister, in the 1966 list.

Mrs. Kennedy was "promoted" to the Fashion Hall of Fame in 1965 and has not appeared on the list since. Neither has Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower since she left the White House.

The list, which has no official standing, is drawn up by publicist Eleanor Lambert. The announcement said Mrs. Robb "replaced" her mother who was first named on the list in 1967.

With Mrs. Cooper in first place, the list follows:

1. Mrs. Carter A. Burden, New York socialite.
2. Mrs. Charlotte Ford Niarcho of the automobile family.
3. Mrs. Herilaos Theodoropoulos, wife of a Greek shipping magnate.
4. Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the American ambassador to Spain.
5. Lee Radziwill.
6. Lauren Bacall, the actress.
7. Mrs. Henry Ford II, second wife of the auto heir.
8. Mrs. Charles Spittal Robb (Lynda Bird Johnson).
9. Mrs. Ronald Reagan.
10. The Hon. Mrs. Angus Ogilvy (Princess Alexandra of Kent).
11. Faye Dunaway, actress.

ON BEST DRESSED LIST — Lynda Bird Johnson Robb, a White House bride five weeks ago, moved onto the international list of the world's best dressed women picked by fashion editors. She placed ninth on the list of 12. Gloria Vanderbilt or Mrs. Wyatt Emory Cooper, right, was the sweepstakes winner. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

EMANCIPATED FASHIONS — These five unusual outfits are being modelled in New York as part of a show of "emancipated fashions" for men. A Pennsylvania department store put on the show at the Americana Hotel here to point out its new emphasis in men's attire. The dashing costumes are (L-R) a formal skirttrouser suit; a golfer's outfit; a number featuring sunglasses, tunic and trunks for the beach; a dinner suit with beaded jacket and flared trousers; and a patio cap. Haberdashery runs from $1,000 to $5,000. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

NOTING THE "CHAINED" LOOK in fashion this spring is this shoe by Erica, which also expresses the "low" heeled trend. Round-toe shoe is in a turquoise color and has a plastic chain stretching across the instep on one side. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Tiny Tips

Always soak dried mushrooms in a little water before using.

Great additions to that plain tossed green salad: tangerine sections, seeds removed, paper-thin onion rings and grated Parmesan cheese.

When you are braising beef brisket add a bay leaf to the braising liquid.

Slide Show Slated for Friday

Those not fortunate enough to spend the winter on the Riviera may still have the enjoyment of some of its visual appeal on Friday evening when a slide showing will be presented at the Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, Kingston, at 7:30 p.m. by Miss Denise M. Abbey of Washington, D. C.

Miss Abbey's work with the U.S. Information Agency in Europe has given her the opportunity to collect 17,000 slides from which a selection is made for the present show.

"Along the Mediterranean," would be an accurate title for the slide show with pictures ranging from Spain, the French and Italian coasts to Sicily; including various gardens, castles, and three volcanoes, showing two erupting. The pictures have been taken at various hours of the day throughout each season of the year. She has approximately 5,000 U.S. slides.

Miss Abbey's grandfather was a cousin of Henry Abbey, the Kingston poet, and on a visit to Kingston in 1964, she was presented with a collection of slides of old Kingston houses for use in lectures abroad, as background in U.S. history and culture. Denise Abbey is a graduate of Barnard College in New York City. She has over 20 years experience in cultural affairs work for the government to this slide presentation.

UCCC Drama Club Program Tonight

The U-Tri-C Players, the drama club at Ulster County Community College, will present excerpts from Dylan Thomas' play, "Under Milk-wood," tonight and Friday nights.

The production will be given in the College Cafeteria in the George Clinton Administration Building starting at 8:30 o'clock. Admission is free.

The play will be directed by Eric Cutler, Ellenville, who also will appear in it. Other UCCC students who will have roles are Linda Diver, Buffalo; Leslie Pagliaroni, High Falls; Donna Eichelman, Port Ewen; John and Sue Hendricksen, Stone Ridge; Alex Baselow, Pine Bush; Shelley Falvey, Kingston, and Linda Thais, Woodstock.

Mrs. Sherry Solomon is faculty adviser for the U-Tri-C players.

SHOWERS ANTICIPATED

The simplest way to add a shower to a bathroom is to place a shower head over the tub. Walls of the shower enclosure should be protected with a water-proof material like ceramic tile. New adhesives make it possible to install tile over most surfaces although backing material in wet areas should be moisture-proof.

EMANCIPATED FASHIONS — These five unusual outfits are being modeled in New York as part of a show of "emancipated fashions" for men. A Pennsylvania department store put on the show at the Americana Hotel here to point out its new emphasis in men's attire. The dashing costumes are (L-R) a formal skirttrouser suit; a golfer's outfit; a number featuring sunglasses, tunic and trunks for the beach; a dinner suit with beaded jacket and flared trousers; and a patio caftan. Haberdashery runs from $1,000 to $5,000. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

NOTING THE "CHAINED" LOOK in fashion this spring is this shoe by Erica, which also expresses the "low" heeled trend. Round-toe shoe is in a turquoise color and has a plastic chain stretching across the instep on one side. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Tiny Tips

Always soak dried mushrooms in a little water before using.

Great additions to that plain tossed green salad: tangerine sections, seeds removed, paper-thin onion rings and grated Parmesan cheese.

When you are braising beef brisket add a bay leaf to the braising liquid.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST of The Emily Post Institute
DRIVING MANNERS ARE NOT ONLY "NICE" BUT "NECESSARY"

The combination of holiday drinking, early darkness, and slippery roads in winter takes its toll. Now, more than ever, careful driving is important. Good driving manners can't eliminate accidents, of course, but they can do a great deal toward decreasing their number and severity. If you can answer "yes" to all the following questions, you are doing your part in keeping the highways safe. Two "noes" and you should take stock of yourself. More than two "noes" and you may be one of those "accidents going somewhere to happen."

1. When your lane of traffic is solid, do you hold back to let a car turn in from a side lane?
2. When you are the front car stopped at an intersection, do you start up promptly when the light turns green so those behind you will get through, too?
3. When a car is passing you, do you maintain an even speed or slow down—so that he may get back in line as fast as possible?

4. When there are pedestrians still crossing when the light changes, do you wait until they reach the curb before you start up?

5. When you know you will soon be turning off a thruway, do you work your way to the right lane well before you reach the exit?

6. Do you lower your lights at night long before the oncoming car reaches you?

7. If you know there is a right or left turn arrow at an intersection where you plan to continue straight through, do you stay in the center lane so that those turning may take advantage of the arrow?

8. Do you observe the lines marking parking spaces carefully so that you do not take up two spaces for one car?

9. Even though other drivers may "cut in," do you leave several car lengths between you and the car ahead when driving at high speed?

10. Do you signal your intended turn or stop far enough ahead so that the driver behind is prepared to take whatever action is necessary?

"Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" by Elizabeth L. Post is available to readers of this paper. This sixteen page booklet will answer many questions for teenagers and their parents. Investors Mutual Declares Dividend

Philip De Grandis, division manager of the Hudson Valley office, has announced a first quarter dividend amounting to more than $27,000,000—all from investment income—will be paid to the approximately 436,800 shareholders of Investors Mutual, Inc., largest mutual fund in the nation.

The fund's board of directors declared a dividend of 10 1/2 cents per share, payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 29. The dividend is the same as was paid in the first quarter last year.

Three Appointed To Zurich Posts For GE Company

Three appointments made by the board of directors of General Electric-Escelco, a subsidiary of the Overseas Housewares Department of General Electric's Housewares Division, were announced by William F. Newing, department general manager.

Alan B. Van Wert, formerly manager of special business study, European Operations, for the department with which he has been associated for more than three years, was appointed chairman of the Board and president of the subsidiary at Zurich, Switzerland.

A native of Kingston, Van Wert joined General Electric in 1937 after graduation from Union College. He has held positions as traveling auditor, manager of finance, sales planning manager and regional sales manager. During World War II he served in the U.S. Navy as a lieutenant. Until recently he was a resident of Fairfield, Conn., before moving with his family to Zurich.

Warren W. Tuttle, formerly manager of market planning for clock and personal care products for the domestic General Electric marketing operation of the Housewares Division, was appointed vice president-marketing of the subsidiary.

Paul A. Beach, formerly plant accountant at the Housewares Division plants at Ontario, Calif., and Asheville, N.C., was appointed vice president-finance of GE-Escelco.

Toyota Unveils 4-Wheel Drive Land Cruisers

Japan's Toyota Motor Company, world's third largest producer of commercial vehicles, last week unveiled its 1968 model line of the 4-wheel drive Toyota Land Cruisers.

The 4-door Toyota Land Cruiser Station Wagon has been completely redesigned for 1968 and features a sleeker, more stylish appearance.

Probably the most important single factor about the 1968 Land Cruiser line is that Toyota has increased the horsepower of the competition-proven Land Cruiser engines to 145 from their traditional 135.

The new 1968 Land Cruiser line includes the company's popular 2-door hardtop and 4-door vinyl top unit in addition to the new 4-door station wagon.

Although the Land Cruiser line accounts for but a slight percentage of Toyota sales in the United States, it is the model line that established Toyota's reputation for quality of engineering, construction and performance.

Toyota's local authorized dealers are Garrison's Foreign Car Service, Inc., Route 28.

Zechter Is Named To Venet Office

Zal Venet, president of Venet Advertising, Inc., Union, N. J., has announced the appointment of Nathan Zechter as vice president of retail operations.

In his new position, Zechter is responsible for all activities of the agency's retail division, including advertising, sales promotion and public relations. Venet's major retail client is Shop-Rite, a 210 supermarket cooperative serving the Northeastern U.S.

Zechter, who was previously the agency's director of retail operations, joined Venet three years ago. Before joining Venet, he was assistant director of the advertising and sales promotion of Penn Fruit, a Philadelphia based supermarket chain.

Rossini Named Rotron Manager

Appointment of Henry G. Rossini to the position of quality control manager at Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., has been announced.

Rossini left General Electric Company where he had various engineering and quality control responsibilities to join Rotron. He received his degree in mechanical engineering from New York University and has taken advanced graduate studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Adelphi College and Xavier University.

A member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and The American Society for Quality Control, Rossini has been granted several patent awards in connection with his work for General Electric Company.

Rossini presently resides at Scotia, with his wife and two children. He has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, serving as vice president. He was also candidate for Township Commissioner.

Will St. Jacques Be Next Negro Star?

BY BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is there room for another Negro film star besides Sidney Poitier? Raymond St. Jacques thinks so, and he appears one of the likeliest candidates.

This month Poitier was named as one of the top 10 box-office stars by Motion Picture Herald, the first Negro to make that lofty list. There can be no doubt that Poitier is a solid moneymaker, but racial leaders have complained that his position represents tokenism—that Poitier is the only Negro actor being given starring roles.

Drama School Graduate St. Jacques would quite frankly like to occupy the same position. He seems ideally qualified. He is tall, powerfully built with strong, pleasant features.

A graduate of the Yale School of Drama, he was seasoned on the New York stage, "The Blacks," "The Cool World," in television, "Rawhide," "Daniel Boone," "I Spy," etc. and films, "The Pawnbroker," "Mr. Moses."

This spring St. Jacques may well be helped toward his goal to hide his eagerness for it, by an academy nomination for his supporting role in "The Comedians." He makes no attempt

Investors Mutual Declares Dividend

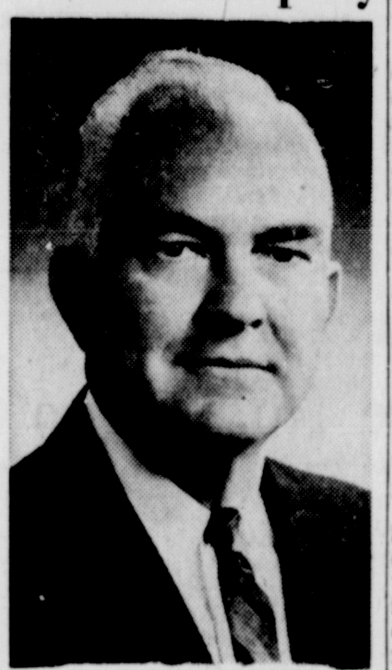

Philip De Grandis, division manager of the Hudson Valley office, has announced a first quarter dividend amounting to more than $27,000,000—10% of investment income—will be paid to the approximately 436,800 shareholders of Investors Mutual, Inc., largest mutual fund in the nation.

The fund's board of directors declared a dividend of 10% cents per share, payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 29. The dividend is the same as was paid in the first quarter last year.

Investors Mutual now has approximately 263,900,000 shares outstanding, compared to 258,484,747 a year ago.

Net assets of the firm are slightly in excess of $3 billion. The latest dividend was the 109th consecutive dividend paid by Investors Mutual.

ALAN B. VAN WERT

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. — Three appointments made by the board of directors of General Electric-Esge Ltd., a subsidiary of the Overseas Housewares Department of General Electric's Housewares Division, were announced by William F. Newing, department general manager.

Alan B. Van Wert, formerly manager of special business study, European Operations, for the department with which he has been associated for more than three years, was appointed chairman of the Board and president of the subsidiary at Zurich, Switzerland.

A native of Kingston, Van Wert joined General Electric in 1937 after graduation from Union College. He has held positions as a traveling auditor, manager of finance, sales planning manager and regional sales manager. During World War II he served in the U.S. Navy as a lieutenant. Until recently he was a resident of Fairfield, Conn., before moving with his family to Zurich.

Warren W. Tuttle, formerly manager of market planning for clock and personal care products for the domestic General Electric marketing operation of the Housewares Division, was appointed vice president-marketing of the subsidiary.

Paul A. Beach, formerly plant accountant at the Housewares Division plants at Ontario, Calif., and Asheville, N. C., was appointed vice president-finance of GE-Esge.

Toyota Unveils 4-Wheel Drive Land Cruisers

Japan's Toyota Motor Company, world's third largest producer of commercial vehicles, last week unveiled its 1968 model line of the 4-wheel drive Toyota Land Cruisers.

The 4-door Toyota Land Cruiser Station Wagon has been completely redesigned for 1968 and features a sleeker, more stylish appearance.

Probably the most important single factor about the 1968 Land Cruiser line is that Toyota has increased the horsepower of the competition-proven Land Cruiser engines to 145 from their traditional 135.

The new 1968 Land Cruiser line includes the company's popular 2-door hardtop and 2-door vinyl top unit in addition to the new 4-door station wagon. Although the Land Cruiser line accounts for but a slight percentage of Toyota sales in the United States, it is the model line that established Toyota's reputation for quality of engineering, construction and performance.

Toyota's local authorized dealers are Garrison's Foreign Car Service, Inc., Route 28.

Zechter Is Named To Venet Office

Zal Venet, president of Venet Advertising, Inc., Union, N. J., and New York, has announced the appointment of Nathan Zechter as vice president of retail operations.

In his new position, Zechter is responsible for all activities of the agency's retail division, including advertising, sales promotion and public relations. Venet's major retail client is Shop-Rite, a 210 supermarket cooperative serving the North-eastern U.S.

Zechter, who was previously the agency's director of retail operations, joined Venet three years ago. Before joining Venet, he was assistant director of the advertising and sales promotion of Penn Fruit, a Philadelphia-based supermarket chain.

Rossini Named Rotron Manager

HENRY G. ROSSINI

Appointment of Henry G. Rossini to the position of quality control manager at Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., has been announced.

Rossini left General Electric Company where he had various engineering and quality control responsibilities to join Rotron. He received his degree in mechanical engineering from New York University and has taken advanced graduate studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Adelphi College and Xavier University.

A member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and The American Society for Quality Control, Rossini has been granted several patent awards in connection with his work for General Electric Company.

Rossini presently resides at Scotia, with his wife and two children. He has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, serving as vice president. He was also candidate for Township Commissioner.

Will St. Jacques Be Next Negro Star?

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is there room for another Negro film star besides Sidney Poitier? Raymond St. Jacques thinks so, and he appears one of the likeliest candidates.

This month Poitier was named as one of the top 10 box-office stars by Motion Picture Herald, the first Negro to make that lofty list. There can be no doubt that Poitier is a solid moneymaker, but racial leaders have complained that his position represents tokenism—that Poitier is the only Negro actor being given starring roles.

Drama School Graduate
St. Jacques would quite frankly like to occupy the same position. He seems ideally qualified. He is tall, powerfully built with strong, pleasant features.

A graduate of the Yale School of Drama, he was seasoned on the New York Stage. "The Blacks," "The Cool World," in television, "Rawhide," "Daniel Boone," "I Spy," etc., and films, "The Pawnbroker," "Mr. Moses." This spring St. Jacques may well be helped toward his goal to hide his eagerness for it, by an academy nomination for his supporting role in "The Comedians." He makes no attempt

"I suppose I should be modest," he says, "but people keep saying I will get the nomination, and I must say I'd be delighted. A kudo such as that—the acceptance by one's peers—would be an enormous pleasure, making worthwhile all the sacrifices."

The actor admitted also that the nomination would help him toward his goal—lead roles in major productions. That has proved elusive so far, although he enjoys costar billing in the forthcoming "Madigan" with Henry Fonda and "Green Berets" with John Wayne.

"Producers still aren't ready to cast a Negro in the major role of a film—except for Sidney," he observed. "And look how long it took Sidney to make it—15 years!"

Must Prove Himself
"When a part does come along for a Negro, the producers insist on casting it with an entertainer who has had two-million record sales or with the greatest athlete in the world. They are afraid to cast someone who is simply an actor. As a result, a Negro actor has to continually prove himself in role after role."

"And though the situation is getting better for Negro actors, it is dismal for the actresses. Most good roles in pictures are male anyway, but there seems to be absolutely no room for actresses who are Negro. Take Diana Sands. She must be one of the finest actresses in the country. But she can't get a tumble in pictures."

UCCC Shatters Westchester CC Slowdown, 83 to 56

Westchester Community College threw the first slowdown of the season against the UCCC Senators at Valhalla last night and it accomplished two things:

- 1) Limited the locals to their second lowest point total.
- 2) Dropped the Senators under the 100 mark for the fourth time in 15 starts in the 1967-68 season.

Otherwise, the statistics were all in favor of Coach Mike Perry's boys who unleashed a 53-point second half en route to a hard earned 83-56 victory. The 56 points tied Westchester with State U. of New York for low points against UCCC this season.

Fourteenth Win

The victory, Ulster's 14th in 15 starts, also insured first honors for UCCC in the Mid-Hudson Conference with a perfect 5-0 record. Sullivan placed second with a 4-1, their only loss being to Ulster.

The first round conference schedule ends Saturday with a game between Rockland and Dutchess.

Jumpin' Joe Uhl rimmed 31 points and led the second half rebound after UCCC had ground out a 30-24 lead while hitting only 38 percent from the floor.

Frank Roselli, hitting seven of Ulster's first 10 points, finished with 16 points and Rod Chando and Bill Zilliox added 11 apiece. Westchester's big gun was Tom Solazzo with 22 and Ron Brain potted 15.

Coach Perry admitted that Westchester's slowdown surprised the Senators and, in fact, slowed them down to a walk in the first half. After some half-time locker room revision of strategy, the Senators were able to completely dominate the second half.

A Scoreless 4:53

So effective was the Westchester slowdown that Ulster scored only two points in the first 4 minutes, 53 seconds of the game. The Westchester strategy was simple: hold the ball and force Ulster into a man to man defense. Uhl managed only 8 points in the first half.

The thaw emerged in the second half as Ulster adjusted to a pressure type zone press all over the court. Coach Perry's Chando, Ty Quill, Mike Derrenbacher and Roselli at the pressure points and throw in a constant flow of substitutes.

The strategy worked and Ulster opened up a 43-24 at Westchester was dazzled by the switch in UCCC tactics. The center tap play from Hanna to Uhl to Quill started it off. Uhl then took over on a steal and two jumpers.

Uhl proceeded to rack up 23

points in the second half before coming out with 3:15 left to play. He was 10 for 20 from the field and 3 for 3 from the foul line in the second half.

Zilliox led the rebounding with 10 and Derrenbacher, Quill and Chando exerted tremendous pressure offensively. Coach Perry pointed out that while UCCC's offense has been going downward pointwise so has the offense. Roselli, he said, was his usual self all over the court and Derrenbacher and Quill were singled out for special praise by the coach.

Ulster's overall percentage was 42 on 36 for 85. Westchester hit 41 percent on 22 for 55.

The Senators play at home Friday against Concordia College at 8 p. m. The preliminary features a Kingston Biddy basketball league game.

THE NEW SENSATION of Southern college basketball is gangling, floppy haired Pete Maravich, L.S.U.'s high scoring hot shot. He may be the player who'll finally bring basketball into its own in the Deep South. Football has been king in the area traditionally, but this year the crowds are flocking to see LSU and Maravich play. Some 13,000 turned out at Athens, Ga., where Maravich banged in 42 points to lead the Tigers to victory. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

MJM Rally Tops Sawyers, 50-36

Switching to a zone defense after trailing 24-22 at halftime, MJM Junior High freshmen dominated the second half to trounce Saugerties High Frosh, 50-36, at the MJM gym.

John LaTorre of MJM was the best all round player on the court with 19 points, 9 rebounds and excellent defensive play. Big Richard Bullock, although hampered by fouls, had 15 points and nine rebounds. Steve Riddick contributed 10 points, all in the second half and directed the MJM offense. The winners hit 40 per cent from the floor on 24 for 61.

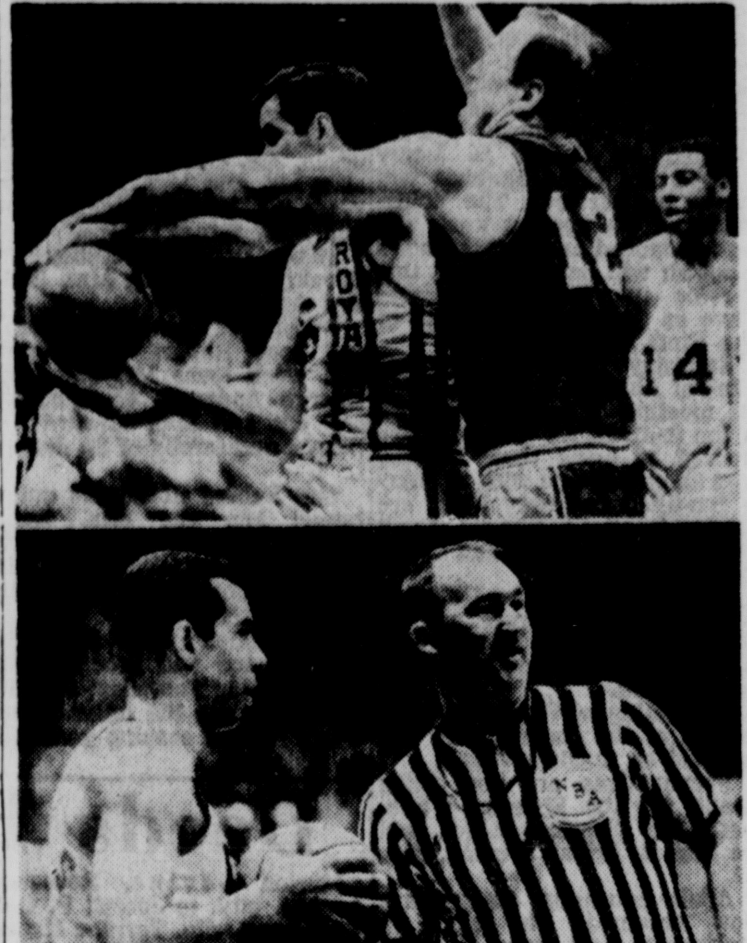

MJM cracked Saugerties' pressing defense with LaTorre driving for the basket on long passes from the MJM guards. Dave Smith led Saugerties with 14 points.

JERRY LUCAS claims a rebound off the Baltimore backboard and is seeking to pass off to Oscar Robertson (14) but Bob Ferry has clamped a grip on Lucas' wrist. Earlier in the game Guy Rodgers hit the 6,000 assist plateau and was given the game ball at the time by NBA official John Vanak. Only Bob Cousy 6949 and Robertson with 6067 assists are ahead of Rodgers. Royals won, 133-117. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Coleman Frosh Top CFA, 42-40

John A. Coleman School Frosh held off a fourth period rally by Cardinal Farley Frosh to win a road game, 42-40, last night at Rhinecliff.

The locals led 33-24 going in but managed to stave off Farley's 16-9 rush just in time. The Coleman team is now 5 and 2 on the season.

Nick Scott led Coleman's with 13 points. Dave Post hit 10 and Vin Rua 11. Tom Sullivan and Ken Howard played a fine floor game. Bartleson of Farley led both teams with 24 points.

Leaders Fading Fast Sizzling Hawks Jolt 76ers Again, 134-122

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers might have thought St. Louis was hot in the first half, but the Hawks really showed them what "hot" is in the third quarter.

St. Louis was hot enough to build up a 60-48 halftime lead Wednesday night, but the Hawks really sizzled in the third period, hitting 15 of 20 field goal attempts to open up an insurmountable 103-78 lead. Final score was 134-122.

The loss at Philadelphia was the 76ers second straight cut their lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division to two games over the Boston Celtics, who beat Seattle 123-110 behind the play of John Havlicek.

In other NBA games, New York topped Los Angeles 115-101 for its sixth straight victory. San Diego edged Detroit 122-118 and Cincinnati drubbed Baltimore 123-117.

Pittsburgh beat Dallas 123-120 in overtime, Houston nipped Anaheim 122-120 in overtime.

Feud Hits New Low

Cancel Moratorium In NCAA-AAU Feud

NEW YORK (AP) — And the war goes on. And on and on.

The struggle for supremacy in track and field between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union reverted to its infancy Wednesday when the NCAA officially called off the federally imposed moratorium at its annual convention here.

An NCAA council statement, approved by the convention at large, said that beginning after the 1968 Olympics, the NCAA would again insist on "certifying" any non-collegiate meet that college athletes take part in.

This was the policy first adopted in January 1965 that led to a summer full of bitterness before the NCAA, at the request of the U.S. Senate, agreed not to enforce the certification rule pending the decision of a panel headed by labor mediator Theodore Kheel.

AAU Holds Firm

The AAU has always insisted that it is the only body that can sanction a meet and would not ask for NCAA certification of the meets it sponsors.

The NCAA, for its part, will not ask the AAU for sanction of its meets where non-college athletes sometimes compete. Kheel has promised that his committee will render its long-awaited decision soon, perhaps next month, but NCAA executive director Walter Byers said the council was unwilling to wait before reinstating the certification rule.

He said it would not be enforced until November because commitments had already been made for the current indoor track season and because the council did not want to interfere with Olympic preparations.

Byers Gives Hint

Byers obliquely issued a warning to the Kheel committee.

tee, saying, "we will not be bound by any decision that does not permit us to look out for our own athletes."

In other action, NCAA modified its 1.6 student eligibility rule—though not enough to suit some members—and voted to allow freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball.

The 1.6 rule requires a student to project that numerical average, about a C minus, on entrance tests approved by the NCAA and to maintain that average through his college career in order to compete on college teams.

As modified, though, he need not maintain the 1.6 average if he projects that average on admission tables equal to or harder than the NCAA tables.

Evansville Aces Regain Small College No. 1 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Evansville Aces, leaders in the final Associated Press small-college basketball polls in 1964 and 1965, have reached the top of the deck again.

The Aces beat Kentucky Wesleyan 71-64 last week and thus changed places with the Panthers from Owensboro, Ky.

Evansville collected seven first-place votes and 129 points in the latest balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky Wesleyan had 95 points while unbeaten Long Island University held the No. 3 position with 92.

Evansville, after outstanding seasons in 1964 and 1965, dropped to eighth in the final 1966 ratings and was not ranked in 1967.

There was some additional position shifting in the latest rankings, Indiana State, Southwest Missouri State and Trinity, Tex., each advanced one place, to fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

San Diego State, which lost to Cal Poly of Pomona, fell from fourth to seventh, Southwest Louisiana remained in the No. 8 spot.

Guilford, which beat Catawba and Appalachian last week for an 11-1 record, advanced one position to ninth, Winston-Salem, a 98-84 loser to Elizabeth City, slipped one place to 10th.

LIU is the only undefeated team among the first 10. The Blackbirds are 11-0 after defeating Seton Hall 53-47 in their only game last week.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. Evansville (7) 129
2. Kentucky Wesleyan 95
3. Long Island U. (3) 92
4. Indiana State 85
5. SW Missouri St. (1) 62
6. Trinity, Tex. 57
7. San Diego State 41

Bonnies' Bob Lanier Wrecks DePaul Five

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Every basketball coach is happy to have an all-around player on his team, and St. Bonaventure's Larry Weise must be ecstatic over Bob Lanier.

The 6-foot-10 sophomore, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, not only scored 25 points and grabbed 15 rebounds Wednesday night, he also blocked eight shots and stole the ball six times as the unbeaten Bonnies defeated DePaul 77-67 for their 12th straight.

Lanier, who hit on 10 of 12 shots from the field, got scoring help from Billy Butler, with 20, and John Hayes, with 15. Al Zetzsche led DePaul with 23.

Tar Heels Win

Third-ranked North Carolina overcame an eight-point deficit in the second half to edge North Carolina State at Raleigh, N.C., and take over first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Tar Heels, the only other members of the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, were paced by Larry Miller's 13 rebounds and 17 points as they built their ACC record to 3-0 and their over-all mark to 10-1.

Louisville threw a full court press against home team Memphis State and rolled to its fourth straight victory, a 78-58 Missouri Valley Conference triumph.

Jimmy King scored 21, Butch Beard 20 and Wes Unseld 16 for the Tigers, now 8-4 over-all and 4-0 in the MVC.

Army-Fordham: Saturday Special at Point

WEST POINT — Army launches the second half of its basketball season here Saturday night in what shapes up as another "pivotal game."

The Cadets, who return to the West Point field house after eight straight road games, will host a Fordham team that has won four straight and boasts a current 9-2 record.

Coach Bob Knight plans no changes in his starting lineup for the critical clash with the Rams. Using the old cliché of staying with a winner, the 27-year-old mentor will go with 6-2 Bill Schutsky and 6-6 Mike Noonan at forward; 6-7 Steve Hunt at center and 6-0 Mike Krzyzewski and 6-1 Jim Oxley at the guard posts.

"We've built a pretty good foundation through the first half of the season," Knight told his players following the impressive victory over Temple. "Now let's build his house," he added, referring to those next dozen ball games on the slate.

Nine Home Games

In contrast to the first part of the schedule, the Cadets will be home for the greater part of both January and February. Of the 12 remaining games, nine will be played in the friendly confines of the Army field house.

If the second half of the year is anything like the first, Army could well expect a berth in a post-season tournament. Through the first dozen games, ten of which were played on the road, the Cadets won nine and lost only three. They are currently on a three-game tear, and again boast one of the premier defensive clubs in the country. Latest NCAA statistics list Army fifth in team defense with a very respectable 58.9 average.

Last weekend the Cadets completed one of the more successful road ventures in Military Academy history. Friday they turned back Georgetown in the nation's capital, while Saturday scored perhaps their biggest win of the year with a 61-55 trimming of Temple in the Palestra. The Owls, the recent Quaker City Festival champion, were ranked third in the East at the time.

Hunt, a junior from Westwood, Mass., took over the club scoring lead with a big 26-point effort against Temple to hike his season total to 214 points. He connected on 11 of 16 floor shots and at present is ranked among the nation's leaders in field goal percentage with a .608 mark, or his key play in last week's twin decisions over Georgetown and Temple. Hunt was named to the first weekly ECAC all-East squad.

Schutsky, the Army captain, has been the most consistent scorer for the Cadet cagers. An all-Tournament pick at both the Volunteer and Triangle Classics, Schutsky tossed in 33 points last weekend in holding his average at slightly better than 17 a game. His partner up front, Noonan, continues to lead the Cadets in rebounding, and appears back in the scoring groove following a 12-point game against the Owls of Temple University.

While the backcourt still hasn't jelled the way the Army coaching staff would like, there has been noted improvement of late. Krzyzewski is completely healed from an ankle injury which had him down for four games, while Oxley is beginning to find the range with more accuracy. Defensively, both have done the jobs expected of them.

One of the reasons for Army's early success has been the bench strength provided by several newcomers. Wade Urban, a junior guard, filled in nicely in place of Krzyzewski until suffering an injury himself just before the break for the holidays. Up front, forwards Tom Miller and Mike Gyovai have provided "that big lift" on many occasions. Gyovai, a sophomore from Aurora, Ill., played little more than three minutes against Temple, but in that span scored a crucial basket under the offensive board and pulled down five rebounds.

There will be a preliminary game between the respective freshmen teams Saturday night, starting at 6 o'clock. The Plebe game with the Fordham frosh originally was scheduled for Jan. 31, but was changed last week.

UCCC Shatters Westchester CC Slowdown, 83 to 56

Westchester Community College threw the first slowdown of the season against the UCCC Senators at Valhalla last night and it accomplished two things:

- 1) Limited the locals to their second lowest point total.
- 2) Dropped the Senators under the 100 mark for the fourth time in 15 starts in the 1967-68 season.

Otherwise, the statistics were all in favor of Coach Mike Perry's boys who unleashed a 53-point second half en route to a hard earned 83-56 victory. The 156 points tied Westchester with State U. of New York for low points against UCCC this season.

Fourteenth Win

The victory, Ulster's 14th in 15 starts, also insured first half honors for UCCC in the Mid-Hudson Conference with a perfect 5-0 record. Sullivan placed second with a 4-1, their only loss being to Ulster.

The first round conference schedule ends Saturday with a game between Rockland and Dutchess.

Jumpin' Joe Uhl rimmed 31 points and led the second half rebound after UCCC had ground out a 30-24 lead while hitting only 38 percent from the floor.

Frank Roselli, hitting seven of Ulster's first 10 points, finished with 16 points and Rod Chando and Bill Zilliox added 11 apiece. Westchester's big gun was Tom Solazzo with 22 and Ron Brain potted 15.

Coach Perry admitted that Westchester's slowdown surprised the Senators and, in fact, slowed them down to a walk in the first half. After some half-time locker room revision of strategy, the Senators were able to completely dominate the second half.

A Scoreless 4:53

So effective was the Westchester slowdown that Ulster scored only two points in the first 4 minutes, 53 seconds of the game. The Westchester strategy was simple: hold the ball and force Ulster into a man to man defense. Uhl managed only 8 points in the first half. The thaw emerged in the second half as Ulster adjusted to a pressure type zone press all over the court. Coach Perry's Chando, Ty Quill, Mike Derrenbacher and Roselli at the pressure points and throw in a constant flow of substitutes.

The strategy worked and Ulster opened up a 43-24 as Westchester was dazzled by the switch in UCCC tactics. The center tap play from Hanna to Uhl to Quill started it off. Uhl then took over on a steal and two jumpers.

Uhl proceeded to rack up 23

points in the second half before coming out with 3:15 left to play. He was 10 for 20 from the field and 3 for 3 from the foul line in the second half.

Zilliox led the rebounding with 10 and Derrenbacher, Quill and Chando exerted tremendous pressure offensively. Coach Perry pointed out that while UCCC's offense has been going downward pointwise so has the offense. Roselli, he said, was his usual self all over the court and Derrenbacher and Quill were singled out for special praise by the coach.

Ulster's overall percentage was 42 on 36 for 85. Westchester hit 41 percent on 22 for 55.

The Senators play at home Friday against Concordia College at 8 p. m. The preliminary features a Kingston Biddy basketball league game.

THE NEW SENSATION of Southern college basketball is gangling, floppy haired Pete Maravich, L.S.U.'s high scoring hot shot. He may be the player who'll finally bring basketball into its own in the Deep South. Football has been king in the area traditionally, but this year the crowds are flocking to see LSU and Maravich play. Some 13,000 turned out at Athens, Ga., where Maravich played in 42 points to lead the Tigers to victory. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

MJM Rally Tops Sawyers, 50-36

Switching to a zone defense after trailing 24-22 at halftime, MJM Junior High freshmen dominated the second half to trounce Saugerties High Frosh, 50-36, at the MJM gym.

John LaTorre of MJM was the best all round player on the court with 19 points, 9 rebounds and excellent defensive play. Big Richard Bullock, although hampered by fouls, had 15 points and nine rebounds. Steve Riddick contributed 10 points, all in the second half and directed the MJM offense. The winners hit 40 per cent from the floor on 24 for 61.

MJM cracked Saugerties' pressing defense with LaTorre driving for the basket on long passes from the MJM guards. Dave Smith led Saugerties with 14 points.

John A. Coleman School Frosh held off a fourth period rally by Cardinal Farley Frosh to win a road game, 42-40, last night at Rhinecliff.

The locals led 33-24 going in but managed to stave off Farley's 16-9 rush just in time. The Coleman team is now 5 and 2 on the season.

Nick Scott led Coleman's with 13 points. Dave Post hit 10 and Vin Rua 11. Tom Sullivan and Ken Howard played a fine floor game. Bartleson of Farley led both teams with 24 points.

Leaders Fading Fast Sizzling Hawks Jolt 76ers Again, 134-122

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers might have thought St. Louis was hot in the first half, but the Hawks really showed them what "hot" is in the third quarter.

St. Louis was hot enough to build up a 60-48 halftime lead Wednesday night, but the Hawks really sizzled in the third period, hitting 15 of 20 field goals attempts to open up an insurmountable 103-78 lead. Final score was 134-122.

The loss at Philadelphia was the 76ers second straight cut their lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division to two games over the Boston Celtics, who beat Seattle 123-110 behind the play of John Havlicek.

In other NBA games, New York topped Los Angeles 115-101 for its sixth straight victory. San Diego edged Detroit 122-118 and Cincinnati drubbed Baltimore 133-117.

Pittsburgh beat Dallas 123-120 in overtime. Houston nipped Anaheim 122-120 in overtime.

Feud Hits New Low

Cancel Moratorium In NCAA-AAU Feud

NEW YORK (AP) — And the war goes on. And on and on.

The struggle for supremacy in track and field between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union reverted to its infancy Wednesday when the NCAA officially called off the federally imposed moratorium at its annual convention here.

An NCAA council statement, approved by the convention at large, said that beginning after the 1968 Olympics, the NCAA would again insist on "certifying" any non-collegiate meet that college athletes take part in.

This was the policy first adopted in January 1965 that led to a summer full of bitterness before the NCAA, at the request of the U.S. Senate, agreed not to enforce the certification rule pending the decision of a panel headed by labor mediator Theodore Kheel.

AAU Holds Firm

The AAU has always insisted that it is the only body that can sanction a meet and would not ask for NCAA certification of the meets it sponsors.

The NCAA, for its part, will not ask the AAU for sanction of its meets where non-college athletes sometimes compete.

Kheel has promised that his committee will render its long-awaited decision soon, perhaps next month, but NCAA executive director Walter Byers said the council was unwilling to wait before reinstating the certification rule.

He said it would not be enforced until November because commitments had already been made for the current indoor track season and because the council did not want to interfere with Olympic preparations.

Byers Gives Hint

Byers obliquely issued a warning to the Kheel committee.

In other action, NCAA modified its 1.6 student eligibility rule—though not enough to suit some members—and voted to allow freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball.

The 1.6 rule requires a student to project that numerical average, about a C minus, on entrance tests approved by the NCAA and to maintain that average through his college career in order to compete on college teams.

As modified, though, he need not maintain the 1.6 average if he projects that average on admission tables equal to or harder than the NCAA tables.

Evansville Aces Regain Small College No. 1 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Evansville Aces, leaders in the final Associated Press small-college basketball polls in 1964 and 1965, have reached the top of the deck again.

The Aces beat Kentucky Wesleyan 71-64 last week and thus changed places with the Panthers from Owensboro, Ky.

Evansville collected seven first-place votes and 129 points in the latest balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky Wesleyan had 95 points while unbeaten Long Island University held the No. 3 position with 92.

Evansville, after outstanding seasons in 1964 and 1965, dropped to eighth in the final 1966 ratings and was not ranked in 1967.

There was some additional position shifting in the latest rankings. Indiana State, Southwest Missouri State and Trinity, Tex., each advanced one place, to fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

San Diego State, which lost to Cal Poly of Pomona, fell from fourth to seventh. Southwestern Louisiana remained in the No. 8 spot.

Guilford, which beat Catawba and Appalachian last week for an 11-1 record, advanced one position to ninth. Winston-Salem, a 98-84 loser to Elizabeth City, slipped one place to 10th.

LIU is the only undefeated team among the first 10. The Blackbirds are 11-0 after defeating Seton Hall 53-47 in their only game last week.

Bonnies' Bob Lanier Wrecks DePaul Five

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Every basketball coach is happy to have an all-around player on his team, and St. Bonaventure's Larry Weise must be ecstatic over Bob Lanier.

The 6-foot-10 sophomore, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, not only scored 25 points and grabbed 15 rebounds Wednesday night, he also blocked eight shots and stole the ball six times as the unbeaten Bonnies defeated DePaul 77-67 for their 12th straight.

DePaul, behind 41-29 at half-time in the game at Olean, N.Y., closed to within five points with 13 minutes left. But then, with Lanier stealing the ball and blocking shots, the seventh-ranked Bonnies pulled away.

Lanier, who hit on 10 of 12 shots from the field, got scoring help from Billy Butler, with 20, and John Hayes, with 15. Al Zetzsche led DePaul with 23.

Army-Fordham: Saturday Special at Point

Working Press

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees has given Mike Ferraro of Kingston the first nod of recognition since the now Fort-Lauderdale-based third baseman and the Bombers experienced their unhappy travails in 1967.

Jim Ogle, the pipeline between the Yankees and the Sporting News (the baseball bible) quotes Houk as being dismayed that (1) the experts have ignored Ferraro in the Yankee third-base speculations for 1968 or (2) have largely written him off.

"Some people have a tendency to write off Ferraro too quickly," Houk told Ogle. "I figured he would put up a battle for the spot last spring, but he came to camp with a sore arm and tried to hide it and had a terrible spring. He didn't do too well at Syracuse but when he moved to Spokane, he regained his old ability and is right back in the picture."

THE FERRARO SORE ARM story was well known to this observer and Ed Palladino, who is the No. 1 Ferraro watcher in the country, except maybe his dad, Peter Ferraro, the man with the golden horn. But any reference to Mike's sore wing while he was having difficulties in spring training and at Syracuse would have sounded like a phony alibi.

Ferraro also got a plus rating from a neutral source, Ogle reported. Jack Cullen, who pitched at Spokane last year after the Yanks traded him to the Dodgers, is back in his New Jersey home with praise for Mike.

"I think Mike will surprise a lot of people next spring," Jack said. "I have played with him before, but he suddenly seemed to find himself after he joined us last season. He was as good as any third baseman in the league."

Cullen's evaluation had been echoed earlier by Syracuse baseball writers who rated Mike as the best International League third baseman since Don Wert of the Detroit Tigers.

FERRARO BATTED ONLY .240 in 84 games at Syracuse, but in 53 games on the West Coast, he hit at a .292 clip and drove in 23 runs. Mike has always been rated a good fielder. If he can hit anywhere near that .290 figure, he would have to rate a chance next spring.

Meanwhile, the former Kingston High School ace will attract a crowd around third base at the Yankee training camp at Fort Lauderdale.

"I'll let the players settle the question for me," said Houk. "Shortstop and third base will be wide open and there are plenty of contenders for the jobs. The men who look best during the exhibition schedule figure to open the season in the spots."

Ferraro will be gunning for the job held down at various times with singular lack of success by Charlie Smith, Reuben Amaro and John Kennedy.

DURING THE OFFSEASON, the Yankees tried to convert Bill Robinson, their expensive outfield rookie bust, into a third baseman in the instructional league at Fort Lauderdale. His less than .200 average last year indicates Robinson is far from a major league hitter, despite his glittering International League credentials. He could turn out to be the Yankees' Don Bosh.

Ken Poulson, a castoff from the Boston Red Sox system, is also in the picture much to the amazement of Manager Dick Williams of the Sox.

Right now, Reuben Amaro and Charlie Smith are the shortstop and third baseman, respectively, of the Yankees. It appears that Mr. Smith is a prime target for the other aspirants—and Mike Ferraro is the biggest one.

THERE IS ANOTHER major league story with Kingston and Newburgh background in the news. Billy Short, Kingston born southpaw pitcher, star for Newburgh Academy, has signed his 1968 contract with the New York Mets.

Short was signed out of NFA by the Yankee organization in 1955 and was considered a brilliant prospect. He was impressive in early starts for the Yankees but developed arm trouble and was never quite the same pitcher.

Billy, who is now 30, was purchased by the Mets from Pittsburgh's Columbus farm last Oct. 3 and figures in Manager Gil Hodges' plans as a relief pitcher. At Columbus last year, he won 14 games against nine defeats, compiling a 3.28 in 29 appearances and completed seven of 22 starts. He was involved in no decisions in seven games with the Pirates.

After a 17-6 record for which he was voted the International League's top pitcher in 1959 at Richmond, Short was drafted by the Orioles following the 1961 season. He worked primarily at Rochester through the 1966 campaign.

The Red Sox acquired him on waivers from Baltimore in August of 1966 and he was sold to the Pirate organization at the end of that year.

Short and Ferraro are going in different directions—one trying to extend his checkered career as a relief pitcher, the other seeking to take over third base at Yankee Stadium. We wish them both well.

See Maris Pact Worth $75,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris shrugged off the effects of Bell's Palsy, expressed desire for the baseball season to start and signed his 1968 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In a novel telephone hookup between St. Louis and St. Petersburg, Fla., General Manager Bing Devine announced that Maris signed for the same salary he made last year. Estimates put Maris in the $75,000 class. Devine said the telephone news conference was an idea he picked up while serving as general manager of the New York Mets.

Maris was in Florida working out details of his new job with the beer company that co-sponsors the Cardinals' game. He and his brother have been granted an Anheuser-Busch distributorship.

The outfielder, who is the second player named by the Cardinals to sign a 1968 contract, had announced that he plans to move to Florida later in the year.

Maris, the Cardinals' top run producer in the seven-game World Series against the Boston Red Sox, said he was virtually through with the ailment that had affected the muscles on the right side of his face.

"Right now the Bell's palsy is very good and I'm feeling no effects whatever. It came along a lot faster than I had thought it would."

Athlete Nod Goes To Yaz

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A heavily perspiring Carl Yastrzemski had just finished one of his rugged daily workouts when he was told he had been voted Male Athlete of the Year for 1967 by an overwhelming margin in the annual Associated Press poll.

"I know what it's like to be on top and I want to stay on top," the slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder said in explaining what motivates him to keep squeezing trips to the gym into his hectic off-season schedule.

"I worked hard to get where I am, and I'm not going to get complacent now," he added.

Yastrzemski, who earned the American League's Most Valuable Player award and Triple Crown in batting while leading the underdog Red Sox to the pennant, said he wanted to say more than "just the usual things" about his latest award.

"This is really one of the understanding honors, and I want everybody who voted for me to know how thankful I am," he said. "A lot of awards are for just one sport, like baseball, but this one is especially important where it takes in so many thousands of athletes in all sports."

Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees has given Mike Ferraro of Kingston the first nod of recognition since the now Fort-Lauderdale-based third baseman and the Bombers experienced their unhappy travails in 1967.

Jim Ogle, the pipeline between the Yankees and the Sporting News (the baseball bible) quotes Houk as being dismayed that (1) the experts have ignored Ferraro in the Yankee third-base speculations for 1968 or (2) have largely written him off.

"Some people have a tendency to write off Ferraro too quickly," Houk told Ogle. "I figured he would put up a battle for the spot last spring, but he came to camp with a sore arm and tried to hide it and had a terrible spring. He didn't do too well at Syracuse but when he moved to Spokane, he regained his old ability and is right back in the picture."

THE FERRARO SORE ARM story was well known to this observer and Ed Palladino, who is the No. 1 Ferraro watcher in the country, except maybe his dad, Peter Ferraro, the man with the golden horn. But any reference to Mike's sore arm while he was having difficulties in spring training and at Syracuse would have sounded like a phony alibi.

Ferraro also got a plus rating from a neutral source, Ogle reported. Jack Cullen, who pitched at Spokane last year after the Yankees traded him to the Dodgers, is back in his New Jersey home with praise for Mike.

"I think Mike will surprise a lot of people next spring," Jack said. "I have played with him before, but he suddenly seemed to find himself after he joined us last season. He was as good as any third baseman in the league."

Cullen's evaluation had been echoed earlier by Syracuse baseball writers who rated Mike as the best International League third baseman since Don Wert of the Detroit Tigers.

FERRARO BATTED ONLY .240 in 84 games at Syracuse, but in 53 games on the West Coast, he hit at a .292 clip and drove in 23 runs. Mike has always been rated a good fielder. If he can hit anywhere near that .290 figure, he would have to rate a chance next spring.

Meanwhile, the former Kingston High School ace will attract a crowd around third base at the Yankee training camp at Fort Lauderdale.

"I'll let the players settle the question for me," said Houk. "Shortstop and third base will be wide open and there are plenty of contenders for the jobs. The men who look best during the exhibition schedule figure to open the season in the spots."

Ferraro will be gunning for the job held down at various times with singular lack of success by Charlie Smith, Reuben Amaro and John Kennedy.

DURING THE OFFSEASON, the Yankees tried to convert Bill Robinson, their expensive outfield rookie bust, into a third baseman in the instructional league at Fort Lauderdale. His less than .200 average last year indicates Robinson is far from a major league hitter, despite his glittering International League credentials. He could turn out to be the Yankees' Don Bosh.

Ken Poulson, a castoff from the Boston Red Sox system, is also in the picture much to the amazement of Manager Dick Williams of the Sox.

Right now, Reuben Amaro and Charlie Smith are the shortstop and third baseman, respectively, of the Yankees. It appears that Mr. Smith is a prime target for the other aspirants—and Mike Ferraro is the biggest one.

THERE IS ANOTHER major league story with Kingston and Newburgh background in the news. Billy Short, Kingston born southpaw pitching star for Newburgh Academy, has signed his 1968 contract with the New York Mets.

Short was signed out of NFA by the Yankee organization in 1955 and was considered a brilliant prospect. He was impressive in early starts for the Yankees but developed arm trouble and was never quite the same pitcher.

Billy, who is now 30, was purchased by the Mets from Pittsburgh's Columbus farm last Oct. 3 and figures in Manager Gil Hodges' plans as a relief pitcher. At Columbus last year, he won 14 games against nine defeats, compiling a 3.28 in 29 appearances and completed seven of 22 starts. He was involved in no decisions in seven games with the Pirates.

After a 17-6 record for which he was voted the International League's top pitcher in 1959 at Richmond, Short was drafted by the Orioles following the 1961 season. He worked primarily at Rochester through the 1966 campaign.

The Red Sox acquired him on waivers from Baltimore at the end of that year.

Short and Ferraro are going in different directions—one trying to extend his checkered career as a relief pitcher, the other seeking to take over third base at Yankee Stadium. We wish them both well.

See Maris Pact Worth $75,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris shrugged off the effects of Bell's Palsy, expressed desire for the baseball season to start and signed his 1968 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In a novel telephone hookup between St. Louis and St. Petersburg, Fla., General Manager Bing Devine announced that Maris signed for the same salary he made last year. Estimates put Maris in the $75,000 class. Devine said the telephone news conference was an idea he picked up while serving as general manager of the New York Mets.

Maris was in Florida working out details of his new job with the beer company that co-sponsors the Cardinals' game. He and his brother have been granted an Anheuser-Busch distributorship.

The outfielder, who is the second player named by the Cardinals to sign a 1968 contract, had announced that he plans to move to Florida later in the year.

Maris, the Cardinals' top run producer in the seven-game World Series against the Boston Red Sox, said he was virtually through with the ailment that had affected the muscles on the right side of his face.

"Right now the Bell's palsy is very good and I'm feeling no effects whatever. It came along a lot faster than I had thought it would."

IC Pee Wees Top St. Peter's, 17-12

Immaculate Conception Pee Wees led by Ed Duffy's 7 points defeated St. Peter's of Kingston, 17-12.

Other IC scorers were Bob Santorski 2, John Kwasnowski 4, Jim Olen 4, LaTore of St. Peter's led both teams with 9 and Mercer had three.

New York Sports Picture—Glamour Boys and Losses

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

New York is bursting at the seams with six teams in four professional sports of major league status. Each team usually winds up on the wrong side in the won-lost columns. Yet each draws crowds and each has its own glamour boy.

The Yankees have Mickey Mantle; the Mets own the great young pitcher in Tom Seaver; the Jets have Joe Namath and his long sideburns; and the Giants scramble with Fran Tarkenton. Ringer fans display Rod Gilbert bannermen while the Knickerbockers now have Bill Bradley.

Bradley, who signed a four-year contract for $500,000, is the newest member of the glamour club. He is expected someday to lead the New York Knickerbockers out of the National Basketball Association wilderness.

Bill Bradley came right out of the Army in an effort to help the sagging Knicks. He works out on his own and does a lot of running because running and getting the ball toward the basket within 24 seconds is the name of the game the pros play.

Graceful Shooter

Bradley does two things beautifully. He is a stylish dribbler with either hand and has one of the most graceful right-handed push shots the big game has ever known. Bill Bradley is not much on rebounds or for working under the basket for layup goals. That's why the Knicks play him behind the foul lines.

Watching the champion Philadelphia 76ers isn't the most advantageous time to see Bradley and the Knicks in action because the 76ers have beaten the Madison Square Garden ball handlers 13 out of 14 times in the last two years.

The 76ers bring along Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain who seems taller than his 7-1, wears a beard, a mustache and a pair of knee guards around his shins for protection against the mean little men who kick him as they jump for the ball he's usually holding.

Wilt Looks Older

Wilt is only 31 but looks like an old man with the chin decoration. Each time he stepped to the foul line, the crowd limited to 17,526 because the game was played on boards over ice boomed. You could see Wilt grinning behind his whiskers. He enjoys it even though he is the worst foul shooter in all basketball. When he makes a foul he is rewarded.

But the best cheers are reserved for Bill Bradley. Whenever he plays the attendance soars.

The fans want him to take more shots and that's just what

Athlete Nod Goes To Yaz

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A heavily perspiring Carl Yaztrzemski had just finished one of his rugged daily workouts when he was told he had been voted Male Athlete of the Year for 1967 by an overwhelming margin in the annual Associated Press poll.

"I know what it's like to be on top and I want to stay on top," the slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder said in explaining what motivates him to keep squeezing trips to the gym into his hectic off-season schedule.

"I worked hard to get where I am, and I'm not going to get complacent now," he added.

Yaztrzemski, who earned the American League's Most Valuable Player award and Triple Crown in batting while leading the underdog Red Sox to the pennant, said he wanted to say more than "just the usual things" about this latest award.

"This is really one of the outstanding honors, and I want everybody who has helped me to know how thankful I am," he said. "A lot of awards are for just one sport, like baseball, but this one is especially important where it takes in so many thousands of athletes in all sports."

Redeemer Five Routs Baptist

Redeemer Lutheran steamed up after a three point first quarter deficit to steam roll over First Baptist 73-26, and St. James Methodist outscored Trinity Methodist in every quarter but the first in Senior church league basketball yesterday.

Paced by Ron Bruce's 28 point high scoring attack and 20 points from Ken March, Redeemer almost blanked First Baptist in the final period by a score of 28-2. Bob Williams paced the losers with 14 points.

Larry Bodie paced Trinity with 14, while St. James' George Seeger scored 21.

Dear Abby

How Much to Tell Tot?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Me and my big mouth. Now I've really done it. My little 4-year-old granddaughter asked me if the stork really dropped her down the chimney, and I laughed and said no. Then she asked me how she got here, and I simply told her that she grew from a tiny seed in her Mommy's tummy. Now what was so terrible about that?

My daughter-in-law is very angry with me because she's afraid the child will ask her how the seed got there. My son has sided with his wife and I am in the doghouse.

Abby, I cannot see putting off telling a child what he will eventually learn anyway. But what am I to do about my son and his wife? I don't like being on the outs with them, but I think they are wrong, wrong, wrong. — THOROLY MODERN GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: I happen to agree with you. First, try to educate your son and his wife to your way of thinking. It is far healthier for the child. Should you fail (heaven forbid) to bring them out of the Dark Ages, continue to answer all questions as honestly as possible. Time will prove you right.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a man who would cheat on his wife?

DEAR ABBY: The other evening I very nearly hit a little boy on a bicycle. I was almost on top of him before I saw him. His bicycle had no reflectors! Please print this as a reminder to parents of youngsters who have bicycles. I am not selling 'reflectors.' They can buy luminous paint and 'decorate' the child's bicycle so it will be seen by motorists at night.

DEAR CHRISTY: Only a man who can't resist nice round figures.

Every time I think of how close I came to hitting that little boy, I tremble.

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is 82, wants to remarry.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Efforts today could result in appreciation, profit. Progress may appear slow. But what is accomplished is solid. Understand this. React in mature manner. Older woman plays key role.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Of course, East chuckled the hand at trick two. He should have taken his ace of trumps right then and there. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Quick Quiz

Q—Which is the world's busiest airport?
A—O'Hare International in Chicago. The airport set a single-day record Sept. 9, 1966, when 2,006 landings and take-offs were recorded by the airport control tower.

Q—How many days did it take Edward Payson Weston to walk from Portland, Maine, to Chicago, Ill.?
A—In 1867, he covered the 1,326 miles in 26 days—exactly 51 miles per day.

Q—What city is popularly called the "Venice of the North"?
A—Stockholm, Sweden, from its many islands and waterways.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET
The difference between a mistake and an oversight is in who makes the boo-boo.

Now that the glow of the holidays has worn off, it's gift rapping time.

Any time you consider that conformity has overwhelmed our society, just try to find a washer to fit a leaky faucet.

Our Girl Friday says she could fall in love with a man who collects plants—steel plants, auto plants, aircraft plants.

Begin the new year by paying. Our secretary is no financial whiz, but she draws 100 per cent interest in her short-skirt outfit.

Our secretary has a noiseless typewriter, but we wish she'd make a little racket on it once in awhile.

Our bibulous neighbor has already begun to observe an Old-Fashioned Christmas.

Avengers Fail to Satisfy

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Avengers" seems to have changed its character radically in the months it has been away from ABC. Or maybe somebody just picked the wrong episode of the suave, sophisticated British-made series for its premiere show as a midseason replacement.

Strictly Kid Stuff
The opening program Wednesday night was strictly kid stuff, a floodlight that reduced a limousine to the size of a toy model.

And as soon as the magic beam restored him to normal size, Mrs. Peel was shrunk, and received her turn to rescue him. Finally, they shrunk the heavies and caught them in Mr. Steed's derby.

This is the sort of science fiction nonsense we might let go by on shows like "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," or "I Dream of Jeannie," but not on a droll and dry show like "The Avengers."

Of course, the series used to be broadcast in late evening spots on the ABC schedule, a time when the vast majority of viewers are presumed to be adults. Now it comes on at an early evening hour, and all three networks concede that the period from 7:30 to 9 belongs to the youngest members of the audience.

But if "The Avengers" is converted into a sort of child's fantasy series, no matter how smoothly or tongue-in-cheek it is handled, it is bound to lose that hard-core audience that made it a success as a replacement on earlier occasions.

Timing Unfortunate
The time of President Lyndon Johnson's state of the union address next Wednesday night could not be more unfortunate from the standpoint of ABC. The network has scheduled a special two-hour production of "Laura," starring Lee Bouvier Radziwill, Jacqueline Kennedy's el, and a human being to the stature of a toothpick.

Mr. Steed was accidentally cut down to a minivan when the bad guys were stealing a prototype of a revolutionary tank by shrinking it and carrying it off in an overcoat pocket. But Mr. Steed's plight was lucky, because he was able to come to the rescue of his colleague, Mrs. Peel, when that athletic lady had been trussed like a capon by the villains. He managed it, incidentally, with a letter opener, which seemed the size of a steel girder in his tiny condition, and cut her bonds.

And as soon as the magic beam restored him to normal size, Mrs. Peel was shrunk, and received her turn to rescue him. Finally, they shrunk the heavies and caught them in Mr. Steed's derby.

ABC has done an enormous amount of publicity on the show and interest in it was believed to have run high.

ABC postponed its announcement about the way it plans to handle the President's speech until today.

NBC and CBS will cover the speech live, starting at about 9 p.m., and follow it up with analysis and reaction programs.

Neither NBC nor CBS had special programs scheduled.

This is the second time recently that a widely publicized ABC special has run into hard luck. Carol Channing's special program was postponed twice because of a TV technicians' strike and still has not been broadcast.

Recommended tonight:
"Great Explorations," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, documentary with astronaut John Glenn and a party following the African trail of reporter Stanley when, almost 100 years ago, he hunted for Dr. Livingstone.

10-Hour Battle

46 Reds, 18 GIs Dead

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. amphibious troops crashed ashore in the Mekong Delta and fought a crack Viet Cong regiment in a 10-hour battle that ended early today. Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division reported 46 guerrillas and 18 Americans killed and 50 Americans wounded in the action along the muddy banks of a canal 54 miles southwest of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the Viet Cong's 261st Battalion, long an adversary of American troops in the delta, began withdrawing about midnight under a massive bombardment by U.S. fighter-bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

Crewmen aboard an AC47

Dragonship said one of their plane's flares lit up a flotilla of 30 sampans moving south along the canal as the guerrillas escaped. The Airmen said they peppered the sampans with their 6,000-round-a-minute miniguns but could not determine the results.

Fighting has been on the upswing in the rice bowl delta. Senior American officers said there was more action there in December than in any previous month of the war, with 2,000 guerrillas and 600 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops slain. Four days ago a platoon of 9th Division troops landed in a Viet Cong bivouac area 19 miles south of Saigon, triggering a battle in which 31 Viet Cong and 23 Americans were killed.

Since then there have been half a dozen guerrilla assaults on government towns or outposts in the delta.

On Wednesday, armored boats of the combined Army-Navy Riverine force nudged against the banks of a canal near the Mekong River and about 150 U.S. infantrymen dashed ashore.

They ran into heavy fire from veteran campaigners of the Viet Cong 261st. Helicopters trying to shuttle in reinforcements were driven back, but river gunboats laid down a shield of protective fire around the American infantrymen.

U.S. reinforcements were landed near the battle area by choppers and moved in swiftly. By 6 p.m., 750 infantrymen were battling an estimated 400 guerrillas, the U.S. Command said.

Army artillery and helicopter gunships, Air Force fighter-bombers, AC47 dragon ships, and Riverine gunboats hurled tons of ammunition into the enemy positions and the guerrillas finally broke off. Only sporadic contact was reported today.

Far to the north, 270 miles above Saigon, Communist troops mauled a government battalion in Binh Dinh Province, near the central coast. A government spokesman said the battalion of some 400 men suffered heavy casualties, indicating it was almost wiped out.

First reports had said 23 guerrillas were killed and two captured.

Minnesota Educator Selected President of New Paltz College

Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of Minnesota's Moorhead State College since 1958, has been selected by the State University Board of Trustees as the next president of the State University College, New Paltz. Chancellor Samuel B. Gould announced today.

Dr. Neumaier earlier this week accepted the post beginning with this fall. Present commitments are expected to keep him in Minnesota until that time, according to New Paltz Acting President John H. Jacobson.

At the University of Minnesota he majored in philosophy and German for his bachelor's degree with minors in political science and sociology. He received his Ph.D. degree in Philosophy at the University in 1954.

New Paltz has been without a regular president since Jan. 1, 1967 when Dr. William J. Haggerty left the position after 22 years.

The new president was first selected as a potential candidate by a faculty committee at New Paltz and was recommended to the Board of Trustees by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., Central Hudson president at Poughkeepsie. Other members of the College Council are Mrs. Bertha Connelly and Lawrence A. Quilty, Kingston, Mrs. Clara Weill, Suffern, Mrs. Agnes R. Sandalls, Scarborough, and James N. MacLean, Brookville.

Sillin viewed the appointment of Dr. Neumaier as a "significant development which will provide the college with distinguished leadership at a time when quality in higher education is being recognized as one of the single most important ingredients in the future of our society."

"I am confident that under Dr. Neumaier's leadership, New Paltz is assured of enhancing its position as an important member of the State University Community and that it will meet the demanding but exciting challenges of the region and the state for expanding educational programs and services."

Seen Asset to Valley

"I am sure Dr. Neumaier's influence ultimately will extend well beyond the college community as he is called on to contribute his experience and leadership to significant developments throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley," Sillin said.

"I congratulate the college and its faculty for being able to attract Dr. Neumaier whose own high standards of performance and dedication to educational excellence will bring additional talented educators and administrators to New Paltz," he concluded.

Dr. Jacobson told faculty and students at the college that the selection "crowns the year-long efforts of the faculty to seek out the kind of dynamic leadership which New Paltz deserves and needs in the coming years." He said that faculty and staff members were impressed by the candidate's "abilities as an administrator and his qualities as a person."

Dr. Neumaier was born Oct. 30, 1921 and attended schools in Frankfort, until 1935. In 1935 he attended high school in Lausanne, Switzerland, then for the next two years attended business school in Italy, the Istituto Internazionale Facchetti, near Milan. In 1939 he was a student at the Adult Education Center, Dunstable, Bedfordshire, England. He then came to the United States in 1943. He joined the U. S. Army in 1943 and the same year became a naturalized citizen. With the Army until 1946, his duties involved work with German prisoners of war in Nebraska and Virginia where he was associated with the re-education project of 24,000 selected prisoners.

In 1946, he returned to the University of Minnesota to continue his undergraduate studies and worked at the same time with the Human Relations Agency in Minneapolis. He received his Bachelor of Arts, magna cum laude, in 1947 and continued teaching and instructing at the University and Hibbing Junior College while he worked toward his doctorate, which he earned in August 1954. His Ph.D. dissertation was titled "The Social Philosophy of Bertrand Russell, Ethics, and Sociology."

From 1955 to 1958 he was Dean of Hibbing Junior College and in 1958 was named to his present post as Moorhead State College president.

Former Rotary President

He is the immediate past president of the Association of Minnesota colleges, a former Rotary Club president, a member of the Governor's Human Rights Commission, the Minnesota Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, the Commission on Colleges and Universities, North Central Association, the American Philosophical Society, and other organizations. Last month, he was named a member of the Commission on Academic Affairs of the American Council on Education.

He is the author of several articles on junior and state college education. Other articles include "A Philosopher Looks at Political Science, in the Journal of the Minnesota Academy of Science, The Role of Great Men in Bertrand Russell's Philosophy of History in Concordia College's Discourse."

The Faculty Committee for the Selection of the President was chaired by Dr. Jacobson. Members were Dean Richard C. Jones, Dr. William J. Hageny, Dr. Judson Lyon and Dr. John Sherwig.

Fatally Stabbed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — John Tillman, 62, of Buffalo, was stabbed fatally with a hunting knife late Wednesday in a room where he had been drinking with another man, police said.

Police arrested William Hudson, 46, also of Buffalo, in whose room the stabbing occurred. They said Hudson told them he had been stabbed in the neck by Tillman and retaliated. Hudson's wound was minor, they added.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. amphibious troops crashed ashore in the Mekong Delta and fought a crack Viet Cong regiment in a 10-hour battle that ended early today. Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division reported 46 guerrillas and 18 Americans killed and 50 Americans wounded in the action along the muddy banks of a canal 54 miles southwest of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the Viet Cong's 261st Battalion, long an adversary of American troops in the delta, began withdrawing about midnight under a massive bombardment by U.S. fighter-bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships.

Crewmen aboard an AC47

Dragonship said one of their plane's flares lit up a flotilla of 30 sampans moving south along the canal as the guerrillas escaped. The Airmen said they peppered the sampans with their 6,000-round-a-minute mini-guns but could not determine the results.

Fighting has been on the upswing in the rice bowl delta. Senior American officers said there was more action there in December than in any previous month of the war, with 2,000 guerrillas and 600 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops slain. Four days ago a platoon of 9th Division troops landed in a Viet Cong bivouac area 19 miles south of Saigon, triggering a battle in which 31 Viet Cong and 23 Americans were killed.

Since then there have been half a dozen guerrilla assaults on government towns or outposts in the delta.

On Wednesday, armored boats of the combined Army-Navy Riverine force nudged against the banks of a canal near the Mekong River and about 150 U.S. infantrymen dashed ashore.

They ran into heavy fire from veteran campaigners of the Viet Cong 261st. Helicopters trying to shuttle in reinforcements were driven back, but river gunboats laid down a shield of protective fire around the American infantrymen.

U.S. reinforcements were landed near the battle area by choppers and moved in swiftly. By 6 p.m., 750 infantrymen were battling an estimated 400 guerrillas, the U.S. Command said.

Army artillery and helicopter gunships, Air Force fighter-bombers, AC47 dragon ships, and Riverine gunboats hurled tons of ammunition into the enemy positions and the guerrillas finally broke off. Only sporadic contact was reported today.

Far to the north, 270 miles above Saigon, Communist troops mauled a government battalion in Binh Dinh Province, near the central coast. A government spokesman said the battalion of some 400 men suffered heavy casualties, indicating it was almost wiped out.

First reports had said 23 guerrillas were killed and two captured.

Cuban Protest On Cops

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant H. Rap Brown took refuge for nearly six hours in the Cuban mission to the United Nations after he and a rookie patrolman were involved in a shoving incident outside the building.

The episode Wednesday evening escalated into something of a minor diplomatic incident. The mission sent a sharp note to U.N. Secretary General U Thant protesting police "mistreatment and abusive behavior."

Police said the patrolman involved would go into criminal court today seeking a summons charging Brown with "harassment."

Just before he left the mission at 10:45 p.m. for an undisclosed location, Brown told newsmen waiting outside that the day's events were the "action of the Gestapo police" and "instigated by Mayor Lindsay and President Johnson."

"It is an action to crush dissent," he charged. "We came in as guests and we serve notice again that if white people are going to play Nazis, black folks ain't goin' to play Jews."

The Cuban U.N. delegation said that upon instructions from its government, it "denounced to the United Nations the flagrant violation of the territorial integrity of Cuban soil by the American authorities."

The statement, signed by Jesus Jimenez, charge d'affaires of the delegation, called on Thant to intervene in the affair and denied that Brown and his aide, Robert Smith, were given asylum.

"Both guests were forced to go back to the Cuban mission in view of the violent aggression and the threatening action of the American police," the statement said.

The incident began when Brown, 24-year-old leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Smith left the mission about 5 p.m. Brown said he had been there for an interview.

Fatally Stabbed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — John Tillman, 62, of Buffalo, was stabbed fatally with a hunting knife late Wednesday in a room where he had been drinking with another man, police said.

Police arrested William Hudson, 46, also of Buffalo, in whose room the stabbing occurred. They said Hudson told them he had been stabbed in the neck by Tillman and retaliated. Hudson's wound was minor, they added.

Minnesota Educator Selected President of New Paltz College

Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of Minnesota's Moorhead State College since 1958, has been selected by the State University Board of Trustees as the next president of the State University College, New Paltz, Chancellor Samuel B. Gould announced today.

Dr. Neumaier earlier this week accepted the post beginning with this fall. Present commitments are expected to keep him in Minnesota until that time, according to New Paltz Acting President John H. Jacobson.

At the University of Minnesota he majored in philosophy and German for his bachelor's degree with minors in political science and sociology. He received his Ph.D. degree in Philosophy at the University in 1954.

New Paltz has been without a regular president since Jan. 1, 1967 when Dr. William J. Haggerty left the position after 22 years.

The new president was first selected as a potential candidate by a faculty committee at New Paltz and was recommended to the Board of Trustees by the College Council, headed by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., Central Hudson president at Poughkeepsie. Other members of the College Council are Mrs. Bertha Connelly and Lawrence A. Quilty, Kingston, Mrs. Clara Weill, Suffern, Mrs. Agnes R. Sandalls, Scarborough, and James N. MacLean, Brookville.

Sillin viewed the appointment of Dr. Neumaier as a "significant development which will provide the college with distinguished leadership at a time when quality in higher education is being recognized as one of the single most important ingredients in the future of our society."

"I am confident that under Dr. Neumaier's leadership, New Paltz is assured of enhancing its position as an important member of the State University Community and that it will meet the demanding but exciting challenges of the region and the state for expanding educational programs and services."

Seen Asset to Valley
"I am sure Dr. Neumaier's influence ultimately will extend well beyond the college community as he is called on to contribute his experience and leadership to significant developments throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley," Sillin said.

"I congratulate the college and its faculty for being able to attract Dr. Neumaier whose own high standards of performance and dedication to educational excellence will bring additional talented educators and administrators to New Paltz," he concluded.

Dr. Jacobson told faculty and students at the college that the selection "crowns the year-long efforts of the faculty to seek out the kind of dynamic leadership which New Paltz deserves and needs in the coming years." He said that faculty and staff members were impressed by the candidate's "abilities as an administrator and his qualities as a person."

Dr. Neumaier was born Oct. 30, 1921 and attended schools in Frankfort, until 1935. In 1935 he attended high school in Lausanne, Switzerland, then for the next two years attended business school in Italy, the Instituto Internazionale Facchetti, near Milan. In 1939 he was a student at the Adult Education Center, Dunstable, Bedfordshire, England. He then came to the United States in 1943. He joined the U. S. Army in 1943 and the same year became a naturalized citizen. With the Army until 1946, his duties involved work with German prisoners of war in Nebraska and Virginia where he was associated with the re-education project of 24,000 selected prisoners.

In 1946, he returned to the University of Minnesota to continue his undergraduate studies and worked at the same time with the Human Relations Agency in Minneapolis. He received his Bachelor of Arts, magna cum laude, in 1947 and continued teaching and instructing at the University and Hibbing Junior College while he worked toward his doctorate, which he earned in August 1954. His Ph.D. dissertation was titled "The Social Philosophy of Bertrand Russell, and its Relation to Logic, Ethics, and Sociology."

From 1955 to 1958 he was Dean of Hibbing Junior College and in 1958 was named to his present post as Moorhead State College president.

Former Rotary President
He is the immediate past president of the Association of Minnesota colleges, a former Rotary Club president, a member of the Governor's Human Rights Commission, the Minnesota Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, the Commission on Colleges and Universities, North Central Association, the American Philosophical Society, and other organizations. Last month, he was named a member of the Commission on Academic Affairs of the American Council on Education.

He is the author of several articles on junior and state college education. Other articles include "A Philosopher Looks at Political Science," in the Journal of the Minnesota Academy of Science, "The Role of Great Men in Bertrand Russell's Philosophy of History in Concordia College's Discourse."

The Faculty Committee for the Selection of the President was chaired by Dr. Jacobson. Members were Dean Richard C. Jones, Dr. William J. Haggerty, Dr. Judson Lyon and Dr. John Sherwig.

Dr. Neumaier will arrive at New Paltz on Friday, Jan. 12.
